The Student Council approved Activity Fee Recommendations

The Student Council accepted the final recommendations for the 1963-64 activity fee study as it came out of the Finance Committee Thursday night at the Council's last scheduled meeting.

The study was submitted by Senate George Graham, committee chairman.

The changes made in the proposed studies were allocations for AFROTC and for Music Productions.

Commuter Senator Bob Greer proposed an increase from $850 to $1,608 to make the AFROTC program more effective. The original cut would have taken all allocations from the Singing Squadron, AFROTC band, Arnold Air Society, the basketball team, and the miscellaneous fund.

The only AFROTC activity finally left out of the fee allocation was the basketball team.

The increase in AFROTC allocation came as a result of discussion by Col. George Blase, professor of Air Science, in which he sighted the need for these extra-curricular activities as "to make AFROTC a little more palatable to the student even though it is in a mandatory situation."

Graham moved to cut the music production allocation from $3,000 to $2,200 on the recommendation of the Music Department. The cut was accepted by Council.

A change in the by-laws of Council's constitution increased the number on next year's Council from 18 to a minimum of 26. The new members will be chosen from academic units of SIU. There will be one senator from each of eleven different academic units.

In other action, Council appointed three new members to the Judicial Board. The new appointments for next year include Charles Zeckler, Clayton Voegtle, and Barbara Weber, John Huck and George Koehne were turned down for appointments for chairman of the Judicial Board.

The Council appointed five members to the Review Board for the remainder of this term. They were Tom Rohde, Keith Pharis, Charles Prickett, Joe Peplow, and Charles Zeckler.

The Council also appointed four persons and one alternate to attend Bethel, Maine, on May 5. The appointees were Terry Cook, Mickey Goldfields, Yvonne Lindsey, and Helen Moore. WilliamTRANILLI as alternates.

In final action of this year's Council, Senators Mike Boyle and Jerry Howe took the oath of office as President and Vice President of the student body, respectively.

A special meeting was called by President Bill Fennick and Islamabad. The meeting was called to discuss the appointment of the Judicial Board.
An interest developed in high school Spanish courses has added in the selection of Norma Blackwell to participate in a summer work camp in Mexico.

Sponsored by the national organization of the Methodist Student Movement, the work camp provides an opportunity both for service and an on-the-scene study of the Mexican people.

"I'll be working with 12 other Methodist students from all over the United States," Miss Blackwell said. There will be seven male members of the team and five girls.

"We will try to teach the people and aid them in sanitation, home economics, agricultural projects, plus finishing a little chapel," she said. The chief work will be conducted in the village of San Juan Acozoc, located in the State of Puebla. On the weekends we will have the opportunity to visit in the homes of Mexican Methodist students.

Miss Blackwell, a senior from Metropolis, is looking forward to the chance to be involved with the people of Mexico.

"Although we aren't paid in money for our work I think the experience will provide ample dividends," she said. "I took an eight-week study tour sponsored by SIU last summer. We traveled around the country for two weeks and then spent six weeks studying at the Universidad de Guanajuato.

"Although I learned a lot on the tour and did develop my ability in Spanish I really didn't learn as much about the culture as I would have liked."

Miss Blackwell said she has had something of a love affair with Spanish ever since her first high school course in the language.

"I think of a language as a means to understand how and why people think as they do."

At SIU Miss Blackwell sings in the University Choir and was secretary of the Wesley Foundation for the past year. Last month she was elected secretary of the Illinois Methodist Student Movement. Her plans following her graduation next year are indefinite.

"I'd rather go to graduate school or, if I'm lucky, I'll teach in the apprenticeship program of the Department of Education in Puerto Rico."

"In any case," she added, "what I will do probably be involved with Spanish. I can't get away from it."

Wesley Group Plans To Present Religious Play

A play praised by critics as a new high in religious theater will be presented at the Wesley Foundation June 2, at 7 p.m.

"The Sign of Jonah," by Guenter Rutenborn, an Evangelical Lutheran minister serving in East Germany, will be presented by a cast of students under direction of Mrs. Edlin Harrison, instructor in the SIU theater department.

First presented in America by Union Theological Seminary, the play was reviewed by Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times theater section who termed it remarkable and outstanding.

Earlier Spanish productions had been in European churches and in German prison camps.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., yesterday asked the Senate Finance Committee to investigate what he called skyrocketing increases in the price of sugar.

A House subcommittee has already announced it will be hearing on sugar price increases any time. In a letter to Committee Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., Mansfield said:

"It would appear that the largest part of the increases are being bandied together, and the net result could well be to put sugar out of reach of all Americans.

"I would express the hope that there is no attempt being made by speculators or others to 'rig' the price of such a basic commodity as sugar.

For Chris, being bat boy for the Southern Illinois University baseball team has a special significance. His big brother, Dave Leonard, is a varsity infielder.

Chris and his family made the trip from their home in Festus, Mo., for every Saluki home game this season to watch Dave play. And Baseball Coach Abe Martin decided to reward Chris’ devotion by making him bat boy at a recent game.

Bob & Roy Sprengelmeyer:

Quiet Tennis Playing Brothers
Befuddle, Defeat Opponents

By Richard LaSusa

There is a rumor circulating among SIU's tennis team that if the Sprengelmeyer brothers can't defeat their opponents on the court they can force them into submission with stony silence.

After watching both boys in action, one can't help but believe the validity of such a rumor. Bob and Roy, both two-year veterans of Dick LeFevere's powerful tennis squad, give observers and opponents the impression that they have failed to master the art of verbal expression.

Francis Rawstorne, Lamar Tech's star number three singles player from South Africa, couldn't get over the silent treatment he received from Roy Sprengelmeyer in a match earlier this season. "I know that it's a traditional display of sort of tennis players to remain silent during a match," said Rawstorne, "but to me, Roy Sprengelmeyer's silent approach was puzzling."

"If I didn't see him with my own eyes, I wouldn't have believed that there was anyone on the other side of the net."

"I felt as if I were playing against some kind of voiceless machine," added the befuddled Rawstorne.

Bob, disregarding age and appearance, is prototype of brother Roy. His style is remarkably similar to his brother's and his quiet personality just as obvious. But Bob is so serene that he makes his silent brother sound almost boisterous at times. Bob, also like his brother, is a shrewd, cat-like player who lets his tennis racket and seasoned ability make all of the noise. The crafty sophomore from Dubuque, Iowa, is currently undefeated in sixteen consecutive matches this season and is quietly enjoying the best year of his tennis career.

"The Sprengelmeyer's," said their proud coach, "are two of the hardest working guys on the team. I never have to tell them to get out and practice, added LeFevere, they do it automatically."

It is certainly obvious to any observer that the Sprengelmeyer's take the game of tennis seriously. During a game, or even a routine practice session for that matter, Bob and Roy work so hard that it seems as if their every future depends on every move they make.

"You can easily tell by their consistently good play that the quiet ones put a considerable amount of honest and serious effort into their play," commented team captain Paco Castillo. "Thirty-three of the Sprengelmeyer's opponents this season have learned the hard way that looks can be deceiving," said Castillo with a grin.

Bob and Roy will team up with Lance Lumaden and Castillo to represent SIU in the NCAA tennis championships in Princeton, N.J. this June. "With a few breaks here and there," said Bob, "we stand a good chance of capturing the national tennis crown. It will be a rugged meet, but we will try in there trying all the way," he added.

Bob and Roy will be trying to work their magic silent spell on their opponents this afternoon where the Salukis meet the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame in the final dual meet of the season, in South Bend, Ind.
