Johnson Wins SIU 'Election'

President Lyndon B. Johnson was "re-elected" in the Mock Election at SIU, defeating Senator Barry M. Goldwater, 1,224 to 733. This gave the President a 66.67 per cent victory over his opponent. Charles H. Percy scored the Republicans' lone victory, topping incumbent Governor Orval Faubus among poll voters.

In the secretary of state race Democrat Paul Powell received 1,053 votes to win over Representative Joseph Hoffmann who collected 760.

A total of 2,108 votes were cast in the election, or about 15 per cent of the eligible voters.

One hundred and one ballots were voided, because voters placed a "X" in the squares or because they mixed a straight split ballot. Others were declared void because of write-in votes.

Students who voted had their activity card punched, while faculty members had to show their faculty appointment cards. Activity cards were punched to prevent illegal voting.

The counters were not members of the Young Republican or Young Democratic clubs, as had been previously stated. Members of these organizations, however, served as poll watchers and also as overseers at the ballot counting.

No write-in space was provided on ballots, Heldeman said, because he felt students would enter personal friends' names.

Education Classes Canceled Friday

For Conference

All Friday education classes have been cancelled because of the annual meeting of the Southern Division of the Illinois Education Association to be held here.

The class cancellation pertains to College of Education classes only. No write-in space was provided on ballots, Heldeman said, because he felt students would enter personal friends' names.

Students With 75 Hours Urged to Plan Transfer

All students in General Studies who have completed 75 hours of credit should plan to transfer to a college or school shortly. This is the earliest possible time, according to Jack W. Graham, coordinator of the Academic Advisement Center.

By transferring to a college or school a student has a greater chance of having an adviser in his major field of interest, he said. Students need not have completed all of their General Studies courses prior to transferring to a college or school.

A student desiring to petition to enter a college or school should report to the Academic Advisement Center to pick up the petition. VTI students pick up this form in the Main Office. The procedure is as follows:

1. The student completes the top portion of the form.
2. The student attaches his copy of his most recent grades to the form. If he has lost his copy may obtain a duplicate from the Academic Advisement Center.
3. Students enrolled in General Studies must prepare a current general accumulative record of his General Studies program for presentation to the new academic unit.

The student reports to the office of the dean of the new academic unit he desires to enter. Students petitioning to enter the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences or the College of Education will call on the dean's office upon entering the College of Education with a major in Liberal Arts and Sciences, must be approved by the department first.

5. After approval by the dean and, if required, the chairman of the major department, the student must take the petition to the Academic Advisement center.

6. The change of academic unit will take place at the next time the student registers.

The second for 3 p.m. and Thursday at 9 a.m. Ray E. Wakeley, vice-chairman, area services, will lecture on "East St. Louis: An Overview of the Various Aspects of Community Development and Area Study."

The seminar will be held in the University River Rooms on both days, beginning at 11 a.m. Thursday in the University River Rooms in the Union.

Police Continue Crackdown On Cycle, Scooter Violators

Carbondale police are continuing to crack down on traffic violations by operators of bicycles and scooters. Police Chief Jack Hazel told the Daily Egyptian.

"Recent crimes in the wake of a sharp rise in the number of accidents involving bicycles and scooters. A check of traffic accident reports for last Monday showed that since Oct. 1 there had been 11 such accidents, eight involving SIU students. Several caused injuries which resulted in treatment and hospitalization of cycle operators, Hazel said."

The reports indicated that the major single cause of cycle accidents has been improper or careless passing of automobiles making turns, in one case, on Illinois Avenue, a youthful cycle operator ran into the left side of a car driven by a woman accompanied by two young girls, Hazel said. The woman told police the operator of the cycle curbed her, then drove off. The operator was named as John V. Saab.

A Carbondale ordinance prohibits passing within one inter­section on the right side at anytime, Hazel added, and said he has been instructed to be alert for such violations in an effort to cut the rising accident rate.

Vehicles colliding with cycles have been the major part automobiles, though several inter-cycle accidents have been recorded, and one accident in which the cycle driver was hospitalized and arrested involved an SIU-owned bus.

The first meeting at Furr Auditorium is scheduled for the first of this month at 7 p.m.

Fund Established For Travel Costs

The student government has established a $2,000 fund to help pay travel expenses to regional and national meetings by recognized student organizations.

The fund, which is under the jurisdiction of the student government Special Travel Committee, has been set up to allow more students to participate in such activities.

Student organizations interested in receiving financial assistance may fill out a prepared fiscal report, and return it to Terrence Cook, administrative assistant to the student body president, at the student government office located in the University Center.

The reports must be returned by Nov. 14 to receive any consideration.

The program is for those who feel they are out of condition and want to get back in shape. A Physiograph Six machine is used to record a person's pulse rate by photographing blood in the finger tip. The purpose of the tests, Bender said, is to see if sustained exercise will affect the pulse rate.

The program is being held in connection with a West Point project to see if the tests and exercises are reliable. The program will consist of three workouts a week from 30 to 45 minutes long at any time the person finds convenient. Kurdish Revolt Seeks Autonomy

Parishons Fight Iraqis

Journey Among Brave Men, by Dana Adama Schmidt; Boston: Atlantic-Little, Brown, 299 pp., $6.95.

Dana Adama Schmidt used journalistic enterprise to gather information for this study of guerilla irregulars in the folklore of that of the Kurdish people of the Middle East. As a Middle East correspondent for The New York Times, Schmidt became interested in getting a first-hand look at the Kurdish revolt against the Iraqi government. He traveled by foot, male, horseback and Jeep and spent 46 days there interviewing, the leader of the rebellion.

The story is one of mountain peasants against an army equipped with modern weapons: guerrillas versus air planes, Schmidt describes the intrigue behind the scenes of the history of the struggle for Kurdish autonomy, and his purpose is to make us all realize that we should pay more attention to it, as it seemsingly remote.

The Kurds, as Schmidt points out, have been engaged in warfare for hundreds and perhaps thousands of years. These are the people of the parts of Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Syria in numbers variously estimated at from six to twelve million. If their national consciousness is ever united it will represent "hidden dynamite" for the Middle East, in Schmidt's opinion.

The book brings to light the story of a people little known in the West and as such, its appeal will be to those keenly interested in the Middle East. It should be read by all interested in current events and developments in the Near East.

Book Adapted From TV Show

Proclaim Scientific Breakthroughs

In the last 15 years discoveries have been made which are comparable in importance to the 15th century discovery of America.

The book was originally a television series and is a sequel to the previous one with the same name. It is written by John L. W. Dunlap, who wrote the original, and is illustrated by James A. Sappenfield.

The book is an account of the discoveries made in the field of nuclear physics, with an emphasis on the implications of these discoveries for the future of mankind and the environment.

Tomorrow Was Yesterday, by CBS Television Network and the Scientific American. This is the sequel to the previous one with the same name. It is written by John L. W. Dunlap, who wrote the original, and is illustrated by James A. Sappenfield.

The book is an account of the discoveries made in the field of nuclear physics, with an emphasis on the implications of these discoveries for the future of mankind and the environment.

As a general service aide, advisor and confidante, Elliott watches Qualies cope with war and scientific advisors, attempts to keep an extraneous air of the tabloid press, weigh his chances for the success of the white patriots, and change into the execution of his plan against the suggestion of his colleagues.

This superbly realistic novel of nuclear physics and powers stands by itself, independent of the other novels of this series. It is a comment that no political power will be able to go on decreasing the national consciousness of this country.

Everything is there, and in fact, Snow and his New York editors should consider for his American readers, going as far as to footnote some of the niceties of British politics. Thus American readers, go as far as to footnote some of the niceties of British politics.

Unlike the garden variety of American political fiction (and perhaps the ordinary run of British), Corridors of Power transcends both and to some extent, self-consciously calling attention to the fact. Snow finds himself at home in these corridors, being the kind of reason to those Englishmen who find it unfathomable that their nation is no longer a first class power.
Goldwater Urges Switch To Peace and Freedom

CLEVELAND, Ohio — "We have to chart a new course of peace and freedom," Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater said Tuesday night, warning that to continue the way of his Democratic counterpart "is national suicide."

"It can't be seen how far this nation of ours has drifted away from peace and away from freedom."

The Republican presidential candidate asked his audience here to stop and think.

"Do you want my opponent to let us continue?"

"We simply can't continue unless we want to commit national suicide. We have to chart a new course of peace and freedom, of morality and constitutional order. We must stop the spread of socialism at home and communism abroad."

"This is the essence of Goldwater's flight campaign, and he wrapped up his whole program, his consistency in his speech here."

He restated his views on civil rights, much as he did when he spoke on this for the first time a few days ago in Chicago.

"We must never forget that the freedom to associate means the same thing as freedom not to associate," he declared. "It is wrong to erect legal barriers against either side of this freedom."

Goldwater came here after stopping at Bristol, Tenn., and London, Ky., rock-ribbed Republican areas in rolling hill country.

He autographed placards and bits of paper, "Goldwater girls" cassies, and even a teen-age's sweatshirt, while identifying's schedule, as he said, he likes dogs but dog bites account for 18 per cent of all injuries suffered by postal personnel.

The repellant, described as harmless, is made up of extract of cayenne pepper and mineral oil. It comes in a spray can.

Johnson Hits Record Of Goldwater Votes

PITTSBURGH -- President Johnson said Tuesday night Sen. Barry Goldwater "has not -- is not -- will not -- has not -- will not -- has not -- will not cut out our own peaceful way, almost every program of common responsibility for any party's program.

He did not refer to Goldwater's attacks in a speech earlier at a rally, but spoke of the "opposition candidate."

"Johnson said the Goldwater votes he has in mind range from national defense to education to social security, and he added:

"When he says 'make social security voluntary' our answer is that old age--and the sickness that comes with it--is not voluntary. We believe in more insurance, not less."

"Johnson said Goldwater voted against urban renewal, against low income housing, against area redevelopment, against aid to education."

"The Pittsburgh stop was the second of the day on the President's schedule, as he launched a coast-to-coast campaign trip which will keep him on the road almost constantly until the voters decide a week from now whether he or Goldwater will occupy the White House for the next four years.

"The day's first stop was at Boston, and Johnson pledged there to follow the example of courage and judgment he credited to the assassinated Senator John F. Kennedy.

Injured Salukis Pick Selves Up for Game

Homecoming is this Saturday but Southern's football team probably wishes it were pushed back a week or two.

The Salukis are hurting going into the third renewal of the Alumni Day classic. Southern Texas provides the opposition this time, and the Eagles are looking to bring their perfect 1-0-1 record into Carbondale. It's been 4-1 season as well as spoil the annual display of mums and corsages.

Last week's game with Northern Michigan was costly for SIU in both the win column and the injury list. At least three Salukis were hobbled up pretty hard against the Wildcats and some are more or less on the mend, but they will need a week or two to get back 100 percent.

Richie Weber, the little senior captain, still leads the Salukis on the scoreboard, but the NMI tilt caused a bad knee for Weber. He'll be at the Daily Egyptian Monday that he will probably be able to make the start against the Eagles.

 Tight end Mike McGiniss was a victim for a few games with a severely sprained ankle, also suffered in the NMI game. Though Shleton will probably get the nod at McGiniss' spot, split end Tom Massey, who just came off the injured list and his shoulder, said Weber will be at the other end of the line.

Back field Money Riffer and reserve halfback Wayne Thomas were scheduled to sit out at Marquette but might see some action.

Somebody has noticed the worst of the injuries when he was out hard late in the game. He is still not his normal condition, which affected his vision for the remainder of the game. Thomas is optimistic about being able to play in the Homecoming but if he does, he will only play day. He referred to the situation as "I'd like to play, but I can't.

Gymnast Almost Lost Olympic Team Berth

By Richard La Susa

Canadian and SIU gymnast, Gail Daly, almost missed competing in the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Miss Daly, Canada's national women's gymnastics champion for the past three years and a standout member of the Southern Illinois Women's Gymnastics Club of Carbondale, finished 5th in over-all competition in Tokyo, but she was ruled out of the Olympic squad.

Daly, who is also a student at Southern Illinois University, was one of the two top men gymnasts and the two top women gymnasts chosen to make up the Canadian Olympic contingent.

The Canadian Olympic committee, after a heated debate and a stand-up vote, chose Miss Daly after Miss Virginia Farren, finished third in the women's national title, but she was not chosen for the Olympic squad.

Friends had lobbied on Miss Daly's behalf, but no decision was made until the last minute. Miss Daly was told by the Daily Egyptian Monday that she will be at the Olympic trials this week.

The petite Miss Daly, who will go to the SIU campus Nov. 12, also competed in the Olympics without a coach, manager or the benefit of a pianist to provide music for her routines.

According to Vogel, Gail and Southern Illinois and U.S. woman gymnast, Dale McClement, Miss Daly, will be helpful when girls meet a team from New York and New Mexico State.

Miss McClements, an SIU junior, was the top U.S. women's gymnast, with her 3rd place finish in Olympic gymnastics competition.

Team Managers To Meet Today

An intramural flag football meeting for the managers of the league championship teams will be held at 4 p.m. today in Room 125 of Arena.

The winners in each league will participate in the playoffs to earn a spot at capturing the intramural flag football trophy.

The winners are Sigma Pi, Alpha 2nd, Affikee Immigration, Huns and Rejac.
Court Maneuvering By Braves Continues

MILWAUKEE (AP) -- Legal wheeling and dealing headed for another round Tuesday in the Milwaukee Braves' bid to move to Atlanta. The Braves averted a Circuit Court showdown by asking Monday that the federal court take jurisdiction in the county's attempts to force the club to remain in Milwaukee and fulfill a contract which runs through 1965. Although the Circuit Court hearing was canceled, a temporary order restraining the Braves from moving was continued.

The order issued by Judge Ronald Drehc Sher preven that the club from seeking court approval of a franchise transfer at a meeting in New York last week.

The Braves said in their federal court petition that 'diversity of citizenship' was cause enough to have the case taken out of the state courts. The club is a Delaware corporation with principal offices in Chicago.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert E. Tolan set Nov. 5 for a hearing. He said he would determine whether Wisconsin or Illinois is the Braves' principal place of business and whether Wisconsin or Illinois directors who oppose the club's move are proper parties in the action.

In another development Monday, County Attorney Henry W. Unz, Kubek's chief counsel and representatives of several other cities issued a statement urging that a definite binding restraining order be obtained.

The statement also proposed banning transfer of a franchise unless a home court advantage is restored and minority fails to support the team as measured by a formula that would include the investment return to the club.

The statement said that organized baseball should reaffirm its belief in the sanctity of contracts and local ownership should be given the first option any sale.

Cardinal Star In Court Fight Over Housing

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) -- Curt Flood, star centerfielder for the world champion St. Louis Cardinals baseball team announced his intention to move into a rented home today after being forced to stop him with a shotgun.

Flood, who said Monday that he was upset but not angry, has the backing of former Cardinal Coach Richard Armon and the sheriff's office.

Flood, 25, charged in a court suit that he and his family were threatened after he signed a lease to rent a suburban home in Alamo, about 15 miles east of Oakland.

The suit asked $10,000 in damages plus a restraining order allowing the family to move in. Judge Armon granted the restraining order.

Defendants in the case are Constance A. Oliver of Zephyr Cove, Nev., owner of the home, and George C. Finn, who alleged he signed the lease after obtaining power of attorney from Mrs. Oliver.

The shotgun threat was made, according to the law suit, by Finn after he had signed the lease and later discovered that Flood is a Negro.

Phyllis Scofield, acting as agent for real estate agent David Robinson, leased the $35,000 house to Flood at $290 a month for one year. Mrs. Scofield took the lease into Flood's name, she said, and later inquired of Mrs. Scofield whether the lessee was Caucasian.

Finn became 'very enraged,' according to Mrs. Scofield, when she told him that Flood was a Negro.

Finn, accompanied by another man—both armed with shotguns—parked his car despite an invisible driveway and threatened to shoot any Negro who tried to move in, the suit claimed.

Steve DeLong Top Lineman In AP Survey

NEW YORK (AP) -- Steve DeLong, the latest in a long line of great linemen at Tennessee, was named the Associated Press Lineman of the Week Tuesday for his outstanding defensive performance against Louisiana State University.

The game last Saturday ended in a 3-3 tie but it might have been a victory for the favored Bayou Bengals if LSU had not been for the 6-foot-3, 245-pound guard from Norfolk, Va.

DeLong, who plays middle guard on the defense, led the charge which stopped LSU on the one-foot line.

"He was in the thick of our goal line stand," said Coach Doug Dickey of Tennessee. With as little yardage as they had to go through, (it was third down and one for the TD), we felt LSU would run straight ahead. They did and we were mighty glad DeLong was there to stand in the way."

HERE'S WHY:

College Life insures only college men.

College men are preferred risks—

BECAUSE with the exception of the first years out of school, college men do not work at jobs where the accident rate is high or health conditions unfavorable;

BECAUSE college men generally get good paying jobs, so they can afford the best in medical and hospital care;

BECAUSE college men are smart enough to check-up more frequently than the average;

BECAUSE their income allows for better food, housing and other living conveniences that help lengthen life;

BECAUSE college men usually buy larger policies than non-college men. This reduces handling expense. For example, it's a lot less expensive to administer one $10,000 policy than ten $1,000 policies.
