SIU Researchers Encouraged
By Results in Cancer Work

A promising new experimental approach to the treatment of breast cancer has been announced by an SIU research team. In experiments at the center, Beverly and endocrinologist George Gass say a group of hormone-sensitive tumors have reproduced apparently slowed down the growth of breast tumors in laboratory rats. The range of growth inhibition was 40 to 70 per cent when compared with an untreated group.

The compounds are known cancer producing or inhibiting hormones with a nitrogen mustard molecular grouping tacked on. This hypothesis was that the pharmacologically active hormone would "target" on a tumor site where the nitrogen mustard agent would then work to slow or stop its growth. Initial results seem to indicate that this does happen.

Confirmation tests of some synthetic hormones and various kinds of cancer will be done through the Cancer Care, a National Service Center in Washington, Gass said.

While the same approach has been attempted by other researchers, Beverly has synthesized his compounds by substituting the nitrogen mustard group on a different part of the best molecule. The rearrangement doesn't interfere with the several main active chemical functions of the molecule.

Police Inquiry Uncoverd Clues
In Local Men's Store Looting

Police investigation of Tuesday night's burglary at Golden's clothing store in Carbondale has turned up several "definite clues." Chief Jack Hazle said Thursday that combining the information from the store's safe and two witnesses, it's believed that a cost estimate would be determined at that time.

Barger, who left the store at 7 p.m., said the burglary was discovered by a customer in an adjoining store. Entry was made by forcing the front door.

Primary Election Slated Tuesday
For City Hopefuls

CITIZENS OF CARBONDALE WILL vote in a primary election Tuesday which promises to be the most lively in at least eight years.

There are four candidates for mayor and nine for city council.

Incumbent D. Blainey Miller will face his first declared opponent for mayor in Dan Keene, Thomas North and Jesse Groves.

Miller had only written-in opposition when he received 2,522 votes in 1959 to 1,781 for Donald L. Hudlow in 1963.

The primary will pit five candidates for the position of City Council candidate, four for city council and five independents.

Backed by the Progress group are Miller and City Council candidate A. D. Ragsdale, Joseph Ragsdale, Sidney Schiller and Donald L. Hudlow.

Ragsdale, a junior from Wilmette, Illinois, is running on the same slate as Keene and council candidate David Jones, Ramsey and Ragsdale.

Running on the slate are Joseph Schiller, Alphonse Kingston Miller and William E. McLaughlin.

The area need not register for Tuesday's election, they will be required to sign an affidavit sworn to in their general election, 608 N. Illinois Ave.

Experiments Program
Examines the Thirties

Sixty-five of the University School Junior Class have been turned the clock back about 30 years.

The group is in the final stages of a month-long experimental program designed to outline the remains of the depression years which still influence culture of the 1930s, according to Roger E. Robinson, principal of the school.

First idea for the program came last spring when faculty members started discussing the need for a course which broke down barriers of sub-ject matter, Robinson said.

Plans for just one course to handle the experiment gave way to an intensive, four-week program. Members of the junior class were divided from their afternoon classes for a four-week period of time to the program, he said.

Featuring in the study of the 1930's was a trip to the St. Louis Art Gallery, lectures by University professors and presentation of student projects.

Carbondale Needs University’s Ideas

In a position statement released Friday Sidney R. Schoen, a candidate for the Carbondale City Council, said the biggest problem facing the city is the lack of understanding between the town and the University.

Schoen stated that communication between the two groups is not connected with the University.

It seems strange that Schoen thinks that communication between the two groups can be improved by telling the University to mind its own business and remove itself from the affairs of the town.

The number of students, faculty and staff members of the University equal the number of Carbondale residents.

The academic community has as much of a stake in the affairs of the community as any other group. This is especially true when the University provides the bulk of the economic base for Carbondale.

Since when does fair representation in the city’s management constitute “interference”?

Schoen also stated that it is his desire to “protect the rights of the merchants, professional people, property owners and residents at large of Carbondale against small pressure groups dedicated to self-interests.”

We wonder if this “small pressure group” is the 20,000 people connected with SUI, the 2,000 people against substandard housing, unethical business practices, slums, and high rents. Schoen said he didn’t think this group would “invade fields of retailing (and) real estate.

Does this mean that the University should not provide dormitories or the campus book store?

Save for moving the Illinois Central station north of town, Schoen’s platform is based on relegating the academic community to a position of having no voice in the direction of the community.

He has offered no positive proposals for elevation of the community like such a traffic, slum conditions, industrial development, tax and fiscal problems or community development.

Schoen’s program would serve to drive the University and the city further apart. This is about the last thing Carbondale needs.

Letter to the Editor

Council Shows Indifferent Attitude Toward Citizens

To the editor:

Several times during the past two years residents of northeast Carbondale visited the City Council for help and information on problems that they were having in the neighborhood for years. It was made clear to all present that the only thing the city council and mayor would prefer to conduct their business without unscheduled interruptions from the common citizens.

In an effort to build a better neighborhood, over 80 residents from the northeast visited council meetings time after time. These citizens were seeking improved streets, street lighting, traffic signals, storm sewers, sidewalks and repair or demolition of dilapidated buildings. On only one of the occasions were the citizens treated with any respect or the truth. The issues mentioned above are legitimately city council business, but the citizens were treated as if they were outsiders, unimportant, and wasting the valuable time of the council.

Schoen’s absence from the Honorable Mayor were cited: 1. In reference to dilapidated buildings “We can’t start tomorrow.”

2. In answer to one citizen’s immigration question, “We can’t settle problems if you come up here with a chip on your shoulder.”

3. In answer to another resident’s question of hearing that it took time but it does take time. On May 16, 1965 a letter to the council explained that residents of northeast Carbondale were not asked for special treatment for the neighborhood, but for equal treatment. The Council did not answer and has yet to comment on this letter.

Then on Jan. 27 of this year a different group of citizens who opposed the council-manager form of government visited a Council meeting. This group, known as Citizens for Progress, visited not to discuss the usual city business, but to complain about something someone was supposed to have said. The issue at hand was no more substantial than gossip and the evidence presented was hearsay.

The encounter was observable by the members of a particular group trying to obscure the fact that they had vigorously opposed the city manager form of government. This so-called discussion was blown out of time at length and was anything but a constructive citizen mayor to restore the meeting to relevant city business.

These events lead to the question, “Why the unequal treatment city council? Does the influence that determines which citizens of Carbondale may take an active interest in their city government?”

It is intended that this letter be read at the next City Council meeting.

Card Burning Not Justified

A Court of Appeals decision, not left standing, is that burning draft cards and free speech are not the same thing. It is a reasonable decision, regardless of how one feels about the plight of young people facing conscription for a way they morally oppose. The law against burning draft cards is no way interference with the right to speak out against the war.

Candidates’ Opinions

The nine city council candidates who will be on the ballot in Carbondale’s city primary election Tuesday have expressed a variety of opinions about the major problems facing the community.

The candidates were invited by letter to present their views to the Daily Egyptian. Their comments concerning issues facing the city are presented on this and the next page.
Randall H. Nelson

"Carbondale has an accumulation of problems resulting from population growth and inadequate revenue," according to City Council candidate Randall H. Nelson.

Costs of maintenance, unemployment and inadequate housing for some of its people, are continuing to push the city to the edge of insolvency. "This is a condition that has been recognized among some of the elected officials which has prevented coordinated efforts toward the solution of these problems," he said.

To solve these problems, Nelson would initiate a "candid exchange" of opinions between business and labor and the city council, and "to see that our city administration is alert and sensitive to the needs of the community.

"A very serious problem for the present and the future is the traffic congestion," he said.

Miller believes that the best solution to the city's administrative and financial problems is to "first do the research, both short- and long-term, dependent on the availability of state highway funds," and to utilize resources of University, state and federal programs.

Nelson proposes a "candid exchange" of opinions between business, labor and the city council, and "to bring in industry, and utilize resources of bondale: insufficient revenue, need for new industrial and housing units, etc."

Eaton added.

February 24, 1967.

"The best solution to the city's administrative and financial problems is to first do the research, both short- and long-term, dependent on the availability of state highway funds," according to Schoen.

Jones called the city manager form of government "best form. . .for the operation of our city."

Schoen cited the city manager form of government "the best form. . .for the operation of our city."

Candidacy Views

Kenneth R. Miller

Kenneth R. Miller is running for the city council. He has a large number of Carbondale private citizens and businessmen personally requested that I seek public office and because I believe it is essential that we have a city manager system in Carbondale community activities.

Mr. Miller is facing Carbondale's inadequate tax base, need for "much improved traffic safety," need for improved roads, sidewalks, streets, and railroads and the business community, and need for new industrial and housing units.

He named three approaches to solving these problems:

1. "Involving more citizens in planning: many of the people are interested in receiving and increasing amount of leadership from the city administration."

2. "The city manager system is 'must' for this city at this time."

3. "The recommendations of traffic and highway engineers to determine if re-routing of through traffic is necessary and feasible."

Miller said three groups must be considered in improving city-wide streets and avenues: the business community, and receiving and increasing amount of leadership from the city administration.

Miller said he supports the city manager system "as 'must' for this city at this time."

Frank A. Kirk

Incumbent Frank A. Kirk "would like to help...the people of this city."

Kirk believes that the city council should be "entirely self-sufficient, existing on the tax base, poverty and poor housing, traffic congestion and need for new industrial and housing units, etc."

If elected, Kirk says he would attempt to solve problems by creating "long-range plans" that would combat the problems, housing and inadequate traffic system.

A program to attract industry "should combine grass-roots support and professional skills," he said.

Traffic problems can be solved by re-location of private streets and avenues. He believes that "a program to attract traffic through route through Carbondale but said present need is for feeder routes through town."

Kirk also called for professional planning for the Plan for the City and the city manager to provide long-range planning.

"There is a lack of cooperation between Carbondale and SIU students," Kirk said, "caused in part by area people's lack of interest in the community."

The city council can help to fill cites as Carbondale's major problem the lack of leadership. Knowledge and imagination among some of the elected officials which has prevented coordinated efforts toward the solution of these problems," according to Schoen.

Independent Study of Thirties Ends Favorably at U-School

Laurel and Hardy, a radio news cast from 1937, a soap opera, a simulated post-depression newspaper, Franklin D. Roosevelt cartoons and a small band playing tunes from the thirties, Dennis said. “Students were encouraged to start from a point of their own interest and expand. We didn’t have a body of material to teach them; they made their own. It was more or less a pre-college situation.” Planning was left to the students.

“The boys who showed the Laurel and Hardy movie had to do everything from finding where they might get the film to presenting it to the rest of the students, Dennis said. “The leader of the band from the thirties was rather disturbed when I wouldn’t tell him what tunes he might play. But he and the rest of the band did the necessary research and came up with a very good selection. Some of the tunes were “Whispering” and “Dancing in the Dark.”

Grades for the program will be submitted to the teachers of the classes the students would normally attend. This is a paid political advertisement

ISN'T IT TRUE, Mayor Miller, that you didn't tell us all the facts?

Isn't it true that the population of Carbondale would have doubled in the last 15 years even if you hadn't been Mayor?

Isn't it true that you are claiming credit for new street lights, garbage pickup, and disposal systems, and new sidewalks when these were actually initiated under the City Council's management?

Isn't it true that Carbondale lost 4 to 5 hundred jobs when the Coal Land Company closed and 2 hundred more jobs when the Kempner Company closed its doors?

Isn't it true that the real credit for bringing Technical Tube to Carbondale belongs to Congressman Kenneth Gray?

Isn't it true that none of the Industrial Park is lying vacant?

Isn't it true that the real leadership for the Council Manager referendum came from the Citizens advisory Committee, the League of Women Voters, and the Southern Illinoisan?

Isn't it true that you were unwilling to take a public stand on the City Manager form of government and preferred to work against it?

Isn't it true that no one in the Council-Manager system was appointed by the voters but attempted to take the police chief and the fire chief out from under the supervision of the City Manager?

Isn't it true that the Carbondale Police Department is under the same system only because it is a strong city law?

Isn't it true that the street to Loan School was not denied by the City but held paid for by the school taxes?

Isn't it true that you did not cooperate with the High School Board in the request for temporary sewer lines to the new high school?

Isn't it true that the City has for years refused to let the Park District use the water area of the city reservoir for recreational purposes?

Isn't it true that at first you agreed with the NR Administration to relocate the railroad tracks and then later changed your mind when that issue got hot and sticky?

Isn't it true that, as the liquor control commissioner, you have been consistently unable to be open enough about the facts to procure those who sell liquor to profits.

Isn't it true that the polls are open from 7:30 AM to 7:30 PM, not 6 to 9 PM?

The voters know the facts: It's time for a change.

For honesty, competence, and pride in the government of our city.

Shakespeare Spoken Here,

Couple to Conduct Workshop
For Shakespearean Reading

David Hedges and Mita Scott, authors of the book "Speaking Shakespeare," will conduct a workshop at SIU tonight, Saturday, and Sunday.

The workshop is designed to help student actors and oral interpreters to understand the problems involved in speaking Shakespeare and verse.

Hedges and Mita Scott will present the lecture-recital, "Shakespeare Spoken Here," at 8 p.m. today in the playhouse. They will direct a workshop at SIU tonight, Saturday, and Sunday.

The guest artists are husband and wife in private life and are both on the faculty of Northern Illinois University. Their visit to SIU is sponsored by the Department of Speech and Theater through the artists and lecture series.

In 1964 they appeared at SIU in their production of readings from the plays of Shakespeare, "A Kingdom for a Stage," under the sponsorship of SIU's Interpreters Theater.

U.S. Troops, Jets Involved

In Biggest Offense of War

SAIGON (AP)—About 45,000 U.S. troops and scores of jet bombers hammered against light to heavy fire from Thieu and the Viet Cong's main battalion, in the most massive offensive of the Vietnam war.

Bombers based in Thailand delivered to form a huge horseshoe-shaped trap, which American officers hoped would catch the Viet Cong's political leadership and key towns and military units that have raged the area for 20 years.

More than 10 per cent of all the American servicemen in Vietnam were directly committed to the drive, centered 50 miles northwest of Saigon and encompassing a 200-square-mile area of Tay Ninh Province adjacent to neutral Cambodia's frontier.

The drive, called Operation Cedar Fall, was launched in secret before dawn Wednesday with the first American combat parachutage jump since the Korean War. The biggest previous offensive in Vietnam was Operation Cedar Fall, in which 59,000 Americans battled the Viet Cong's Iron Triangle north of Saigon in January.

The full scope of the new operation, the third in four months within War Zone C, came to light on a day that also saw:

- DISCLOSURE that more American and Communist troops were killed in combat last week than in any week since the bloody battle of the Ia Drang Valley Nov. 14-20, 1965. U.S. headquarters said 172 Americans and 3,400 of the enemy were killed, compared to the record for the 1965 period, 124 Americans and 4,200 Communists.

- FURTHER TWO ADDITIONS to the Viet Cong announced Wednesday, Feb. 7, reported in fair condition though suffering from malnutrition, Stg. Sammell Wilk, Farmville, Va., and Pfc. Charles Earle Crafts of North Jay, Maine, showed up at an American post 35 miles north of Saigon. A spokesman said both were taken immediately to a medical facility for treatment.

- A report by U.S. headquarters of a single-day record of 575 sorties by American tactical bombers over South Viet Nam Wednesday, including War Zone C strikes. The previous high for such single combat flights was 565 on Feb. 5. Other planes flew 79 missions over North Vietnam. Pilots said they destroyed three storage buildings and set several fires at the Vinh Yen ammunition depot, 80 miles west of Hanoi.

U.S. B-52 jet stratofortresses paved the way for Operation Jucietion City with four raids in quick succession earlier this week and added another Thursday. Lighter planes dropped hundreds of tons of explosives in 416 sorties Wednesday and Thursday. The first man out in the parachute jump Wednesday was Brig. Gen. John R. Deane Jr., San Francisco, commander of the 173d Airborne Brigade. He led a battle of 750 of the brigade's paratroopers tumbling from C-130 transports to form a blocking force at Katum, less than five miles from the Cambodian frontier. Field guns were parachuted to earth for their support.

"Initial enemy opposition was scattered and U.S. casualties were very light," the U.S. Command announced.
'Powell Should Be Seated, Fined $40,000'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A select House committee on Thursday of "gross misconduct" and recommended that he be barred, censured and required to pay $40,000. The money would be for government travel funds. The report said Powell's refusal to cooperate with the select committee was "contumacious and was conduct unworthy of a member."

WASHINGTON (AP)—A select House committee accused Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Thursday of "gross misconduct" and recommended that he be barred, censured and required to pay $40,000. The money would be for government travel funds. The report said Powell's refusal to cooperate with the select committee was "contumacious and was conduct unworthy of a member."

Despite all members signed the report, a statement noted that Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., "feels strongly that Mr. Powell should not be a member of the House," and that Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., "believes that punishment of Mr. Powell beyond severe censure is improper."

To qualify for membership freshmen must have at least a 4.0 grade average.

Students who qualify should contact Irving W. Adams in the Student Affairs Office.
Students Form Pre-Medical, Pre-Dental Society

About 40 students have organized a society seeking insights and study of various aspects of the field of medicine and dentistry. The Pre-Medical and Pre-Dental Society was formed officially in August of 1966 and has become an active group for student planning to enter the medical field.

About 300 students on campus are eligible for membership in the society, Franklin A. Phillips, president of the group, said.

Monthly meetings are scheduled in which area doctors, dentists and specialists inform students of their particular areas of medicine. Alternate monthly meetings are also scheduled for discussion, question and answer, and project sessions.

A. W. Richardson, professor of physiology, is the society sponsor. Officers in addition to Phillips are William Leonard, vice president; Fred H. Schmidt, treasurer; John H. Sauer, secretary of medical information; Mike Richter, secretary of dental information; and Linda L. Benenburt, corresponding secretary.

Phillips said students seeking a premedical or preprofessional background are invited to attend the next meeting on March 7 or contact him for information at 549-5137.

Dr. Hugh D. McGowan, Carbondale obstetrician, will speak at the March 7 meeting at 7 p.m. in French Auditorium of the Life Science Building.

In addition to providing speakers and discussion sessions, Phillips said advisory functions in planning a medical career are offered by the society.

Angel Flight Queen

Faces Busy Year

By Dan Van Atta

A busy year is in store for Karen Bedwell, the 1967-68 Angel Flight queen, Miss Bedwell, who was born in Chicago but has lived most of her life in Carbondale, is a sophomore in her second year with the Angel Flight. As queen, she will represent the AFROTC in many capacities during the next year.

This spring Miss Bedwell will head the annual AFROTC Awards Ceremony and formally present awards to each of this year's outstanding cadets.

In March, Miss Bedwell will represent the corps at the regional convention at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. She will also represent SIU at the Angel Flight national convention in Miami, Fla., in April.

In the fall, Miss Bedwell will serve as Angel Flight executive officer. As such she will be responsible for training the incoming pledges.

"Any girl can become an Angel Flight pledge," she said. "But the most important criteria by which we judge the pledges are talent, poise, personality and general appearance."

"When I say talent," she explained, "I mean that all of the girls must be able to sing, dance, or play a musical instrument. Although about 200 girls try out each fall, she said, only about 30 are selected.

Miss Bedwell performs with the Angelaires, the chorus of the Angel Flight, before campus events, civic clubs, and local radio and television.

Tenney to Discuss Whitehead Sunday

Charles D. Tenney, vice president for planning review, will speak at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Unitarian Fellowship meeting house at University Avenue and Elm Street. He will speak on "Whitehead as a Person.

The talk will be based on recollections of personal contact with Alfred North Whitehead, the philosopher. Tenney studied under him while doing graduate work at Harvard in 1930-31.

The public is invited. Jackson County Receives $13,616

Jackson County has been allotted $13,616 and Williamson County, $16,295 as part of their share of the motor fuel tax paid into the state treasury during January. The allotments were made to 102 counties in Illinois and totaled $1,684,720.

For Heart Fund Drive

Phil Sig's to Solicit Funds

The annual Heart Fund Drive sponsored by the Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity will be held Saturday on the corner of Main Street and Illinois Avenue.

Bob Neader, a senior from Riverdale, was appointed by the fraternity as chairman. All proceeds that are collected go to the Regional Heart Association Fund in Carbondale. Wayne Quick from the regional office in Carbondale said the money is used for research and the cure of heart disease.

"One million people in the United States die each year from different heart ailments," he said, and "over 35 million dollars was collected by volunteer workers throughout the U.S. last year."

The Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity has been donating its services for the past five years and it is the goal of the members to surpass the $500 mark that was collected last year.

Evansville Freshmen Defeat SIU Yearlings by 4 Points

The Saluki freshmen dropped their fifth game of the year Wednesday night to Evansville's undefeated frosh squad 74-70.

The Salukis, who now own a 7-5 record, pulled into an early lead in the game and took a three-point advantage into the dressing room, but some sharp shooting by the seniors Rex Morgan pulled Evansville out in the final moments.

Morgan scored 25 points on the night and pulled down 11 rebounds. Evansville's other big gun was Larry Holmes, who grabbed 15 rebounds and scored 18 points.

Three of these four standards are presently held by Walt Frazier. Butchko also has an outside shot at the total rebound record. The freshmen's remaining three games are against Bradley, Kentucky Wesleyan and St. Louis University.

Southern plays Bradley's freshmen tonight at 8 in the Arena. Admission price is 25 cents for students and 51 for adults.

Bradley carried a 7-3 into Wednesday night's game against Cincinnati. The Braves have defeated St. Louis, which took the measure of the Saluki freshmen earlier, and Drake, among others. They have lost to Canton Junior College 77-76, Illinois Valley Junior College 74-68 and Kaskaskia Junior College.

Hartzog Rates Team 3rd
For Central Collegiate

Six But Not Southern

Harttng believes that the best team and Western Michigan University will be the two teams to beat. He rates the Salukis as a good bet to place third.

A look at the 400-yard dash, Al Ackman in the 800-yard run, Jeff Alcindor Slips to 4th

NEW YORK (AP) UCLA's Lew Alcindor isn't shooting often, but he's shooting accurately.

Alcindor took only 20 shots in two games last week and topped 54th place in the college basketball's scoring race. But he hit 15 of them and remains on top in the field goal accuracy department.

According to statistics released Tuesday by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, the 7-foot-1 star is averaging 28.2 points a game, which puts him behind Mal Graggs of New York U, Jim Walker of Providence and Houston's Elvin Hayes, which begins Mon. 9. It is not known when the final announcements will be made, since officials must await several conference races. They invite several conference runners-up annually. Although there was no word, Athletic Director Donald N. Boydston said that he felt fairly optimistic about the situation. He said that he hoped to know of any decisions by today and felt that this would probably be the case.

At the Arena, most people are staying close to a phone or someone likely to be a source of information. The Salukis will not go to the NCAA College Division, because of having their bid withdrawn.

The marbles are all in the back now and the draw is controlled by a group of men in New York City. With them rests Southern's post season basketball aspirations for 1967.

South Carolina, Dayton, Loyola, Detroit and DePaul.

The NIT will name eight

The Central Collegiate Conference is made up of Bowling Green, Central Michigan, De Paul, Drake, Kent State, Kentucky State, Loyola, Marquette, Michigan State, Notre Dame, Wayne State, Western Michigan, Wheaton and SIU.

The other entries for the Salukis in this meet include: Coney and Davignon, 2-mile dash and 300-yard dash; Frank Whitman, 31-yard high and low hurdles; Dale Gardner, 106-yard run; Dave Chisholm, 2-mile run; Ray Ghins and Rick Ellison, pole vault; Joe Janczak, high jump; and Ralph Galloway, shot put.

The freshman mile relay team of Mal Kapner, Rich Campbell and Tiel Jeffries will also compete. Freshman Hatch Holman and Gordon Raines are entered in the mile. They will not compete for team points.
