Tickets Will Be Screened at Arena

2 Fans Beat Ticket Crowd By 20 Hours

Many students want tickets to the Evansville basketball game but not quite as badly as Steve J. Main and Charles D. Cooch. Despite freezing rain which turned into snow and gloomy predictions of more snow and subfreezing temperatures—Main and Cooch got in line for tickets at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Tickets were not to go on sale until some 20 hours later—at 9 a.m., today. Main, a business major from Champaign, and Cooch, an agriculture major from Arwood, said they made up their minds to see Saturday's game—at any cost—after their earlier this season. They had entrance to the Arena right from Champaign, and Cooch, later—at 9 a.m. the day, said they made up their minds to wait off the snow.

They showed up at the south entrance to the Arena right after noon wearing several layers of clothing and carrying several blankets each. They each had an umbrella to ward off the snow.

Tender—hearted officials permitted the two to stay inside the lobby of the Arena until after the SIU—Indiana State wrestling match Wednesday afternoon. After that it was "out in the snow, boys.” Friends, who live with the two in the Washington Square dormitory complex, sent word that they would join them sometime after midnight. And others brought them food and coffee.

The pair said they planned to study and play cards to pass the time.

Morris L. Ernst, author of the book, "The First Freedom," will speak at 7 p.m. today in the Home Economics Lounge.

A member of the New York Bar Association (elected Outstanding Lawyer of the Year, 1960), Ernst is a crusader for civil liberties.

He has served as special counsel to the American Newspaper Guild, the Dramatists Guild and the Author's League of America.

A basic philosophy stressed by Ernst is that the lines of communication must be kept open for the sake of free exchange of ideas, according to Howard R. Long, chairman of the Department of Journalism.

Ernst is expected to speak informally tonight, and to conduct an open discussion about current issues of freedom of the press and press restrictions.

The speaker is sponsored by the editorial conference of the Daily Egyptian and the meeting is open to the public.

Coffee will be served.

Students Will Need Their Activity Cards as Well as Ticket Stubs to Enter Saturday's Basketball Game With Evansville, an Athletics Department spokesman said.

"Tickets will be checked closely at the door and no one will be permitted into the student section unless they have an activity card as well as a ticket," the spokesman added.

He pointed out that this step was being taken to prevent the "scalping" of student tickets to adults.

Some 3,000 ticket stubs went to on sale at 9 a.m., today at the south entrance to the SIU Arena. These special ticket booths were to be set up outside the entrance to handle the crowd.

The Athletics Department stressed that only students with season tickets would be allowed to pick up their game tickets from 9 a.m. until noon. One student will be allowed to pick up tickets for himself and one other person if he produces season tickets. Approximately 2,000 students have season athletic tickets.

Some 600 of these only an activity card will be permitted to purchase a 50-cent ticket from 1 to 4 p.m., today. A student may purchase a second ticket if he presents an activity card.

Some 1,300 tickets were made available to Evansville College for the game. As Evansville spokesman estimated that 200 of them were purchased by students and the rest by adults.

He also estimated that another 2,000 to 2,500 Evansville tickets went on sale.

Students Express Disbelief In End of World Prediction

By Carol Deramus

The world will end March 16 according to a woman in southern Indiana. She reported that God had appeared to her in a vision and told her that the world would be destroyed because people have repeatedly broken His commandments. She related her vision to her minister who prayed and received verification of the message. Destruction of the world is to come by way of an unrevealed tragedy.

Eight families of the Indiana town have turned an abandoned coal mine into a shelter in which they are going to move in preparation for March 16. How does the student body feel about the end of the world being less than a month away? General opinion is disbelief, as expressed by the following students:

Deanna M. Downing, Peoria
"It's completely unscriptural. I don't think it's going to happen. When the world will end because the Bible states that it will be in the twinkling of an eye. Frankly, nothing could be worse than the end of the world."

Robert Hugyen of Glenview
"If I find it hard to believe the quarter won't be over and I won't have my four A's."

The Rev. Ferdinand Potterhaus, Carbondale
"It's 596 Alcuin 'sacked Rome and Pope Gregory the Great felt the world would end. If even had a prayer put in the Mass to be said at the end of the world. He made a prayer that God would be said at the end of the world. He made a prayer that God would be in the twinkling of an eye. Frankly, nothing could be worse than the end of the world."

Marcia A. Raga, St. Louis
"They're hiding from God!"

Stephen P. Huber, Perryville, Mo.
"It looks like a publicity stunt and I think she's kind of silly. Maybe I don't have faith that God really appeared to her but then I doubt if anyone would bet with me. Anyway, I hope it doesn't end. I'd like to enjoy it a little more."

Training for Technology Assessed

By Rex C. Mack
Copley News Service

LOS ANGELES — The rapid pace of technological change is forcing many universities to make a complete reappraisal of their ways of training the technology specialists of the Space Age. This is the opinion of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology being a classical example of one university that is finding it essential to place more stress on the learning of modern fields of science that have only been the custom in the past.

The words of Gordon Browne, director of the School of Engineering, illustrate the reason for the transition.

“Twenty years from now, Newton’s laws will doubtless be valid, but the manu facturing processes used today will be obsolete. So why teach the same course again? Learn the fundamentals of machines instead of learning how General Motors has been making them for the last 20 years.”

“Let’s learn how to discover new problems that will contribute to the development of new technologies. Learn how to formulate not the rules for today but the rules of industry 20 years from now.”

“That’s why we lay so much stress on research and development. It is why we are trying to bring back to the university the faculty and new knowledge. It’s why our curriculum changes every two or three years. It’s why only people who have the right to teach here have the right to do so.”

A professor who is not a student, he adds, has no place in a modern university.

The universities that are taking this sort of action are certainly on the right track.

In fact, because universities did not take such action earlier, a rather critical situation exists in a large segment of the aerospace industry.

A possible truth is that many technical employees in the aerospace industry are not getting the technical training required to make them employable as professionals of as little as five years.

Because many engineers in industry today were trained before the revolution of space-age fundamentals, most of the aerospace industry now has to keep its training courses to keep the employees current.

It is unfortunately true that many of our universities have not yet recognized the need to return to fundamental training.

If the universities truly train technologists to satisfy the needs of industry, they must be given a proper training in energy, computers and automation, they will not simply have to learn how to use the capacity to open up completely new fields.

Let us hope that the upheaval in education is successful. Our nation needs truly great engineers to cope with the complex problems of today’s world.

French, Russians Seek Talks To Break Viet Nam Deadlock

PARIS (AP)—France and the Soviet Union agreed Wednesday to cooperate to seek a solution of the Viet Nam crisis at the international conference table.

As the two nations reached their accord at the initiative of the Soviet Union, there were other developments in world capitals:

Jets Join Battle

U.S. Sheds Label of Adviser, Attacks Viet Cong From Air

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Jet planes manned solely by U.S. airmen now are waging war against the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam, supplementing the forces that Americans and Vietnamese conduct jointly with slower aircraft.

American jets struck Wednesday at guerrillas who have been ambushing government detachments in the mountains near An Khê.

This followed an initial jet raid last Thursday on a guerrilla-held pass in that region of coffee, tea and rubber plantations 210 miles north of Saigon.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman announced P100 Super Sabre jet fighter-bombers and B57 Martin Canberra bombers were unleashed at the request of the Saigon government and that the Americans—pilots and ordnance handlers—have since staged several strikes.

The use of all-American crews is a departure from Washington's original pronouncements that U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam were assigned as advisers, not as fighters.

The spokesman said, however, each jet was a part of a combined operation with the South Vietnamese air force.

By coincidence, two U.S. Air Force officers were killed in a crash of one of the older planes—a propeller—driven Douglas Skyraider—on a training flight 20 miles east of Saigon. The wreckage burned. A military officer said a bout of gunfire was not believed to have been involved.

The emphasis on air operations developed as Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the deposed strongman, flew in from the mountain resort of Dalat on his way to an ambassadorial assignment at the United Nations.

In Washington, the White House declined to comment on the French-Soviet accord but President Johnson was reported far from convinced that the combination would engage in meaningful negotiations now.

In Moscow, diplomatic informants said the Soviet Union would seek at any conference the neutralization of South Viet Nam, something the United States has regarded with a certain unease.

In Peking, Premier Chou En-lai said China saw no settlements in Viet Nam would hinge on withdrawal of U.S. military forces.

In New York, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said he had made proposals to the United States and other nations on a negotiated settlement and was confident ways could be found to end the war.

In Warsaw, Poland, U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot met with Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Kuo-chuan in what diplomats viewed as an attempt to avert an expanded war in Viet Nam.

In London, British sources reported the Soviet-French accord with skepticism. One source said why call a conference now "when there is plainly no possible basis for such a neutralizing council?"

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will meet in Paris with President Charles de Gaulle next month at a date to be set, informed French sources said.

His presence would enable the Soviet Union and France to coordinate further their announced plans of trying to bring about a negotiated end to the conflict in Viet Nam.

Peyrefitte told newsmen that the French and the Soviet Union would cooperate in pushing for an international conference on Viet Nam. He said France's detailed proposal would be made in a diplomatic note to Moscow.

Bonn Will Seek to Continue Hunt for Nazi War Criminals

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and his cabinet changed their minds and decided Wednesday to find a way to continue the hunt for Nazi murderers.

This was a reversal of last fall's cabinet decision that it would be legally impossible to start new prosecutions after May 9, the 20th anniversary of the end of World War II in Europe.

That was the date originally chosen to stop the hunt.

Erhard's shock fell particularly in the United States and Israel with that decision. Earlier this month, he gave in to President Camal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and cut off arms shipments to Israel. This produced a crisis in relations with Israel.

The new cabinet attitude toward hunting down Nazi criminals was announced on the day that the chancellor's arch-enemy, East German President Walter Ulbricht, was making a triumphal entry into Cairo. Ulbricht's trip is calculated to give a boost to his international prestige, something that Erhard would gladly offset.

The chancellor's spokesman told a news conference that the cabinet reversed its decision because it had become obvious that other than some Nazi murderers would go free.

Chicago Senator's Ouster Approved

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Senate Elections Committee recommended Wednesday that Sen. Theodore Swinarski, Chicago Democrat, be unseated.

Swinarski's right to hold office has been challenged on grounds he was not a resident of the 14th district, from which he was elected last November.

Republicans, holding a majority on the committee, outvoted Democrats 9-7 in favoring Swinarski's ouster.

The GOP-controlled Senate, which will make the final decision, is expected to vote on the contested next week. Swinarski conceded he has little chance of retaining his seat.

SIU’s Perkins Family Home After ‘Warm’ Viet Nam Stay

“We could go for days feeling tension, but because of the children, we learned to play the down,” said Mrs. Harold Perkins.

Mrs. Perkins recently had to move from the warm weather and even warmer political situation in Saigon, South Viet Nam, back to the United States.

Mrs. Perkins and her family were in South Viet Nam with her husband, Harold Perkins, who is one of 13 SIU faculty members engaged in United States educational projects in that war-torn country.

With the exception of Mr. Perkins who will stay in Viet Nam for the remainder of his two-year contract, the entire Perkins family returned to Carbondale so the younger children (Judy, 5; Bobby, 10) can enter school, and the oldest (Billy, 18) can enter SIU in the spring quarter.

The family lived in a compound with 35 other American families near the Tan Son Nhue Air Base about six miles from Saigon.

Even though the Perkins could often hear artillery and rifle fire near the air base, Mrs. Perkins said she liked living near the airport since, it was much easier to evacuate during an emergency rather than waiting the 20-mile-per-hour traffic of Saigon to get to safety.

Since the American compound was somewhat far from Saigon, most of the supplies were purchased from the PX. Though there wasn’t too much trouble getting supplies, Mrs. Perkins said, the selection wasn’t always the best.

Would Mrs. Perkins go back to Viet Nam? “I wouldn’t go back right now,” she said. “But if Harold decides to stay...well, I’ll have to decide when the time comes.”

Two Booklets on Use of Hardwood

Two pamphlets concerning the use of native Southern Illinois hardwood as construction materials have been published by the Central States Forest Experiment Station.

The publications were written by William W. Rice, superintendent of the Wood Products Pilot Plant, YTI.

“Age-Rigid-Frame Cabin From Hardwood lumber” gives materials and instructions for a 20 by 30 foot shell to be used as a hunting or fishing cabin.

The other pamphlet, “A Rigid-Frame Cabin From Hardwood lumber” explains the use of rigid-frame construction in the building of a 16 by 20 foot cabin from native hardwood. The buildings can be constructed in a woodwork shop or at the building site.

Brown received his Ph.D. in geology and mineralogy from Cambridge. He went on to be a lecturer at Oxford and later returned to the Cavendish Laboratory at Cambridge.

He will be in Carbondale only during the coming spring quarter.

Lectures he will present will cover geometrical crystallography, X-ray diffraction, crystal chemistry and physics at a beginning level.

Further information about the course may be obtained from F.D. Blass, Department of Geology.

SIU Swimmers Travel to Texas, Oklahoma for Last Dual Meets

SIU’s swimming squads move back into action Friday after a three week layoff as they challenge powerful Southern Methodist at Dallas, Texas. Coach Ralph Casey’s SIU swimmers then close their regular season with a dual meet against Oklahoma at Norman Saturday afternoon. SIU’s swimmers will be challenging the SMU Mustangs’ frosh at 4 p.m. Friday with the varsity meet scheduled at 7:30 p.m. The freshmen and varsity meets will be run simultaneously Saturday, both beginning at 4 p.m.

The Salukis are scheduled to fly to Dallas Friday morning and move over to Norman Saturday. The Friday meet is expected to be the second toughest of the year for Casey’s men. SMU, which has won the Southwest Conference Championship for the past eight years, again is loaded with talent although it graduated a record number of 12 letterman last year.

In the American Swimmer magazine’s annual preseason poll the Mustangs were rated the ninth best team in the nation, SIU wasn’t far behind as they captured the 14th spot. Thus the meet should be a nip and tuck affair.

It could go right down to the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, before the outcome is decided. That relay promises to be a thriller too. In the last outing the SIU team of Mike Roberts, Richard Westenrieder, Tom McNamara and Don Shaffer set a new school and SIU pool record with a blazing 3:16.7 time.

But the SMU team topped the time last weekend in the Southwestern AAU Swimming and Diving Championships in their own pool with a 3:16.1, setting a new meet record.

The Mustangs are also strong in the distance events, the sprints, the backstroke and the individual medley. In the AAU meet last weekend SMU won two of three events on the second of three days of competition.

Richard Quick won the 200-yard individual medley with a 2:04.3 time and Tim Birnie won the 100-yard backstroke with a 55.7 time. Quick is only the team’s second best 100 yard medallist, Bob Freman also is a top competitor.

SMU’s Lacey is also a top distance man but his 1:45.7 and 5:05 times can’t match McNamara’s brilliant 1:45.8 and 4:54.5 efforts.

2 Cities Protest On SIU Speaker

Robert W. MacVicar, vice president for Academic Affairs, has declined comment on resolutions passed by the city councils of Johnston City and Herrin this week protesting Communist speakers at state-supported schools. MacVicar spoke for the University in the absence of President Delyte W. Morris, who was in Washington.

"The University has received no formal communication from the city councils," MacVicar said. "It is hard to defend yourself when you don’t know the exact criticisms. So it would be improper for me or anyone else to comment at this time."

Frosh Cagers to End Season Against Evansville Saturday

Southern’s luckless freshman basketball team winds up its season Saturday night in a rematch of Southern’s 61-46 loss of Evansville earlier in the month. The Salukis dropped the earlier encounter with the Aces 70-63 at Evansville, but the return match could be a different story.

Southern will be at full strength for the first time in five weeks with the return of pivot man Jay Westcott. The 6-3 center has been the leading scorer for the frosh this year, but has not played since the opener against Illinois Memorial five since Jan. 21.

Another factor to be considered in the Salukis’ improved play in recent games, Southern has two of its five games since the Evansville meeting, but its performance this year has been creditable considering the loss of Bill Blanchard, Bob Weiss and Rich Maloney. Blanchard has picked up 26 points in the last three games, while Weiss and Maloney have scored 29 in the same games. Weiss has the highest average per game with 17.4 points a night. Even though he has only been in 11 of the 12 games, Westcott also leads the team in rebounds with 87. Bobby Jackson has the highest total of points with 116 for the 12 games. His speedy guard is averaging 15.5 points per game and the second leading rebounder with 82 rebounds.

Last Saturday night was the third leading scorer with a 12.3 average. The Murphy-Stephens backcourt has also rebounded to his 148 points, an average of 33.6 per game.

The contest was open to the third leading scorer with a 12.3 average. The Murphy-Stephens backcourt has also rebounded to his 148 points, an average of 33.6 per game.

Upset-Minded Saluki Matmen To Meet Moorhead Champs

The SIU wrestlers will be upset-minded when they travel to Moorhead, Minn., Friday to compete against the Moorhead State College team Friday night.

Moorhead State, which always seems to turn out strong wrestling teams, won the National Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics Championship last year and reportedly as strong this year.

The Moorhead team is headed by Don Berg, a heavyweight, who finished second in the NCAA last year in his weight division.

The Salukis defeated Moorhead last year at the Colorado School of Mines Quadrangular and went on to win the championship. However, SIU has only one winner of last year’s meet.

The lone remaining victor is Don Devine who defeated every one on his way to winning the 123 weight division.

Coach Jim Wilkinson has been having a hard time finding a starting lineup with the rash of injuries that have plagued the Saluki matmen all year.

Barring any more such injuries, Wilkinson is expected to use Devine at 123 points, Larry Barron at 130. Dave Pfeifer at 137. Don Davis at 147, Antone Dumasoff at 157, George McGraw at 167, Bob Herkert at 177 and either Alf Haarmer or Chuck Koresiel at heavyweight.

If "we can win these, we should be able to beat Moorhead," said the coach.

Upset-Minded Saluki Matmen To Meet Moorhead Champs

The SIU wrestlers will be upset-minded when they travel to Moorhead, Minn., Friday to compete against the Moorhead State College team Friday night.

Moorhead State, which always seems to turn out strong wrestling teams, won the National Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics Championship last year and reportedly as strong this year.

The Moorhead team is headed by Don Berg, a heavyweight, who finished second in the NCAA last year in his weight division.

The Salukis defeated Moorhead last year at the Colorado School of Mines Quadrangular and went on to win the championship. However, SIU has only one winner of last year’s meet.

The lone remaining victor is Don Devine who defeated every one on his way to winning the 123 weight division.

Coach Jim Wilkinson has been having a hard time finding a starting lineup with the rash of injuries that have plagued the Saluki matmen all year.

Barring any more such injuries, Wilkinson is expected to use Devine at 123 points, Larry Barron at 130, Dave Pfeifer at 137, Don Davis at 147, Antone Dumasoff at 157, George McGraw at 167, Bob Herkert at 177 and either Alf Haarmer or Chuck Koresiel at heavyweight.

If "we can win these, we should be able to beat Moorhead," said the coach.

SIU Wrestlers Beat Indiana State, 24-8

By Joe Cook

The Saluki wrestlers saved their best performance of the year for the home crowd Wednesday night as the men easily defeated Indiana State, 24-8.

For Southern it was the second dual meet victory against a major opponent. Southern had earlier defeated Evansville College and had also outscored Indiana State the school and highly-ranked Oklahoma State.

Southern's meet won the first six matches as Don Devine, Larry Barone, Dave Ploor, Dan DiVito, Anson Kusmanoff and George McCready combined to win Southern with the only points it needed to win.

Devine's match at 123 pounds was the closest. He edged Indiana State's Jim Missouri School Sets Interviews

The O'Fallon Elementary and Junior High School of O'Fallon are conducting Job Interviews on March 3 for teachers in grades kindergarten through 5, elementary physical education and junior high health education.

Previously it was reported that the job interviews will be conducted for O'Fallon, Ill.

Southern's Davis points coming in the last period. Southern's points totalled 130, had no trouble from John Wilhiever. He piled up 11 points in the 5-1 lead and coasted to an 8-3 win.

Kusmanoff, at 137, won his match with next finest score but forfeited that weight class to Southern. DiVito, at 127, who just returned to the starting lineup after spending three inactive weeks sidelined with a knee injury, won his match by default. DiVito had a 5-0 lead with only 1:30 minutes gone in his match when State's Rudy Dotticht injured his collarbone and was forced to discontinue.

Kusmanoff earned the only fall for the evening when he pinned State's Bob Prechinka at 1:52 of the first period. McCready, at 167, won by the biggest score as he manhandled Randy Qualitza by the score of 13-1.

Bob Herkert, at 177, forfeited his match to Indiana State's Roger Garmore. With victory assured, Wilkinson felt that his boys came through with their best performances of the season.

CHICAGO (AP) — A record field of 94 schools, businesses and colleges in the state high school wrestling headquarters by the tourney at Champaign Friday and Saturday.

Waukegan and Granite City, will compete in the finals of the 28th Illinois State Wrestling Tournament.

Washington (AP) — Arthur G. Allen, Chicago White Sox owner, said Wednesday the American League "has blotted out" on the New York Yankees and the perennial champs no longer dominate league operations.

This disputed a statement by the owner of the Kansas City Athletics, Charles O. Finley, that the Yankees still "call the tune in the league.

Under questioning before the Senate Antitrust subcommittee, Allen agreed with a statement from Bill Veeck, his predecessor as White Sox boss, that the Yankees had previously tended to dominate league decisions off the field much as they dominated play on the field.

Several Evansville groups have chartered buses to bring fans to the game, he added.

SIU officials were expected to make an announcement today whether the game would be televised by WSUL-TV. It was reported earlier in the week that because the game is a sellout, efforts would be made to televise it.
