Sheldon's Folly Or, The Rise and Fall of the Little Red Schoolhouse

By Larry Lain

Many moons ago, in the 1860's (a symbol therefor intended a wanderer named Sheldon Finkle, having ventured by accident, of Chicago to the outskirts of the town of Charcoalde, This entrance was so unexpected that he was greatly impressed by (1) the lack of higher education, and (2) the low prices of consumer goods in the area. Being a student of the subject, he was able to put (1) and (2) together, and said, "Eureka!"

"Eureka," he cried, "if there was a college in this town I could open all sorts of retail stores and sell cheaply produced items to the students and save them prices----such a deal!"

True to his convictions (and growth in the population) he decided to build a college in Charcoaled, Alkamaz! A little red classroom building, completing the schools of Education, Liberal Arts, Business, Technology, Agriculture, the Graduate Division and a Pool Hall, was erected on the outskirts of the town. The modest little red schoolhouse was quickly jam-packed with students and pseudo-students, people you would see and the campus from the north, south, east and west--sides of Chicago, that is. They were of all sizes, shapes, colors, denominations and draft status (most became classified 2-3. Very shortly, however.) Some of these pseudo-students, at least, were男女 students, it came to get a part of the students in this college, and some came to escape from the Home. In the course of events, coming from the nasty remarks about such relatives as "ugly." It was only a matter of time before the body of students on the ever-expanding campus began to divide into different groups, cultures according to their particular likes and dislikes. The campus was divided into cliques known by such names as "Jocks," "arty-crafty-craftspeople," "bookworms," "The Cross-eyed," and the like.

One particular group, who appeared to be one of the most obstinate, were undoubtedly the most foolish. They most likely moved to one far corner of the campus and even so far as to retain their own alphabet, a "J," "E," "A," "K," etc. At a meeting place, the "Romper Room," gained widespread recognition from the nation's newspaper columnists. Every Friday night, sardine cannery spies disguised as college students could be seen infiltrating the mobs using the packing techniques.

Alas, all the meritment council had foreseen, Sheldon's prosperity had risen to the point where he made many of the college students crowded than anyone except the student council. This tremendous boom in Charcoaled aroused the envy of the citizens of Southern Illinois University. He noted that the students, and many well-behaved students chose to attend school in Charcoaled rather than Campaign (Hal). This unscrupulous villain concealed his student council and waited for the right opportunity to present itself. Sheldon had already been "Team" went on soaking the students for all they were worth until "Team" finally led to the downfall. When he decided to build a 17-story house for the College Drive, to this campus, he went too far. The campus in an explosion had donned arrested for operating a "house" without a license, a "house" the ignorant citizens of Charcoalde angrily hugged over as a "house" a suburb of Champaign."

The loyal students have not forgotten their former father, however, and they respectfully played the SUT-Tula; Tula in commemoration of the late Sheldon Finkle.

The Beginning as an End

In the beginning there was no student government. The situation was, of course, no bed of roses, official support for civil rights in Southern Illinois; no resolution concerning admission of Negroes; and, of course, no telephone in Old Main.

Now, gallant followers of historical evolution, what do you think took place here in the many years past? Well quite expectedly a group of enviro-nuncz (probably known as radical progressives) gathered in the cadet buildings, resolved the joint problems of not having official-unofficial support for the school. The Comreins of the College, of Southern Illinois, of not having a resolution concerning admission of Negroes. United Nations, and most of all, of not having a telephone in Old Main. When these and other questions, I am told were hashed around until somehow, there was a "Eureka!" had a coronary thrombus and passed in the twilight zone. This procedure continued unswervingly for many years before a temporary-resolution was reached, a student council was established and invested with the power to give official-unofficial support for the school. The citizens of Southern Illinois, to pass a resolution concerning abolition of the L.N. and last but not least, to install a telephone in Old Main.

Thus action had been taken and pricetoos, we (the students of this democratic institution) had a student council. The student body eventually began to divide up into different groups, cultures according to their particular likes and dislikes. The campus was divided into cliques known by such names as "Jocks," "arty-crafty-craftspeople," "bookworms," "The Cross-eyed," and the like.

The new SIU Arena has withstood its first major test and apparently passed with a high "B".

Some 7,000 to 9,000 persons swarmed to the building on opening Wednesday to hear Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Democratic vice presidential candidate.

It was the first public event held in the building and the crowd filled its seats, lined its balconies and covered practically every inch of its main floor.

The untried, untested building came through like a veteran.

"Everything went fine," said William Dean Justice, Arena manager.

Naturally there were some complaints. One was that the speaker system was not functioning properly, making it difficult to hear the speaker. Justice explained that the audio system used for Humphrey's appearance was a temporary one, installed just for that occasion. Audio engineers are now installing the permanent system which will permit persons in all parts of the Arena to hear without difficulty, Justice added.

Several hecklers managed to make themselves heard without benefit of a loud speaker. And when someone unkindly shouted "What about Jenkins?" his question was lost in a chorus of boos.

About 4,000 seats were put in use for the Humphrey speech. Officials said folding seats were not pulled into place on the floor because the Arena will hold "quite a few more people standing than it will when all the seats are in place."

Despite the large number of people standing, very few persons reported they couldn't see the senator. In most cases they were standing on the concourse or happened to be behind someone taller.

" Normally people will be entering and leaving through both the bottom doors and the upper concourse," he said, "and we expect little such crowding in the future."

Two young married women, anticipating a jostling by the crowd, brought along their babies.

"Everyone was just wonderful to us," one of them said. "They made room for us to walk through the crowd and even gave us seats when they saw the babies in our arms."
Four Top Candidates Together
At New York Rites for Hoover

NEW YORK -- The top four candidates came together Thursday for the first time in the 1964 election campaign, putting aside politics to pay tribute to the late President Herbert C. Hoover. They met as mourners at a funeral service for the nation's 31st president at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, across the street from the Waldorf Towers suite where Hoover died Tuesday.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Terence J. Finlay, rector of St. Bartholomew's -- a tall, spare man, with handsome profile and thinning steel-gray hair. He stood on a low platform, before a microphone, about three feet from the head of Hoover's casket.

At an honor guard of five service members stood two at the head and three at the foot of the bier throughout the service. Hoover's two sons, Herbert Jr. and Allan Henry Hoover, sat in a front row pew in the nave of the impressive Byzantine-Romanesque church. Their wives and Hoover's grandchildren and great-grandchildren were with them.

At the request of Hoover's family, the services were simple.

The body, in a sealed, flag-draped casket, has lain in state in the chancel at the east end of St. Bartholomew's for two days, and the public has filed past in homage at a peak rate of 3,000 per hour.

A number of floral tributes came from abroad. Among them was a wreath from King Baudouin of Belgium, a country where many were saved from starvation in World War I by the American relief mission which Hoover headed.

Hoover was a Quaker, but his family chose to have his funeral in the same Episcopal church where services were held 50 years ago for his wife, the former Lou Henry.

Hoover's body will be taken to Washington today, to lie in state in the Capitol Rotunda Sunday, the body will be flown to Iowa for burial at West Branch, where Hoover was born Aug. 10, 1874.

Mrs. Hoover was buried in California. However, her remains are being moved to West Branch to lie beside her husband's on a grassy knoll overlooking a two-room cottage where Hoover was born.

Ike in Hospital With Bronchitis

WASHINGTON -- Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was admitted to Walter Reed General Hospital Thursday suffering from a very painful cough and inflammation of the windpipe.

Lt. Gen. Leonard O. Heaton, surgeon general of the Army, said the 74-year-old former President was admitted at 3:20 p.m. EDT.

"He (Eisenhower) speaks with extreme difficulty and has a very painful cough," Heaton said.

"His general condition otherwise is satisfactory."

The technical diagnosis was moderately severe tracheo-bronchitis, and it was expected that Eisenhower would be hospitalized for seven to 10 days.

Because of his ailment, Eisenhower has canceled plans to attend the funeral of former President Herbert Hoover in New York.

The illness may also possibly prevent him from making a planned trip to Mexico Oct. 29-31 as chairman of the U.S. People to People program.

Jenkins Case Shows No Security Breach

WASHINGTON -- The FBI told President Johnson yesterday that its investigation of Walter "Buck" Jenkins disclosed no information that the re- signed White House aide "has compromised the security or interests of the United States in any manner."

The President had asked the FBI to look into Jenkins' activities a week ago, after one day after Jenkins resigned at Johnson's request following revelations that Jenkins was arrested on morals charges in 1959 and again early this month.

Jenkins, a top assistant to Johnson for a week, was arrested at the Washington YMCA.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said his inquiry covered "the full scope" of Jenkins' life from his early years in Texas to the present time.

The report quoted Jenkins as saying "no attempt had ever been made to compromise or blackmail him in connection with the charges on which he was arrested."

"He also told the FBI that he would lay down his life before he would disclose any information that would compromise the best interests of the United States," Hoover said.

"A favorable report of Mr. Jenkins' loyalty and dedication to the United States was given the FBI by more than 300 of his associates, both business and social, representing all walks of life who were interviewed in this investigation," Orders Attorney Joined Federal Judge Rules Against Dept.

JACKSON, Miss. -- U.S. District Court Judge Harold Cox held U.S. Attorney Robert Hauberg guilty of contempt of court and ordered proceedings against him for carrying on court proceedings against Attorney Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach Thursday after they refused to handle grand jury business.

Hauberg, a veteran Jackson attorney, told Cox that Katzenbach had instructed him not to draw up or sign indictments if it was not drawn up by the grand jury wanted to return.

Outside attorneys called the judge's action "extremely unusual if not unprecedented" and the Justice Department said it would appeal the ruling to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

The grand jury, which had investigated the slaying of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss., June 21, reconvened at Jackson Tuesday and federal sources said it was dealing with perjury matters.

One source said the perjury case had to do with the Philadelphia case.

Cox ordered Hauberg to draw up the required papers and Hauberg advised the judge in open court, with the grand jury present, that Katzenbach had instructed him: "Neither the judge nor any of your assistants are authorized to prepare or sign indictments in matters brought before me, I direct you to refrain."

Cox asked Hauberg, "Do you refuse to carry on court proceedings against Acting Attorney Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach Thursday after they refused to handle grand jury business?"

"Because of instructions," Hauberg answered. "I most humbly have to refuse to comply."

Tears came to his eyes at one point.

Cox said he had "no alternative but to judge you to be in civil contempt of court." He ordered Hauberg confined in a Hills County Jail "until you decide to comply " but granted a five-day delay in making the sentence effective.

Cox also ordered papers prepared to require Katzenbach to show why he should not be judged guilty of contempt. Hauberg conferred by telephone with Washington immediately afterward. Later he told reporters he had no comment.

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman said the cases involved could not be discussed because grand jury deliberations are secret.

"Whatever the details, how­ever," the spokesman said, "the Department of Justice continues to believe that it is the responsibility of the depart­ment to decide which cases it is appropriate to prosecute."

Tokyo Olympics to End Today; Soviets Expected to Pass U.S.

TOKYO -- Russia's strong boxers and skilled gymnasts are expected to provide enough medals to surpass the American total today while the major East-West confrontation takes place on the basketball court as the Tokyo Olympics reach their last full day of competition.

The Russians, who added medals with startling rapidity in gymnastics and boxing Thursday, are virtually assured of moving ahead of the U.S. total, but for the first time since the 1952 Games at Helsinki their gold medal total may fall short of America's.

U.S. forces collected two more golds in women's boxing Thursday.

There was lifted today America's over-all medal total to 46-34 gold, 26 silver and 28 bronze. Russia, however, marshaled her forces in the sports considered minor to America's, won 11 medals and lifted its total to 77, including 23 gold, 21 silver and 33 bronze.

However, there are 20 finals on today's program and Russian athletes have assured themselves of at least 10 medals with one over-all potential that can reach 22. The United States, meanwhile, has assured itself of only two more--and has little potential beyond.

China Won't Sign Test Ban

WASHINGTON--Communist China rejected Thursday President Johnson's suggestion that it sign the limited nuclear test ban treaty and repeated its call for a global summit meeting to abolish nuclear weapons.

It had been expected that the United States would answer this call by proposing through diplomatic channels that the Peking regime sign the test ban treaty which more than 100 nations have signed.

President Johnson, in fact, said Sunday night in a television speech to the nation, "We call on the World--especially Red China--to join the nations which have signed it to the treaty."

An editorial Thursday in an official Peking People's Daily called the treaty "nothing but a fraud."

"China is by no means under­scored by the idea of possessing nuclear weapons," the editorial continued.

Sartre Refuses Nobel Award; Won't Take 'Potatoes or Prize'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden--Writer-philosopher Jean-Paul Sartre won the 1964 Nobel Prize for Literature Thursday and turned it down--explaining that he wanted to remain free.

"In East--West cultural conflicts, it is not the same thing if I sign myself 'Jean-Paul Sartre' or 'Jean-Paul Sartre, Nobel Prize winner,' " he said in Paris.

"It is not the same thing if I sign myself 'Jean-Paul Sartre' or 'Jean-Paul Sartre, Nobel Prize winner,' " he said in Paris.

"My sympathies are un­doubtedly on the side of socialism and what one calls the Eastern Bloc," he said. "But I was born and raised in an upper middle-class family. This allows me to collaborate with all those who seek to bring the two cultures together. Of course, however, I hope that the 'better one wins'--that is socialism."

An academy spokesman said Sartre might change his mind later, as others have done, and accept the $53,123 award, but regardless, the interest of the award stands.
Peace Corps Unit Here Asked To Make Indiana Town Survey

Peace Corps trainees at SIU will make a community development survey in New Harmony, a southern Indiana community with an interesting past.

The group of 46, accompanied by their Spanish language teachers and other instructors so they can keep up with their studies, will spend the period, Saturday through Nov. 7, in the gold-rainforest country on the banks of the Waibash River.

The trainees, who have been on the Carbondale campus since August, living at Little Grassy Lake, are learning to do community development work in the Central American country. Their work in New Harmony will be a field training project.

Living with families in private homes of New Harmony, they will make a survey to deal with community problems, consumer buying habits and student recreation.

They hope they will have time to compile all the material and present it at a meeting before they leave.

An organization at New Harmony, the Harmony Associates, sought the program by the Peace Corps trainees, who will finish their 12 weeks of intensive training at Southern Illinois University Nov. 13 and leave for Puerto Rico, after short visits at home, for an additional three weeks of field training at the Campus Folk Society.

City to Allow Floats on Rt. 51
From Grand to Campus Drive

Homecoming parade floats may be transported between Rt. 51 from Grand Street to Campus Drive.

The City Council approved the measure Tuesday night which was explained to the members that the floats would be too wide to go through the Old Main area and to direct them from University Street to their final Housing.

The parade will have to dishab in front of the gates and the floats should be allowed on Route 51. The bands and other performers will have to move the highway.

William E. Eaton, acting mayor of Carbondale, said there is really no problem if the entire parade is not Southern Deaters Tie for Last Spot movement, quoting from the Blue Book a passage establishing front group organizational procedures.

Shifting to the extreme left, Hall charged that the student trips to Cuba, in defiance of the State Department's ban on travel to Castro's country, were organized by the Progressive Labor Party.

He said the students were carefully screened by the organization to assure that those selected were willing to defy the federal authority and would behave in a manner compatible with the group's propaganda motives.

Hall observed that the ban on travel by U.S. citizens to Cuba, especially in new foreign policy, saying that it has been traditional for the State Department to place a nation "off-limits" to Americans whenever diplomatic relations with such a nation were severed and U.S. embassies were closed.

Newsmen or others with acceptable reasons for traveling to Cuba may still get their passports validated for such trips, Hall said, and many reporters are continuing to travel freely to and from Cuba.

Salukis Will Face Another Test In Michigan Wildcats' Cold Lair

By Richard LaSuena

Marquette, Mich., is a bustling iron-ore shipping center on the shores of Lake Su­perior, an area known for its frigid weather.

Western Michigan University, SIU's football opponent this weekend, hopes to warm things up for the Salukis when they invade the Upper Penin­sula Saturday.

The Wildcat contest will be the last road game of the sea­son for coach Don Shroyer's Salukis who have a 2-3 rec­ord and are fresh from a big 28-19 victory over Drake.

Hoping to make things hot for the Salukis Saturday is a young Northern Michigan squad coached by veteran F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca. The Wild­cats, victor of a 27-0 Home­coming victory over the standard Southern here last season, are 3-3 in the current campaign.

With two games remaining on their eight-game schedule, the Wildcats are shooting for their ninth straight winning season under Ferzacca, and are expected to be too hot for Saturday's game. Northern Michigan is a tough team to beat on its home ground, proven in Southern's nailbiter 14-13 loss to the Wildcats at Marquette in the first meeting between the two in 1962.

Heading the Northern Michi­gan squad is a veteran back­field which Ferzacca calls "the fastest ever at NMU."

Big men in the Wildcats' of­fensive attack are junior quar­terback Terry Nyquist, stal­wart halfback Bob Erickson and fullback Tim Tranetzki. Nyquist, a 6'-1, 200-pound signal-caller from Marquette, is a poised pas­ ter and a good runner and is considered the team's leading offensive threat. Last season Nyquist completed 36 passes for 653 yards in six touch­downs. The Wildcats set a new NMU passing record in 1963 when they gained 983 yards through the air.

Erickson, a 187-pound running standout from Wake­field, Mich., was the Wild­cat's leading ground gainer last year, when he gained 349 yards and scored five touch­downs. The junior star missed Northern Michigan's first three games this season with a shoulder injury but showed his old form in the Wildcats' 35-6 win over little St. Nor­bert last Saturday.

Sophomore Len Trueman, filled in for Erickson during the latter's absence, and gives Ferzacca a considerable depth at the right halfback position.

Fullback Tranetzki was second behind Erickson in rushing last season. Tranetzki is small for a fullback—5'-11, 184-pounds—but possesses considerable speed and is a fine power runner and blocker. Northern's forward wall will be without the services of 1963 All-American Len St. Jean (since graduated), but returns with a determined and experienced line led by 215-pound tackles, Dick Dick­inson and Al Hieco. Both were stalwart defenders on Northern's 4-4-1 team last year.

Others expected to start include rookie American Len St. Jean (since graduated), but returns with a determined and experienced line led by 215-pound tackles, Dick Dickinson and Al Hieco. Both were stalwart defenders on Northern's 4-4-1 team last year.

I Dreamed I Was a Hero in New SIU Arena

By Alan Goldfarb

As I looked up into the black, beige and pinkish-red seats from what seemed an absurdly high vantage point, I noticed how the ball was going. We were big league. It was the big time. The crowd roared its delight with each point the Salukis scored and the sounds echoed throughout the room's cavernous walls.

I had purchased the winning basketball and the Salukis had gone on to take the NCAA basketball championship. I was the hero! And I owe it all to the SIU Arena.

The Arena, with its 10,200 padded, unpadded and just plain hard bleachers received its unofficial inauguration when one of the 20 presidential candidates christened her Wednesday. But I like to think I was the first one to play a game on its $30,000 yellow-pine floor.

I walked out onto the big empty court with the high overhead lights reflecting off its shiny surface. I bounced the ball—once, twice, and then—that came bouncing back like a thunderstorm had just erupted all over the walls of the domed building. I headed out to the middle of the floor to a maroon circle where the majestic white letters of S-I-U are written for everyone to see. This is the home of the Salukis.

The crowd went wild when I threw down my red and white warm-up jacket. I joined in with the rest of my teammates, who towered over me (I'm only 6-0 so they call me a playmaker) and formed two lines.

We took our warmup lay-ups and then balls came at me from every direction. It was time to warm-up with our favorite shots. I took a few jump shots from the head of the key (the top of the circle that surrounds the foul line). I kept missing, so I tried another shot. My favorite, I must admit, however, is the foul shot. You should have seen how the ball was going "swish" right through those cords and sometimes it would bound off the glass backboard and go into the basket.

The horn sounded. It was game time. I came up onto the sidelines in front of my coach while he was giving us his game plan. I turn to look at him. I was some kind of nut. But I wanted him to think I was an All-American basketball player.

The crowd stood up and roared when my winning basket was "swished" through the nets. Thanks SIU Arena!
