Meeting Set For Students On Probation

A meeting for students on scholastic probation, originally scheduled Monday, has been rescheduled for next Wednesday.

The first meeting was cancelled along with all other events on campus during the day of mourning for the late President John F. Kennedy. The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Auditorium in Pulliam Hall (University School), according to the Advisement Center.

Students who are not yet on scholastic probation but who have some concern about their academic progress, also are invited to attend, according to Jack W. Graham, co-ordinator of the Advisement Center.

The rules relating to scholastic probation will be reviewed, hints on studying and preparing for examinations will be provided. Educational and vocational opportunities inside and outside the university will be explained,” Graham said.

He suggested that students on scholastic probation study the contents of the pages of a special Information Bulletin of the university. It states: “Students on scholastic probation who fail to make a 'C' average will be dropped from their academic unit.”

Probation students who didn’t make their grades could go into the unclassified categories. The student is dropped for poor scholarship by his academic unit. He has to drop off school for a period of time.

Meeting In Herrin:

SIU, Area Law Officers Discuss Student Behavior

SIU officials and area law enforcement representatives met Tuesday in Herrin for an exchange of views on student behavior problems.

The group of about 15 elected officials and law enforcement officers and four or five youths discussed two hours to discuss questions involved in student behavior, particularly in drinking.

The SIU delegation pledged participation in the cooperative effort to help young men and women at SIU. The delegation stressed that the problem involves a small minority of the 12,500 students, but recognized the additional burden involved for the law enforcement agencies.

The SIU position was outlined to the effect that its role was initial assistance, the same as that a parent or teacher would furnish, according to Joseph Zaleski, assistant dean of student affairs. The objective is to instill a sense of responsibility that must accompany greater freedom, he added. Additional informal exchanges of views are planned in a similar manner in the future, he said.

Thanksgiving Break Starts At Noon Today

Thousands of SIU students leave memories of an incredible weekend behind them today and start homeward for Thanksgiving.

Classes recess at noon today and resume Monday, Dec. 2. An estimated 90 per cent of the students on campus will go to their homes for the holiday.

The AFROTC color guard troops the colors at yesterday’s Memorial — the late President, John F. Kennedy.

For the 10 per cent not going home, the University Center will be open today from 5 a.m. to 10 p.m., Cafeteria hours are 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The Oasis, short-order section, will be open from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

All operations will close Thanksgiving Day.

The Center will open Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with all services closed except the cafeteria which will serve from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The building will close again Saturday. It will open for the regular Sunday schedule on Dec. 1 including the smorgasbord from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4 to 7 p.m.

Theatre’s ‘Sound Of Literature’ Set

Dec. 5 And 6

Interpreter’s Theatre’s presentation of “The Sound Of Literature” has been rescheduled for Dec. 5 and 6.

The program will be presented at 8 p.m. in Studio Theatre in Pulliam Hall (University School).

The program originally was scheduled for last Friday and Saturday nights but was canceled because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

It was rescheduled for Monday and Tuesday nights having had to be canceled again because of cause of cast problems, a spokesperson said.

The program consists of a group of short literary pieces of various Theatre style, according to Marion Kellina, director of the group.

Each presentation on the program Tuesday nights begins with an undergraduate student, with a graduate student assisting as director.

Admission is free to all students and faculty members.

Today’s Egyptian Is Last This Week

Today’s issue is the final Daily Egyptian to be printed this week.

The Daily Egyptian will resume its regular Tuesday through Saturday publication schedule next Tuesday. Deadline for announcements for that issue is noon on Monday.

The holiday follows the tragic national events. An unexpected day of freedom for classes was called Monday so students and faculty could join in mourning for President Kennedy.

SIU students will return next Monday to find November gone from the calendar and December, with its final examinations and major holidays, in its place.

Many students are expected to take advantage of special travel deals. The Illinois Central Railroad has scheduled a special Carbondale to Chicago train at 1:30 p.m. today with stops at Carlinville, Effingham, Mattoon, Champaign, Kankakee, Homewood, 63rd Street in Chicago and Spangalang, Chicago with arrival scheduled Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The Activities Development Center and Student Council arranged two special bus runs with stops from Springfield to Chicago.

Following the initial departure last night, the second bus is scheduled to leave at 12:30 p.m. with stops in Springfield, Joliet, Elburn, Oak Park and Chicago. Both buses will return Sunday.

The first will leave Chicago at 4 p.m. and the second will leave Oak Park at 4:30 p.m.

Classes will continue, after their resumption Monday, until the final exam schedule goes into effect.

Finals are scheduled from Wednesday, Dec. 11, through Tuesday, Dec. 17.

Cadet Corps Rite Honors Kennedy

A ceremony honoring the late President John F. Kennedy was presented by the AFROTC cadet corps at 10:30 a.m. Monday, Wing I, commanded by Cadet Col. Donald Canedy, on the field and Wing II was seen by the instructors.

The Honor Guard, commanded by John McGuire, provided the color guard, colors and three-volley salute.

Cadet Col. William Bradfield, Air Force District Commander, gave a short speech eulogizing the late president and the AFROTC band, under the direction of Donald Canedy, played the “Star-Spangled Banner.”

The program was recorded live by WSUI-TV and radio and lasted approximately 15 minutes.

Turkey Plays Second Fiddle For Students This Thanksgiving

Traditionally, most people picture Thanksgiving as a football game, a chrysalis-style family reunion complete with turkey and dressing.

But SIU students, harassed with mid-terms, book reports, dead lines, assignments, and language declensions, have different views in mind. Every student goes home for the Thanksgiving holidays with a definite idea of what he really wants to do.

One cafeteria cashier says, "I just want to go home so I can scream at somebody." A co-worker returns, "I can hardly wait to go barefooted and feel my feet slap the floor all day.

A co-ed with laundry problems wants to put her clothes in her mother's washing machine "to get everything really clean—especially my underwear."

Sometimes freshmen students tabulate a long "want list" like this one: "I can't wait until Thanksgiving. I want to visit my parents—they aren't so bad after all—, to sleep late, to drive our car, and not to have to pay to wash my clothes. And I want to be the only one for a while, not just one of twelve thousand." One seasoned underclassman declares, "Yes, I want to go home for Thanksgiving, but not for the turkey dinner. I'm too fat, not for the family gathering; I've had enough of crowds. I want to go home to be alone, my worries all forgotten."

Taking a few minutes to think, one co-ed gives her primary idea for Thanksgiving holidays. "I want to go home to see my dog. He is a good watchdog and a good replacement for an electric blanket."

A co-ed explains, "This vacation will be a good opportunity for me to see scenery in the country; I'm going to go home for Thanksgiving, but not for the turkey dinner."

"I'm tired of happy plans, a glum student reveals. "Going home for Thanksgiving isn't really what I want."

Second Printing To Be Issued
Of Professor's Book 'China'

Less than a month after publication, "China," a new book by Ping-choi Kuo, professor of History, has gone into second printing. The book was published Oct. 24 by Oxford University Press, England, as one in a series of works on the modern world. Kuo, former high rank- ing United Nations official, was commissioned to do the book as one of the foremost authorities on China.

Pre-publication orders and early sales have exhausted the 20,000 copies of the book issued by first printing, Oxford officials said.

Ping-choi Kuo
Francisco State College. He holds a master's degree and Ph. D. from Harvard University.

From 1940-46, Kuo was counselor to the National Military Council and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Nationalist Chinese govern- ment. In 1945, he was a mem- ber of the Chinese delegation to the San Francisco Con- ference, at which the United Nations was organized. He later became chief of the trust- eeship section of the U.N. secretariat in London and director of Security Council Af- fairs in the secretariat in New York.

Kuo is a life fellow in the International Institute of Arts and Letters.

General Exam Information

Examinations for one and two-credit hour courses will be held during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the formal final examination period. Four and five credit hour courses will meet at the times listed above.

A student who finds he has more than three examinations on one day may petition, and a student who has two examinations scheduled as in conflict, should petition the Academic Dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that a student may decide to miss his scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for a student whose petition has been approved by his dean.

A student who must miss a final exami- nation may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examin- ation. In the event a student misses a final examination and is not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph, a "T" followed by the tentative grade with a "Y" indicating the number of weeks at- tended, should be recorded on the grade report by the instructor. A "T" may be completed within one year of the end of the quarter involved; otherwise, it must remain as a "T."

A special note needs to be made relative to examinations for evening sections for those classes which have been granted a special time for examinating all sections. As some students attending at night may not be able to attend the special exami- nation period scheduled for the daytime, each department involved will have to ar- range special examination periods for such students. This problem involved those night sections whose students are mostly employed during the day and who are taking night courses because it is in the time they are able to do so.

Assignment: design a car for tomorrow... that could be built today!

Result: Allegro, an experiment in advanced automotive ideas that are practical for the near future

Allegro means "brisk and lively," which certainly describes Ford Motor Company's new dream car, a handsome fastback coupe. More than that, Allegro has unique functional elements that could be adapted for future production cars. (This has already occurred in the case of retractable seat belts!)

A new mechanism is a one-piece, Panam­ben steering wheel with an electronic "memory." The steering wheel is mounted on a short arm that extends from a base. The wheel swings upward for easy exit, returns automatically to its former position at the touch of a button. Power adjustment allows it to be moved three inches fore and aft and five inches vertically. This, plus power-adjustable foot pedals, permits use of a fixed seat design for low overall height.

Basically a two-seater in present form, Allegro has near floor space that could be converted to carry two additional passen­gers. The car could be powered by either a V-4 made by Ford of Germany or by the domestic 144- or 150-cubic-inch Sixes.

Allegro is one of a series of Ford-built dream cars which will be shown at the New York World's Fair to test consumer reaction to styling and mechanical innovations. This will help determine which of their forward-looking features are destined for the American Road—as further examples of Ford Motor Company's leadership in styling and engineering.

Ruby Indicted For Murder 'With Malice'

DALLAS—Jack Ruby was indicted yesterday for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of Presi­dent John F. Kennedy.

Ruby, 52, owner of a Dallas speakeasy, had shot Oswald during a jail transfer Sunday, just 48 hours after a sniper killed President Kennedy in a gala motorcade through downtown Dallas.

Because Ruby committed the homicide in full view of more than 200 persons—and also American television viewers—the only point of im­portance in the indictment was the degree of the crime charged.

It was specified as murder with malice, punishable upon conviction by death in the electric chair. Trial was set tentatively for Dec. 4.

Ruby is expected to plead temporary insanity. The only thing seriously suggested thus far is that Ruby, dis­tressed over the assassina­tion, told officers that he must avenge it.

Tom Howard, Ruby's at­torney, said he would ask the county jail after the indictment.

Speaking of Ruby's concern over the assassina­tion, Howard said: "On one oc­casion he mentioned seeing the picture of Mrs. Kennedy with blood on her dress. Tears came into his eyes. Ruby showed tremendous concern for the Kennedys."

In response to questions by newsmen, Howard declared:

"I can state unqualifiedly, as far as I know there is no connection between Ruby and Oswald. Ruby said the first time he saw Oswald was when Oswald was brought into the press conference the night of the killing of President Kennedy."

Rail Arbitrators Issue Ruling On Firemen's Pay

WASHINGTON — Federal arbitrators ruled Tuesday that 90 per cent of firemen's jobs on diesel yard engines and freight trains should be eliminated.

The union said this should be done by attrition or with job protection for most of the 60,000 union members affected.

The seven-member arbi­tration board found there was no dispute over railroad work rules. But set up a law under which the men worked in August which provided that its find­ing would be binding on both parties.

However, a spokesman for two of the three railway com­munity said the arbitration award and the law under which it was made would be attacked in federal court.

The union spokesman, H.E. Gillett, a member of the board and president of the Firemen and Enginemen's Union, said, "The board exceeded its au­thority and did not follow the law."
The caves of the Southern Illinois region are the weekend attractions for a group of SIU students.

They are the "spelunkers" of SIU, its cave-explorers. They often spend six to eight hours in one of the caves of the area at times, descend to depths of 200 to 250 feet.

Most every weekend they are off to explore. The caves have many different shapes and patterns of passages. They range in size from small openings through which a spelunker must crawl, to giant galleries.

Most passages are relatively small with just enough room to permit walking.

Working in pairs, the spelunkers sometimes require as many as four or five trips to "finish" a cave, one club member said.

There is no "best time" of the year for spelunking. Once beyond the entrance area, the temperature and humidity show little variation and the temperature within is generally close to the mean annual surface temperature of the cave's region.

The equipment is simple and inexpensive; each member is required to wear a "hardhat" and to have two sources of light, a flashlight and a carbide lamp. The club uniforms are generally mechanic's coveralls and sneakers.

The club was organized in 1962 and five girls are members. One of them, Elizabeth French, describes spelunking as "exciting. It's the thrill of being where few have been before."

Steve Anderson, club president, said the SIU Spelunker Club is applying for national membership this year and hopes to have its "grotto" established in the near future on the SIU campus.

Pound’s Letter Collection Falls Short Of The Mark

"Mr. F. V. Morley, with a misplaced sense of humor, has written a fifty page preface to two hundred pages of contemporary biographies, and thus no analysis of book. This a severe chore on the reader. About two hundred pages of contemporary biographies have for a quarter of a century contended that critics should know more and write less. I have received previous to the meeting in Rapallo in January of 1930, the suggested correspondence between us. savant in the军事 observing the role played by the Supreme Court in the political rights of the American people.

In those days the doctrine of judicial review was not well established and is a heretofore part of our original legal system, but the usurpation of power was not entirely unknown.

SIU Ends Independent Season: Game With North Texas Called

SIU's long football season has reached the end of its sometimes satisfying, sometimes discouraging road. The record will show that the Salukis finished the year one game shy of the 10 on their original schedule, leaving ample room for conjecture about what might have been.

In their second year as an independent, the Salukis followed closely a pattern set when they first decided to curtail conference situations. In that first season, SIU won four and lost six. This year the Salukis again won four but lost only five, with a national tragedy canceling the teams' game.

All things considered, a final analysis should show that Southern enjoyed at least a respectable year, and a better one than that in light of the manner in which Danse Fortune's moods shifted from week to week.

If a football season can be summed up in one word, that word for Southern this year would be "injury." SIU's ranks were stripped as key positions nearly every week, and the results were seen in a parade of new faces in the starting lineup.

Early in the season Head Coach Carmen Piccone lost two of his strong tackles when Gene Williams, 250-lb. senior, and Jim Westhoff, 215 and a half, junior, were checked off the roster. The St. Louis veteran would have gained experience and depth at that position.

Jack Langi, Woodbury, N. J., junior, was a regular right tackle for eight games, but he was felled at Toledo. Center was again a newcomer, although sophomore Ben Hill filled it at first. In the first week to a knee injury and Gene Miller, a Benton sophomore, was out for a time with a broken hand. He played much of the season, in fact, with the band still mending.

Piccone, anticipating a rugged season with a tough schedule, had gone to a new, pro-type offense as he prepared his boys, and a key slot in that attack was the split end. Tom Mansey, a freshman from Rantoul, Ill., sparked in that role for four weeks, then was sidelined with a sore back.

Junior Bonnie SHELTON moved into the slot and took up where Mansey left off, but it still meant a depletion of manpower at the other end of the line.

Then it was flashy backchat Richard Weber who got in the line to the hospital. Weber had danced, skipped and vaulted his way to the lead, among SBU's rushers in six games, but a broken cheekbone ended his season. He still won individual running honors.

"I'll do just what comes to my mind at the moment. I may stay in bed until nine o'clock, or I may even eat breakfast in bed," this freshman says."

A bewildered freshman girl says, "Thanksgiving means going home and putting everything back into focus. I know what's right and wrong, but here at SIU a girl can surely get confused."

Then, there is the transfer co-ed who does not want to go home for Thanksgiving: "I just love SIU—especially the fellows on campus. They are real gentlemen—always opening doors for me. And I'm so pampered by men who light my cigarettes that I just don't want to light my own anymore."

I really hate to go home to GodsviUe and leave all this behind," this student declared.

Swartz, Mayor Will Direct National Accreditation Study

Willis R. Swartz, dean of international students at SIU, and John R. Spaeth, a former SIU faculty member, will direct a national study of teacher accreditation.

Mayor has been appointed director and Swartz assistant director of a study sponsored by the National Commission of Accreditation which will determine the influence of accreditation on teacher education on American colleges and universities.

The study, to be made under a $97,500 grant from Carnegie Corporation of New York, will begin Feb. 1 and continue for at least 15 months.

Mayor, education director of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, is former chairman of the Department of Mathematics at Southern Illinois University.

Swartz, former dean of the SIU Graduate School, has been a member of the faculty since 1930, coming here as chairman of the Department of Government. A member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity, Swartz is author of the book, "American Governmental Problems," published in 1957.
