Freeze Causes 29 Accidents

Twenty-nine accidents in Southern Illinois were reported between 4 p.m. and midnight Sunday, a State Police spokesman from DuQuoin said Monday. Only one fatality was reported.

Among the numerous accidents reported was a one-car accident near Vienna involving three SIU students and an adult sponsor returning from a Baptist Student Union meeting in Louisville, Kentucky.

Injured were Merrill Litherland, driver of the auto, Rita Samford, Lydia Hom and Mrs. Lora Blackwell, director of the SIU Baptist Student Union.

All four were reported in good condition at Marion Memorial Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

The Merrill auto was one of six returning from the Louisville meeting. One other car in the group was detained by the icy roads.

In Jackson County 11 accidents were reported for the hazardous driving period. Only one accident resulted in severe injuries although 12 to 14 persons were treated for injuries in the area, state police said.

Killed at 3:50 p.m. on Ill. 134 at Kil伊利ville was Tharin E. Manier, 35, of Freeport. A passenger in the car was reported to be in critical condition at an El Paso hospital. He is Robert P. Harbison, 34, of Zeigler. Willie C. Jones, 27, of East St. Louis, was reported seriously injured in a one-car accident on Illinois 3, two miles north of the Illinois 149 intersection.

Many off-duty state police officers were called to assist in the icy dilemma, the officer said.

Roy Meyer, assistant maintenance engineer for the Illinois Division of Highways, said 120 state trucks were called into operation in the southern 14 counties of the state Sunday afternoon and night.

Meyer said that the entire area was iced severely, salt spreading began early Sunday afternoon and two shifts worked through the night and Monday morning trying to correct the hazardous conditions, he said.

In Carbondale only one collision was reported, said Fred V. Zimmerman of the police (Continued on Page 6)

Primary Election Scheduled Today For Carbondale

A last-minute flourish of advertising and campaigning heralded the opening of polls today for the city primary election. Citizens may vote from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. today at all polling places in the wards. (See map on page 10.)

Voters are invited to cast their ballots for one candidate for mayor and no more than four for City Council high on the ticket. The candidates are divided 10 in the one-party primary election.

There are four candidates for mayor and nine for Council. Mayor D. Blaney Miller is getting his first full opposition in eight years—David Keene, Thomas North and James Groves.

Miller, backed along with four candidates for Council by the Citizens of Carbondale for action, is running for office in Carbondale with town with home mailings, newspaper advertising, posters, and radio announcements.

Keene, supported by Citizens for Keene, Kirk and Nelson, has filed an organization which has placed similar advertising. Keene is running independently and appeals on grounds of his non-affiliation.

Groves is emphasizing lifelong residence in Carbondale, and was elected to the City Council in 1966. He includes incumbents Gene Rampey and Joe Bagatelle, and Lloyd Schoen and Archie Jones, all elected by the Progress group. Groves is sponsored by Frank Kirk and Randall Nelson, running on the Citizens ticket.

Volunteers do not have to be registered to vote today but must certify they meet residence requirements by signing an affidavit. Requirements are read in the state law of the year, the county 90 days and the ward 30 days. Voters may not be registered in another city.

Gardner reports for today predict generally fine weather with temperatures in the 40's. The polling places:

Newspaper, Printers Bargaining Intensified

Printers and Lindsay-Schaub newspaper officials seem to be closer on reaching a settlement of a Southern Illinoisan strike today after several previous sessions in negotiating sessions held Friday afternoon and night.

A federal negotiator has announced a bargaining session for 1:30 p.m. Thursday. Points still at issue include the scale of beginning contract and wording of a "halo clause."

John Gaedler, editor-general manager of the Southern Illinoisan, said the printers' union is seeking a wage increase of 22 cents each of the three years and Lindsay-Schaub, Inc., which owns the newspaper, has offered a package of increases of 14 cents, 12 cents and 17 cents in the three years.

The printers, members of the Screen Printers Local 11 Typographical Union, want the three-year contract to be effective Nov. 1, 1966, the date the strike began. Lindsay-Schaub feels that the contract be effective immediately.

Gardner said he was "very encouraged about progress." newspaper officials are voicing hope for a three-year contract and holiday pay.

"I'm a little disappointed," said Elam Duncan, secretary of the ITU local, declined comments on Friday's sessions or the status of negotiations.

'Gap' Part of Johnson Image

As much a part of Lyndon B. Johnson as his shadow is his credibility gap.

Since his election in 1964, he has used, misused, and abused his position as chief public relations man for the U.S. and has created an enormous chasm between the worlds of the man and the deeds of the office.

Rude Kids

Spoil Show

While hissing to agree with Joyce Webb and Ralph Buchhe, who deplored the replacement of Tinkertville with pixies in Janer Daily Egyptian Feb. 21, 1967, I feel compelled to add another complaint about the audience.

I attended one of the matin­

ne performances for our school and never was there a more cynical gathering of play-watching. It was bad enough when they were confused about the meaning of the phrase, "You silly ass!" But, horror of horrors, when we were asked to help revive the pained Tinkertville (the audience wasn't asked to clap as it should have been, but we clapped anyway), the children actually bood! It may be presumed that rage, rather than faith, restored life to the soprano who was singing the "Hallelujah Chorus." Where were the parents of those ill-mannered kids when it was time to stimulate their imaginations and round out their education in the realities of fantasy?

Trailer Court Advantages

I read today's Daily Egyptian article by Mike Nauer which reported on Johnson, manager of the University City dorms, saying that he feels that dorms are at a competitive disadvantage because students are moving to trailer courts outside walking distance from the University so that they may have motor vehicles.

Students are moving into mobile homes because they are less expensive and better houses, arguments the Times and better studying conditions.

My mobile home court directly adjacent to University City dorms is completely filled. This mobile home court is within walking distance and motor vehicles are not permitted here as in many of the dorms in the City.

Reason students have to have vehicles is due to the fact that most of the land made available for mobile home parks by the City and County was located outside the City and the students need transportation in and around the campus as well as take care of normal personal needs.

Reminders of all kinds are due to have to give a better service at a lower cost to attract the students, but fence­ scrawling will not solve anything.

Peiping Openly Admits China's Fierce Struggle

(China Post) (Taipei, December 1)

Peiping has openly admitted that the power struggle between Mao Tse-tung and the "anti-Maoist faction in power" has plunged Communist China into anarchy and touched off an all-out anti-Communist movement across the land.

Official sources in Peiping reported that the Peiping regime has also called for the establishment of a "provisional supreme committee" to prevent the "power struggle" from affecting agricultural and industrial production.

The so-called "revolutionary faction" of the Mao-Lin group has turned from pro-Mao to anti-Mao in an effort to grasp the political power in a number of localities.

The anti-Mao elements are joining hands with the anti-Communist forces on the mainland in launching attacks against the Mao-Lin groups. In some areas, "counter-revolutionary" factionalists have Rosenberg, in her role as a regent,

As a regent he has one vote. As governor he is constitutionally excluded from attempting to manage the university. As governor he cannot order the university to charge tuition fees or tell the regents how they are to allocate the funds at their disposal.

The people of California are entitled to say whether or not they want a great university. The issue is one of priorities, Gov. Reagan says, and it is not worth the amount spent on the university to prevent the "power struggle" from affecting agricultural and industrial production.

"The Red Flag" magazine, in an article published in the latest issue, stated that the Peiping regime had also called for the establishment of a "provisional supreme committee" to prevent the "power struggle" from affecting agricultural and industrial production.

A cinder spreader was put into operation on campus from 6 to 10 p.m., Sunday, Widlows said. Despite efforts by city and campus crews, accidents did occur. Gary Camp, a freshman from Eldorado, suffered a broken leg when he fell at 10:25 a.m., Monday, in an alley behind Sel F. College Ave., Camp was taken to Doctor's Hospital by the Carbondale emergency truck, where he was reported in good condition.

Carbondale's highway post-office arrived two hours late Monday morning after its mail run. Young, assistant superintendent of the post office, said Young said the driver of the highway postal truck reported "100 miles an hour." "St. Louis buses cancelled their runs Sunday and all other buses were from one to two hours late," J. H. Johnson, agent for the Carbondale, said Monday. Postes returned to normal schedule again Monday, he said.

About the only public service facilities not reporting some sort of difficulty due to the ice were the Illinois Central Railroad, Central Illinois Public Service Co., and General Telephone Co.

Grant Collection Purchased

A collection of approximately 300 books, pamphlets, photographs and other items relating to Ulysses S. Grant, Civil War general and 18th president of the United States, has been purchased by the Morris Library.

"This acquisition, from a Grant collector in Winthrop Harbor, III., will support the University's project for the editing and publishing of Grant's work," Ralph E. McCoy, director of libraries, explained.

SIU is now the headquarters for the Grant Association. Publication of the Grant papers, edited by John Y. Simon, executive secretary of the association and SIU associate professor of history, is underway at the University Press, with the first of the 15-volume work scheduled for release in April.

Programming Board Assumes Responsibility for Planning

By Patrick McKoon

Cultural, educational, recreational and special events for the SIU students are the objectives of the Activities Programming Board, formally the University Center Programming Board.

Previously, the board planned events strictly for the University Center, according to James Cavitt, board president.

"Now the board assumes a bigger role in the University. It schedules off-campus events like Probe, Inscap, International Night, record and band dances at the Center, and Cafe Nights," Cavitt said.

It has an office in the University Center and a $4,000 budget increase.

"Eventually, this board will be the sole source of programming for the campus," Cavitt said.

International Night is one of the biggest events scheduled by the board. Held in the Center, it caters to 21 student groups representing 20 foreign countries and the United States.

Each group puts on a short act such as a judo exhibition or folk dance, which is native to its country.

Darrell Colford, head of the communications committee, said, "The board's new objective is to set up communications between this board and off-campus boards in order to coordinate the activities so we can have a better and more unified program."

"We experimented with this last summer and it worked extremely well," said Colford.

Cavitt added, "we tried to keep the program going into the fall, but too much confusion persisted to keep it up."

"As the school grows, the activities board will grow," said Cavitt, "but we need more people to do the job. If we don't get more help, the board can't function to its fullest extent."

A number of false impressions about working for the board have been noted, Cavitt said. "You don't have to be a Greek or a big-man-on-campus to work for the board."

Travelog Film Slated

"The World and Why," a flight travelog of Korea and the Philippines, conducted by Father Lambert Paison, Walter Drone and Carlos Metrano, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Newman Center Lounge. Everyone is invited.
LBJ Says U.S. Still Aiming for Viet Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said Monday the United States has gained in its aim for a more far-reaching victory in Vietnam, and he charged that the North Vietnamese have had "the greatest possible success in the past month." He interpreted this as moving away from hopes of peace.

In the aftermath of naval shelling of ground targets in North Vietnam, the mining of rivers and the use of long-range artillery against targets north of the demilitarized zone, Johnson told a news conference he is pursuing the course best calculated to lead to peace.

At a question-and-answer session in his office devoted mainly to the conflict in Vietnam, he was asked whether the more far-reaching steps over the weekend were taken because bombing has failed to halt infiltration from North Vietnam. He said he thinks it is impossible to state with any great precision how many individuals were in South Vietnam because we did bomb or didn't bomb during some period.

He added that "generally speaking, we feel that it has been done that things that we expected it to do," but no one ever expected bombing would stop infiltration—except those who want the United States to stop it.

"We do think," the President went on, "that there are hundreds of thousands of people who are busy trying to put the bridges back and the railroad ties back and the other things back. We would estimate that to have lost less than 500 men in our bombing experiences. Probably we have lost a billion dollars in planes."

"We thought that we could make them pay a rather heavy price in manpower. They may have 100,000 busy on air defenses. They may have 100,000 or so busy on coastal defense. I don't want to be held to these figures. Some have estimated as many as 300,000 additional on roads, rails and those other things," he said.

"If they weren't doing that, they would be down there with some of your consuls and brothers doing other things or bringing in other things." From their own voices and their sympathizers and friends, Johnson said, there are good indications the North Vietnamese would like to see the bombing stopped. He said he thinks the proof of the pudding is in their own statements on a bombing halt.

The new tactics in the war, especially the mining of North Vietnamese rivers, drew praise from Rep. Mendenhall House, D-SC, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

He said in a statement: "It's about this time action was taken, literally. I urge this administration to mine the harbor at Haiphong so that this war can be brought to a successful conclusion." On the Senate side, the Democratic majority leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, told reporters "this is escalation"—something Mansfield has been opposing. The Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, took this view:

"Military decisions are for military men to undertake. They've got a war to fight to a successful conclusion," Johnson declined to accept any definition of the latest strikes against the North as a stepping up of the war. There was no use of the word "escalation." Rather, he said, it is more far-reaching action than has been undertaken in the past few weeks.

High Court Rejects Hoffa's Bid to Avoid Jail Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court turned down Monday motions by Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa to stay out of jail but his lawyers were back in court within minutes with a new effort.

Counsel for the Teamsters' boss asked Justice Potter Stewart to hold up the judgment of the high court without comment, pending a new trial in the Chicago court.

They said they will "fight everything" if a move is made to begin a new trial in the Chicago court, based on the court's decision declaring the claimings against the jurors may have been a matter for the appeal to the high court.

In another move to keep Hoffa out of jail at least temporarily, they also asked Justice Stewart to hold up the judgment pending lower court rulings on other legal challenges to Hoffa's 1964 conviction.

The two pleas rejected by the high court without comment were based on claims of widespread government eavesdropping at Hoffa's federal jury-jamming trial.

Powell Awaiting Senate Showdown On Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell and his attorneys are trying hard to avoid rocking the boat in advance of Wednesday's House showdown on the proposed bill to recast the controversial New York Democrat with a still-conscious and a $48,000 fine.

As part of this strategy, Powell probably will not be present Wednesday, one of his lawyers said Monday.

They are afraid that any statement from Powell criticizing the House or any of its members might tip a delicate balance and result in a vote to expel him, rather than to accept the House's findings and fine him.

As Associated Press check showed Monday, several House leaders believe the House will go along with the seat-ban-header proposal, but only after a fight by local opponents and possibly by a relatively close margin.

Peoria Much at Ease at Trial; Probe for Jurors Continues

PEORIA (AP)—The unfamiliar sound of laughter was heard Monday at the trial of Richard Speck on charges of murdering eight student nurses.

A ppearing, grey-haired potential juror volunteered his services to the jury and the trial required listening to both sides.

"I have to have both sides, mister," he said. "I'm married."

His sally drew a laugh from the people in the Circuit Courtroom.

Then, discounting the possibility that the trial may be lengthened, he said the prospect was a decorated lawyer.

"I'm not going anywhere anyway," he said.

Gerald W. Getty, Cook County public defender who represents Speck, learned that the prospect was a decorated lawyer by trade. He asked if he had decorated Peoria's Courthouse.

"I sure did," he replied. "You did a good job." Getty complimented.

Getty assumed that the prospect had worked on Peoria's new showroom Courthouse.

It turned out that he used the artistic talents on his predecessor building. Speck, a 22-year-old wanderer accused of slaying the victims one at a time in their downtown apartment on Chicago's South Side July 14, 1966, seemed much at ease as the trial started second week. He wore the same dark suit and dark tie with a white shirt. His black shoes were not polished.

Another plank of prospective jurors, the fourth, was brought in Monday. Getty and William J. Martin, 30-year-old police officer, probed and maneuvered in the effort of each to get a jury to his liking.

The trial moved to premises the guarantee of freedom of speech and press.

"No one questions the rights of an individual judge to make provisions which may be necessary to insure an orderly and fair trial, but these provisions should not run contrary to the first amendment," Getty said.

The newspapers asked the Supreme Court for permission to report all that transpires in open court.

Rockford Papers Join Effort To Modify Speck Trial Rules

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Certain restraining orders issued by Judge Herbert C. Paschen regarding news coverage of the Richard Speck murder trial were declared "unnecessary and unconstitutional." Monday by the Rockford Register-Republic.

The corporation, which publishes the Rockford Morning Star and Rockford Register Republic, joined the Chicago Tribune in asking the Illinois Supreme Court to prohibit Paschen from enforcing certain orders.

Paschen is presiding over the murder trial of Speck, who is accused of slaying eight student nurses in Chicago last summer. Paschen has been ordered by the court to answer the Tribune's complaint today.

Rockford Newspapers Inc. said Paschen's order prohibiting sketches or drawings within the court house, and a claim that testimony by a paid government informer should have been excluded.

Thus the court refused to reconsider its Dec. 12 decision upholding Hoffa's jury tampering conviction, eight-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine. The ruling continued a brief order, without comment, it was noted that Justice Byron R. White and Abe Fortas did not participate.

The ruling, presumably cleared the way for jailing of the head of the L7 million-member union-possibly in less than a month.

17 People Rescued From Burning Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven crew members of the German freighter Caldas were pulled from the Atlantic midoce after abandoning the burning ship. The Coast Guard reported an unknown number of men are believed still on board the vessel.

No record of injuries were received, but the Coast Guard noted that the Caldas usually sailed with a 22-man crew.

Stage Crew Gains No Fame

Backstage Performers Remain Unnoticed

By Lee Cohen

Out in front of the footlights the performers dazzle the audience... but behind the curtains there are those who perform under different lights.

The stage crew—often ignored, often understated—suffices the glamorous life of "show biz" to put together a theatrical spectacle.

One veteran stage crewman is Bill Padgett, an SIU theater major, who has worked "behind-the-scenes" on almost every show in the University's glee and stage programs and on many of the University Conventions programs.

The audience sees only the final effect of the show. I get a certain satisfaction out of seeing all aspects of the production," Padgett said.

The operation and organization of scenery, costumes, lighting, and makeup are just some of the duties that the stage crew is responsible for.

The crew is made up almost entirely of students. This enables interested students to gain experience working with professionals. Often touring companies will bring along their own stage managers to supervise the student crews.

Is there a different atmosphere backstage when working on different types of shows? Padgett says no. There is a constant hectic pace, no matter whether the show is a serious drama or a musical comedy.

"There are, however, some light moments," he continued.

When the Martha Graham ballet dancers appeared on the stage of Shryock Auditorium, the stage crew was behind the curtain imitating the dancers' movements.

Working on stage crews can be a hazardous occupation. Padgett added, "It's pretty common to have a few toes smashed and a couple of legs fractured during the two or three performances."

When the Broadway musical "H.M.S. PINAFORE" played at SIU, an onstage ramp was set up so that a bicycle could be ridden on the stage. The bicycle was ridden successfully over the ramp from a skateboarder's fingers.

Style Show Planned For Beta Sigma Phi

The Beta Xi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, an international social and cultural sorority, will sponsor a luncheon style show at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Union Center billiard room.

The proceeds from the show will be applied to a scholarship for an SIU student.

The chapter, which consists of Carbondale women, also has a loan fund for disabled women students at the University.

Kerner Names Buren Robbins

To Telecommunications Group

Buren C. Robbins, associate professor and director of SIU’s Broadcasting Services, has been appointed by Gov. Otto Kerner to the newly formed Illinois Telecommunications Committee.

The committee will study the potential use of educational television throughout the state and how such uses can best be motivated efficiently and economically.

Gov. Kerner said, “Another subject of attention will be the potential expansion of library resources through telecommunications. Many authorities consider this a primary challenge for education today in such areas as information storage and retrieval encompassing city, state and university libraries.”

The committee will also investigate the use of telecommunications systems for state agencies and other institutions interested in computerized data retrieval.

Gov. Kerner said that educational television offers an opportunity for many adults to continue their education. In May, he said, “new knowledge is developing at such a rate that reeducation is required for persons who finished their formal schooling years ago.”

Fifty Attend Draft Conference

About 50 students attended Saturday’s conference on the draft system, according to the Rev. Malcolm Gillespie, chaplain of the Selective Service System and Jack Hanley, chairman of the Jackson County Board of Selective Service.

Gillespie spoke on the “Religious Basis of Conscientious Objection.”

INTERVIEWS—WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1967

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY DEPARTMENT OF MATH: Colloquium at 4:30 p.m. in the Science Library. The topic will be "The completeness of the real numbers."
The Saluki indoor track team finished just where Coach Lew Hartog said it would, but in the process Oscar Moore broke another record.

The Salukis finished third in the Central Collegiate Conference meet Saturday behind Notre Dame and Western Michigan. The Salukis had 34 points in 75 for the Irish and 75 1/2 for Western Michigan.

Moore broke the record in the 3-mile run at the Notre Dame fieldhouse. He ran the event in 8:49.9 to set a new conference and fieldhouse standard. He also finished first in the mile run with a time of 4:07.2.

Mitch Livingston tied the conference record in the high jump with a leap of 6-8 1/2 which was good for first. Livingston's leap tied the old mark which was set by Alonzo Littlejohn of Western Michigan in 1963.

Boots Mackenzie won the 400-yard dash with a time of 49.1.

The Salukis also had two second place finishers. Al Ackman finished second in the 880-yard run with a 1:32.4 and Jeff Dooven was second in the 1,000-yard run with a 2:11.1. Both events were won by Pete Forrest of Notre Dame.

Ian Sharpe was fourth in the long jump. He jumped 22 10 1/2. Aaron Hopkins of Toledo won the long jump with a jump of 25-7.

John Quillen was fifth for the Salukis in the 60-yard dash with a time of .06.4. The mile relay team finished third just one second off the pace.

Freshman Mark Stands at 9-5

SR's freshman basketball team scored a pair of impressive victories last weekend, upping the Salukis' record to 9-5. Friday night the Salukis handed Bradley's fresh a 10-9 74 thrashing.

Bruce Butchko's 27 points was high for both clubs. Butchko's weekend scoring spree gave him a new SRI Trich-hum scoring record.

Six men in double figures for the Salukis, they were: Bob Barbour with 15, Turley Hesborn, Mills Dixon and Charlie Hughes with 12 each and Ken Grooms with 11 points. The Salukis also served up more than 10 points to the floor.

Southern piled up a 51-26 first half lead on the Braves and the victorious played much of the time in the lead. Bradley was led by guard Bill Oak of which for all 21 points.

Butchko chipped in with 23 points, Saturday in a 75-46 victory over Kentucky Wesleyan. The Salukis hung a 10-11 lead at half time and led by 13 at the end. They outscored Wesleyan 25-16 in the second half. Bill Stepp had 13 points to finish runner-up to Butchko's 23.

Dave Irvin paced the Panthers with 16 points, SR after for a 16-24 lead to the Panthers,' 142 rating.

Moore Finishes First in Mile, 2-Mile Events

The Salukis next meet will be the NCAA indoor championships in Detroit, Mich., March 10-11. Moore will compete in the National AAU meet this weekend in Oakland, Calif. George Woods, ex-Saluki star, will join Moore in the AAU meet.
Basketball Tournament
Will End Thursday

The winners of the semifinal round in the intramural basketball tournament will meet at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the arena to decide the championship of the 1967 intramural season.

In quarterfinal action held last week the transfers crowned the Salukis, 63-53, Kappa Alpha Psi (A) dumped the Pierce Panthers, 64-49, and Draft Dodgers edged the Mummies, 63-58, and beat Stokes Raiders, 70-50.

Today's the last day in February; March and spring break are just around the corner. The days are getting longer and winter will inevitably fall to the approach of spring. For some, Florida will beckon soon, and there's Easter, spring quarter, and a whole new season ahead. What will students be wearing? Let's take a look inside...
SIU Knocks Off Wesleyan

By Tom Wood

"We're No. 1!" That's the cry that reached a deafening and delirious crescendo after 17 minutes and 7 seconds of basketball action between top-ranked SIU and second-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan Saturday night.

The chant was prompted by Walt Frazier's dexterous steal and basket, which squelched the Panthers' opportunity to pull into a tie at SIU ranked basketball action between top-17 minutes and 7 seconds of SIU won 52-51. 10 seconds. The final was 51-46.

Frazier followed the layup with a free throw and another driving layup and free throw to give the Salukis a 50-42 lead with 2:10 left. The final was 51-46.

Strong was enlightening no one when after the game he told a press gathering that the Salukis were the best team his Panthers had played and "they will make an excellent representative of the College Division in the National Invitation Tournaments." He expressed some surprise and disturbance that his players "lost their poise." But the Panthers were not the first by any means to crack under the pressure of Southern's strangle game to tie the score as strong as any major college team in the country.

During the first half the lead exchanged hands five times. The Salukis moved into a 27-23 halftime margin as sophomore center Chuck Benskin dunked a rebound over the outstretched arms of three Panthers and Dick Garrett sank one of two technical foul shots.

The Panthers scored the first three points after the interruption, but Garrett, who was the scoring leader for the night with 22 points, added three straight Saluki points. Big Sam Smith laid in a rebound for the Panthers and Dallas Thornton threw in a long jumper to make the score 33-30. Southwestern's 92 points, only five Salukis scored. The game was true of Kentucky Wesleyan.

Southwest Missouri scrambled for a tie in the first and a 23-22 regular season, Wednesday's game will be a re-match between the Bears and the Panthers should they meet in the National Tournament. The Bears, their Jan. 14 game was won by SIU 50-49.

NETS COME DOWN FOR No. 1 -- The cutting down of the nets is a basketball tradition, particularly after a game as important as Saturday's SIU-Kentucky Wesleyan contest. The Salukis won 52-46 over the second-ranked Panthers, to help answer any questions as to who is No. 1 in the NCAA's College Division.

MEET THE CHAMP!
Top Civilian Overseas Booker for 1966

DAVID KEENE

David Keene, President, Keene Transfer and Storage Company of Carbondale, Illinois, is indeed the "title-holder", with a record 99 orders in 1966. How did he do it? Here's how Dave explained it.

"A couple of years ago when I booked my first few overseas shipments, I sent them through a St. Louis freight forwarder. Unfortunately, I found our shippers had a terrible time locating their shipments at the overseas dock. So I decided to switch to United and have used them ever since. And, believe me, the service has been fantastic. This, of course, is the key to securing foreign business--GOOD SERVICE!"

Men's Vests Again Popular With Collegiates

In earlier decades of this century, the smartly attired man-about-town was not seen outside his door without his trimly tailored, tightly buttoned vest.

Then followed the period when the under-suiting was not only out but far out. But today the vests are once again on the market and are very much a part of the collegiate wardrobe.

Many full dress traditional suits and sport coat outfits are equipped with a coordinating vest that can be constructed out of matching material or accented with a variety of sweater-vests.

Zwick & Goldsmiths, a Carbondale men's store, state that vested suits are fairly popular for fall and winter. "For the past three or four years the vest has been a popular part of the traditional or what used to be called the ivy league look," a representative of Zwick & Goldsmiths said.

A lambs wool pull-over sweater-vest is increasing in popularity, according to a representative of Gold's Men's Store. These sleeveless sweaters which come in a variety of accenting colors are worn under a suit or sports coat.

A representative of Squire Shop said that the revival of vests a few years ago was overdone. He said they are now being rejuvenated and are coming on strong in the traditional styles.

A popular new styled suit called the fraternity suit, features a matching vest.

Sportsy Girls To Shoot for African Look

The African influence is likely to have a great impact on women's sportswear this spring as more and more casual wear is seen around campus.

This is the latest word from Thelma H. Berry, associate professor in the Department of Clothing and Textiles, and four students majoring in merchandising.

"People today are interested in more fit and less clothing," Mrs. Berry said. "They seem to seek casualness in living, more informality, perhaps toward the primitive in living."

"The African inspiration is in everything," said Clare Drewniak, 21, who is a junior. "The bright pastel colors, and the abstract, checked and flowery patterns in material suggest this influence."

The primitive influence is evident in the type of cloth used this spring. "Initiate the fitting problem," said Mrs. Berry. "Soft textures will be popular."

The use of permanent press materials was predicted to be popular by Linda Fierke, 21, who is a junior.

Miss Fierke said there would be a lot of cut-outs in sportswear this spring because of the primitive influence. She said sleeveless blouses would be even more sleeveless, and the center bodice may be cut out.

To aid the desire for closely fitted clothing, more belts will be worn, said Mary Ann Hull, 20, who is a junior.

Ann Gerard, a 23-year-old senior, predicted that more and more pants suits would be seen this spring.

Commenting on the long-range trend of sportswear toward brevity, Mrs. Berry said perhaps it was due to the desire of people for amusement or something different; or perhaps because of the desire of people for casual living.

Brief Bikini Leads Swimsuit Parade; One-Piece Returns

The very brief bikini has taken the lead in this year's swimwear fashions but the one-piece bathing suit has also staged a notable return on the fashion scene.

The one-piece suit, with the sides and back deeply cut out in contrast to a demure high front, is sometimes even briefer than the bikini.

These bold and provocative ideas of bareness in swim wear are emphasized by tropically bright colors or silver. Splashes, swirls and stripes have been modified by bright yellow, Christmas green, turquoise and Bristol blue decorate the startling new fashions. This year's designs have the new label of Kinetic for the energy seeming from the bright abstracts and crazy geometrics of color. Vivid African, wild Moroccan, neo-op or giant floral patterns light up the new beach wear.

Cotton is the most popular fabric of swim suit manufacturers this year but nylon knit is also good.

The new suits are often matched with loose fitting cover-ups in transparent material and imaginative headdresses or wild wigs.

Mild Winters Cut Topcoat Demand in Area Stores

Jerry F. Barger, manager of Zwick & Goldsmith clothing store, said topcoats and raincoats have a very weak and limited market in the Carbondale area.

He said, "Clothing markets are largely determined by their geographic locations. Chicago, for instance, will sell a lot of topcoats because of bad winters there, but Carbondale will rarely stock topcoats because of our mild winters."

"Students prefer the 'all-weather coat' which is a modified topcoat with the option of a zip-in-lining. These coats are very warm and can be worn in all kinds of weather," Barger said.

The all-weather coat is primarily made of two fabrics, dacron and cotton. Barger added, "But the cotton coats are usually of higher quality and therefore cost more. Popular colors are tan and dark blue."

Solid-Color Men's Socks Still Popular

The traditional solid colors will remain the style in socks this spring.

Onion and nylon blends seem to be the most popular among the traditional dresser, whereas nylon expands to be more popular among the older men.

According to one of the leading men's stores in town, the ribbed style is the most popular. These come in ankle, mid-calf and over-the-calf lengths.

When one of the students on campus was asked what kind of socks he would wear in spring, he replied, "Who wears socks?"

Like '22 Skidoo' Man

Male Headwear Still 'Old Hat'

If there is one item of men's clothing which is absent from the college fashion scene it is the hat.

A batted male student is scarce on U.S. campuses—and at SIU—as a raccoonskin coat wearer wearing a pennant with "22 Skidoo" written on it. To put it any other way, hats are "out."

The decline of the hat's popularity among campus males has been under way for several years, with the "no-hat" policy of the late President John F. Kennedy doing more than its share to discourage hat-wearing among students.

Curiously enough, University professors over 50 years old seem to prefer a hat to the wind-blown, tousled hair look. This might be due to the fact that there is little for the wind to blow about in the majority of such cases. The occasional hat wearer at SIU in one who prefers a narrow brim and a pinched crown. One such individual encountered in the University Center, gave the following reply when asked why he wears a hat: "Man, I just wear it to keep my head warm."

Insofar as particular styles are concerned, the Tyrolean and Oktoberfest hats—complete with feathers—are seen about campus from time to time. In addition, the British "mod" and the French beret are also encountered, but far more infrequently than their Italian and German rivals in the millinery trade. Spring styles include bulky-straw types with light, egg-shell colors.

Unlike the derby or bowler at England's Oxford University, hats are simply unpopular around the SIU campus. Even the Nazi storm trooper "coal black" helmet, so popular with the "1%", is a very, very scarce commodity in Carbondale.

Young Boys, Girls to Don Newer, Brighter Color

Spring will be colorful for children this year, as fashions become brighter.

Clothes-conscious children and their parents will find a wide variety of colors and styles available in new spring fashions. Four area stores are offering a wide selection of clothes for children to choose from.

Girls will choose from an array of colors this spring. Panel shades such as orchid and yellow are always in style for younger girls, while African prints, shrimp pinks, and shades of celery green will brighten all spring wardrobes. Citrus orange, bright blues, and coordinated clothes in all colors will add a touch of spring color.

The spring styles for girls are just as varied as the colors. Due to an early Easter, and the resultant heavier fabrics, many spring clothes have a tailored look. Coat dresses, a dress covered by a matching coat, pants suits, and coordinated clothes will play an important part in every young girl's wardrobe. Shifts, coat dresses, and low belted dresses remain popular, and mini skirts, high-necked blouses, and swing skirts, low belted with a flared skirt, are equally in style.

Boys' fashions are not to be outdone by the girls. An abundance of plastics, in shirts, pants, and sport coats will appear this spring. Pattern shirts, and hip huggers, and sweats accented with a wide belt have remained a part of many wardrobes. Clothes will be brighter this year, as shades of blue, gold and green are seen in oranges appear in casual boys will be looking more like browns replace the pastel sports coats, and yellow and shirts. Women’s shoes this spring seem to be copying shoe fads of many years ago. Fashion trends in shoes for spring and summer lean toward lower and fatter heels, more broad, round and squared shaped toes, and open shoes, according to Ivan N. Zwick, of Zwick’s Shoe Store.

The high-heeled dress shoes are in the past and the vogue this spring will be medium to one inch heels. The trend in casual shoes is away from canvas shoes to primitive open leather and straw sandals.

Loafers are replacing flats in popularity, and sling-back heels in loafer, flat and dress shoes are replacing the closed heel.

Big buckles or bows will grace the toes much like the shoes worn by 18th century Americans. These shoes will “more or less represent the status look,” said Zwick. Colors for spring range the spectrum with bone, black, orange and turquoise leading in popularity.

Fabrics, Not Styles Dominate In Men's Clothing for Spring

The fabric scene in men's clothing this spring presents nothing "realistically new" but rather an upsurge in the use of certain standards.

The big item is the cotton-base dura-press fabrics which are nearly surmounting the spring market, according to Jerry Barger, manager of Zwick's Men's Store.

Barger said that the mon­iron dacron-cotton and cotton-rayon materials are found mostly in shirts and slacks.

"The concern with sport coats is mostly in the look this spring rather than work-saving fabrics," he said.

Turning to weaves and patterns, the traditional look is big in spring sport coats with the solid textured look foremost along with Glen plaids and herringbones, Barger said.

Plaids on textured weaves materials are dominant in men's shirts for spring with lightweight hosiery and poplin in the big items in slacks, Barger added.

"The madras pattern is not going to be a big fashion item this year," he said.

In footwear Barger said vinyl plastic is a new material to be used extensively in spring and summer. He said that it is a soft, pliable material that is easily cared for in wet weather.

Spring clothing is now be­coming the center of attention in Carbondale's men's stores as numerous sales reduce the winter clothing stock.

Paisley Print Hats Deemed 'In' Style For College Men

Ever since the late-President Kennedy made his official debut without a hat to top-off his attire, hats have faded from the men's fashion scene, said James Cash, senior.

Cash, a major in textile merchandising, predicts what the fashion for men's hats will be this coming spring.

Hats of paisley prints and light weight fabrics for beach-wear are the only hats which will be "in" with the college set this spring, Cash said.

This is because hats have lost their popularity among college men who have placed a relatively new and greater emphasis upon their hair­styles, Cash explained.

According to Gene Palich, owner-manager of 'Joe's' clothing store for men in Car­bondale, poplin, cotton, nylon and dacron hats for casual wear will fit into the line of spring fashions for men.

But even these hats will sell in moderation, for hats have never been in style since the flat-topped, broad-brimmed, straw hats were popular in the late 1950's, Palich said.

The fur-felt hat manufac­turers produce only one-fifth the number of hats designed in 1919, reported "Men's Apparel," a fashion magazine for men, in support of Palich's statement.

As for the businesses, Palich concluded, the con­ventional center-creased and pinched-front felt hats will be the spring vogue.

The new look on campus, seen along with the mini-skirt, is the "fish net" hose. The "fish net" is a strictly sporty hose and has been such a spectacular success on campus that local dealers of women's apparel are amazed. "Fish net" hose came out for the first time last summer and were intended to be merely a summer item, Julius Kay, proprietor of Kay's Campus Shop, said the hose were popular on the East and West Coasts during the summer. But the fall was the most popular season for them in Carbondale.

At the retail meeting in New York held in January, hosiery mills stated that the "fish net" hose came out there were only three colors offered which were white, black and an off-white. The hose are now being made in as many as 10 to 12 different colors.

Another recent feature added to the hose is the over-the-knee style and the panty style. Although the sales of the "fish net" far from exceed the sales of the plain nylon dress hosiery, they have undoubtedly captured the sports wear hosiery market.

Mae Tucker, buyer for Bleyer's, said that the mini-skirt fad was probably a contributing factor to the popularity of the "fish net" hose which detracts from the bare looking leg. When 'fish net' hose first came out there were only three colors offered which were white, black and an off-white. The hose are now being made in as many as 10 to 12 different colors.

How High Is Up?

Mini-Skirts Go Up

Mini-skirts may not offer much in the amount of material to look at, but they have received plenty of attention in the world of fashion.

Coats, Chanel, French couturier (designer) for the musical of her life story soon to be produced, was reported by the Feb. 14 New York Times to have criticized the new trend.

She said designers today are making women look "grotesque." The clothes reveal too much of the woman's bodies and are not "sissy," she declared. "Yes-yes!" is a French phrase meaning so.

On the S.U. campus the mini-skirt has caused no revolutionary reaction. Most of the copies are sticking with the old-fashioned length in skirts, and the boys are still sticking with the coeds.

Mini-skirts, however, got a big boost from two popular movie stars recently. The Chicago Daily News reported that both Jane Mansfield and Raquel Welch made miniskirted appearances on Valentine's Day.

Jane Mansfield appeared last week at Saigon's airport wearing a silver mini-skirt to tour the military bases and night clubs, according to the Chicago paper. She reportedly commented, "I just want to make the boys happy and I can."

Miss Welch caused a sensation in Paris as spectators saw her get married to Patrick Curtis, her manager, in a "sleeveless" knitted fabric mini-dress, the paper reported.

All-Purpose Coat Still Deemed Best Fashion Buy

Women’s fashion buyers say this spring’s coats will range from the practical, all-purpose coat to the total-look of dressy fashions. Colors will brighten after a long winter of dark greens, blues, browns and greys, and lengths will conform to the short dress lengths.

Emphasis is on the all-purpose coat which can be worn for dress or sport, in rain or shine. These are water-repellent and occasionally have zip-out linings. They are straight coats with back belts and all pockets. The all-purpose coats are the most economical and will remain on the scene the longest of all.

Coat-dress ensembles will have 7/8 or 3/4 length coats to show the short skirts. These coats will be in solid colors to coordinate with lively print outfits.

"This is a season of color," said Mae Tucker, manager of Wig-Wearing Advantages Spark Sales

More and more women are wearing wigs which have become a necessity for women who rely on them for instant, perfect sets, instead of taking the time-consuming trip to the beautician.

A wig may make the new wearer feel conspicuous at first, but she soon feels it has become a part of her, and "It’s so easy to comb the hair back and don my wig," said one wearer.

Sandra Davis, stylist at a wig and toupee salon in East St. Louis, says women seem to "change their personality" when they don a wig. Most women want to look a little different and to look nice without the bother of fixing their hair, she said.

"I would not mind wearing a wig because they are so convenient," says Katie Hice, a freshman from Chicago, "but only if it were made of human hair and looked natural."

Most of the customers match up their hair color with wig, but many women buy another shade, reported Miss Davis. Buying a wig is cheaper in the long run than repeated dying or tinting and continued hair treatments can damage the hair, she said.

Women with short hair seem to buy short-haired wigs while young girls are buying long-haired wigs in go-go styles. Those with hair of intermediate length are buying wigs to show any buying pattern, said the beautician.

The price of wigs varies according to the length of the hair and construction. The prices at the East St. Louis salon begin at $49.95 for a semi-machined, semi-handmade wig and go to about $300 for the Rosalita Line, an all-hand made wig.

For those women who cannot stand to let their hair color alone, wigs can be darkened but they cannot be bleached. Washing wigs shrinks the cap, so they have to be dry cleaned periodically.

When not in use the wig is stored on a head form to preserve the shape. The wig can be sent to the beauty parlor alone and it can be carried where the owner wants in a wig case.

No Where for Hemlines to Go but Down, and they Did

Like other fashion trends, women's dresses have undergone a few drastic changes in 1967.

There wasn't anywhere for dress length to go but down, and that's where it has gone. The right length for 1967 is just above the knee-cap.

This however, does not include mid-calf dresses and sporty kilts. The short, short dress is still the appropriate "in" look for country and sports, but for town it's strictly taboo.

Dress colors for the year are soft pastels and monochrome navy. Dresses aren't jolted with big spurts of color anymore—they're just brightened with contrasting hues.

The style of the '67 dress has such a wide range that it could please almost any buyer. Pleats are the thing this year, be they big, little, or anywhere in between. Also in style are the free swinging swirls and whirls of the tunic dress. Completely contrasting the "unwaisted line" look of the sack dress is the return of the belted dress. This year's belt is not bone crushing though—it merely encircles the waist. It does, however, require a trim figure, and is expected to send low calorie food manufacturers into a state of chaos.

The "feel" of '67 includes such dress materials as suede with linen, silk or knit with gabardine, and crepe. The "feel" touch is what designers are serving for.
Jackets Serve As Pinchhitters In Coat Circuit

With the Carbondale weather performing unpredictably once again this winter, the student needs some versatile clothing.

Every athletic team can use someone who can come off the bench and get the job done. Likewise a wardrobe must include attire that can come out of the closet to meet unexpected weather extremes.

The informal jacket is the primary pinchhitter of the garment circuit. The lightweight jacket is an able replacement for the heavy coat on those balmy 60 degree winter days that occur so often in Carbondale. Which jackets are in style around campus.

The leading brands specialize in both heavy or lightweight jackets. During winter quarter the fur-lined, wind and water-repellent sportswear is often worn. Corduroy jackets are also quite popular this year. The drawback to these is the more expensive suede jackets are also being worn by SRU students. Hooded coats are helping to protect students from the winds.

One store is reporting a heavy sale of windbreakers. The start of spring quarter is generally the briskest season in windbreaker sales.

The drizzler is a popular windbreaker which is not bothered by April showers. Washable light jackets are selling well in Carbondale stores.

Jackets will always be good sellers not only for their elegant looks and comfort, but because they can be worn during practically every activity.

Shorter Haircuts Expected for Men;

Beatle Style Gone

Springtime, as usual, will bring flowers for the girls, but this year it should bring shorter hair styles for the men.

Although men's styles do not change as much as do women's, they will change somewhat with the seasons. When the warm weather rolls around it will be time to trim that hair just a bit. Many men will keep their regular style of haircut, but will wear it shorter. Some men who wear long hair in the colder months get a flat-top or crew cut in the warmer parts of the year.

A popular style for the college men in the springtime is the Ivy League, or Princeton cut. Both of these hair styles are similar but the Princeton is shorter, leaving only enough hair to permit a part.

Men's hair styles usually originate in certain parts of the country and are passed on. Such examples are the Ivy League and the Princeton which got their start in the eastern part of the United States. Another example is the case of the Beatles and their long beatle haircuts. This fad has died out to a high degree. However, there are still a few fellows who wear the Beatle style; these are chiefly musicians who play in rock 'n' roll bands.

Let's face it, men. Even though some of the men's hair styles may seem strange, it will be sometime before they will be as complicated as women's, whose one day it may be short and the next day must be long.

Swimmers to Pick Long, Bright Styles

Colorful, lengthy, and a bit daring best describes men's swimwear for summer '67. According to Men's Wear, one of the nation's leading magazines of men's fashions, the Hawaiian favorites height-lighting last summer's beach days are expected to return more popular than ever. This means another summer of fresh, lively, and exuberant styles and colors. Returning will be fabrics that maintain the pressed look both in and out of the water as well as belts and tie waisers.

With the return of the Hawaiian look comes another craze—styles from south of the border. Hot oranges, brilliant yellows, terra cotta, avocado greens and Mexican golds are just a few of the exciting new colors that will soon hit the beaches. Shirts, vests, often sleeveless and of stimulated cotton, are also to become favorites of the sun worshippers.

Tailored Look Coming Back, Mod Is Out

Q: What's WILD in men's fashions?
A: Nothing. According to Carbondale merchants, this year marks the return of the conservative. About the wildest new fashion is an abbreviated swim-trunk that looks like a paisley breech clout. Tarzan is apparently making the scene.

Mod is out and, according to Steve Goldsmith of Goldsmith's, always has been. The trend for this spring in men's fashions is to the tailored look.

New colors are the talk of the fashion circuit. There are whisky colors, bourbon colors, scotch colors—enough to make one advocate the return of prohibition. There are vegetable colors: pumpkin is very big this year.

Neckties Going Wider, Bolder, Higher Priced

Men's neckties are continuing to become brighter and wider, and the paisleys of last year triggered the break from striped conformity.

The new paisley is a traditional pattern, but the size of the paisley and the bold coloring make the necktie look new and daring. High colored silk prints, heather colored shetlands, and a spectrum of stripes are prominent along with the paisleys.

The basic tie width has moved from 2 5/8 inches to 3 inches, and many stores are specially ordering 4-5 inchers. The traditional tie has become more individualistic and exciting.

A drawback to this year's ties is the higher price. For 15 years the traditional tie wearer has been buying a striped rep tie and paying $2.50 for it. The new ties are a minimum of $3. But the price is justified.

Customers can expect to pay $3 for the wider reps and woods. The mogador- and oxford weave woods are about $4, and the Italian printed grundmades and English club ties are approximately $5.

Another interesting addition to the tie market recently is the "stained glass" tie. A firm has searched the European cathedrals for great and obscure stained glass and re-created these colors as seen in the light of the cathedral by dyeing Italian silk many times.

No-Wrinkle Fashions Reduce Miss America's Travel Woes

By Beth Mohr
Copley News Service

All you have to do to look like Miss America the next time you take a trip is to have a whole wardrobe of clothes that never wrinkle and distribute your natural assets into 5 feet 6 and 36-24-35.

As Miss America, Jane Anne Jayroe will travel 200,000 miles making appearances at civic, social and charity functions.

Exercise as a basketball player and baton twirler in Laverne, Oklahoma, her home town, and at Oklahoma City University where she is a music major, surely has helped to give her the stamina she needs.

Piano, singing, flute, saxophone and organ must ease the stage fright. Thoughts of that estimated $100,000 income for the year surely make the burden lighter.

And the wardrobe gets rid of many of the headaches of living out of a suitcase.

Nearly all of Jane Anne's travel clothes are nylon, mostly jersey, some rib-knit and a gown or two of nylon lace.

Red, white and blue is her patriotic and appropriate color combination.

Collegiates Shun 'Mod' for Males, Say Salespeople

The so-called Mod look in men's fashions is not exerting a strong influence on male students, according to three Carbondale clothing merchants.

Bill Harrell, a salesman for Zweck & Goldsmith, says the more dandies in Mod apparel fill the store, selling only belts, shirts and slacks. He noted that the English style of dress has its best market in large cities. Traditional clothing is a better seller in Carbondale, he said.

Mrs. Frank Selvania of Frank's Men's Wear said the new style was a fad in town that began at the first of the summer. She said that most high school students showed interest in the dress.

Not more than three colleges have asked about clothes of a Mod style, said Bill Goonaway of Walker's Men's Wear. The hardest thing is buying clothes to keep up with fads, he continued. He agreed that the look, style and cut of traditional dress is the most popular.

Shoes May Show 'Mod' Influence In Spring Wear

"The new spring fashion in men's shoes will be the 'mod look,'" according to John W. McCord of The Bootery shoe story.

The "mod look" consists of a modified wing tip styling with a squared-off toe.

The new color for spring is "bourbon." This color is a big seller in wing tips and penny loafers, McCord added.

Gene Palisch of John's Men's Den said, "The tassel loafer is starting to become a big seller and may possibly replace some of the penny loafer trade for spring." He also said more browns and blacks are replacing the conventional black in shoe color.

Black and white saddle shoes are being shown a little, but Palisch doesn't think they will become big sellers.

The basic dress shoe is still the black wing tip or the plain-toe cordovan Palisch added.
