Pettit: Budget cuts threaten region

By Curtis Winston
Staff Writer

Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit said he told a Senate committee that Illinois University at Carbondale could help higher education by providing a bigger increase in state funding.

Pettit was in Springfield Thursday afternoon to present the Senate'S Appropriations II committee with a report about how Gov. James R. Thompson's 10 percent reduction in educational funding in 1987 has hurt the University.

"I stressed the impact of the reduction's threat to the future of the economy," Pettit said at a news conference held on campus late Thursday afternoon.

The four-page report presented to the committee is only a summary of reports Pettit received from deans and department heads in the SIU.

Pettit said it is difficult to pinpoint exactly which areas are hurting the most. "Every department in this college is hurting," he said.

Russell case goes to jury

By John Mohler

After seven hours of deliberation, a Jackson County jury failed to reach a verdict in the kidnapping trial of John Russell.

The jury began deliberations shortly after 3 p.m. Thursday. Russell is charged with 10 counts, including kidnapping and aggravated battery.

Russell concluded his testimony Thursday by telling the court he made several attempts to contact the media as he drove Carbondale attorney John C. "Jack" to Chicago. Russell, who is accused of kidnapping Fearich, said he had placed French under citizen's arrest for the misappropriation of $6,000.

An original copy of John Milton's "Areopagitica" became Morris Library's two millionth volume this week. The book was donated by the Friends of Morris Library, which purchased the work in New York last year for about $12,000. "Areopagitica" was written by English poet John Milton in 1644. Milton wrote the essay to the English Parliament to protest the censorship of the press by the Stuart monarchy. The "Areopagitica" is regarded as the cornerstone of press freedom in the English-speaking world. Kenneth G. Peterson, dean of library affairs, said, "The work will be housed in the Special Collections room on the third floor of the library. The book will complement the library's Ralph L. McCay Freedom of the Press Collection, Peterson said. "The Areopagitica represents a milestone in our growth of reaching two million volumes," he added.

At a Friends of Morris Library meeting Tuesday, reports were given on the success of the Two for Two fund raising campaign. Friends reported that $196,000 in contributions and pledges have been collected.

The Queen Endowment, the library's first named endowment, will donate $20,000 to the library. A matching $20,000 gift and a bequest of nearly $100,000 are expected in the future, Peterson said. These will push the fund drive over its $200,000 goal.

Nine Two for Two endowments were named at the meeting. They are the

- D. Lincoln and Murriel N. Canfield Library Endowment for Spanish literature and Hispanic linguistics.
- John and Dorothy Dillingar Library Endowment for Science, Engineering and Medicine.
- Lewis E. and Elizabeth Dahn Library Endowment for Philology.
- Virginia L. Marnadeke Library Endowment for Assassinations.

Deadline nears for illegal immigrants

By Linda Warren
Staff Writer

Some former international students who are working and living in the United States illegally aren't aware of the federal immigration amnesty program yet, a legalization attorney said.

John Ammer said he would like to locate and help these students with the legalization process. He is concerned that some illegal residents may not know the deadline to apply for amnesty and legal residency is May 4.

If students can prove that they have worked in the United States continuously since Jan. 1, 1982, they are legal residents, Ammer said.

Ammer will be at the Newman Center, 715 S. Washington, on Friday to help illegal aliens start the legalization process. Ammer is also at Catholic Social Services in Marion on weekdays.

Former international students are in the United States illegally if they have let their visas expire or they did not meet the requirements of their visas, Beverly Walker, an attorney specializing in immigration, said.

"Students know what's going on—they have access to the information," Walker said.

However, many in- ternational students are unaware of the amnesty, Walker said. They are waiting to see what happens to their friends before they take any action, Walker said.

Walker said she has received about 20 letters from former students asking for verification of the last dates they attended the University as part of their documentation.

On April 26, the U.S. House of Representatives passed a bill to extend the deadline to apply for immigration and legal residency to Nov. 30. The Senate voted Thursday to let the measure die. The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service already has relaxed the deadline. Anyone who files an application by May 4 can have two months to provide supporting documentation that proves that he or she resided in the United States continuously.

Activists, followers rally for Polish steel strikers

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Leaders of outlawed groups including Solidarity rallied their followers Thursday to back 30,000 steelworkers on the third day of a strike amid signs of a toughening response by authorities trying to rein in growing unrest. The steelworkers stayed off the job after a breakdown in negotiations over a 70 percent wage hike.

Saud Arabia opposes curb on exports of oil

VIENNA (UPI) — Saudi Arabia threatened Thursday to return to a proposal to reduce OPEC oil output by 5 percent, which analysts said could raise the cost of gasoline to U.S. motorists by 7 cents this summer. The threat came as representatives of OPEC's 13-nation cartel prepared to meet to consider the 5 percent cut in oil production proposed by six independent oil-producing nations. The proposal was aimed at halting the slide of oil prices and stabilizing volatile oil markets.

U.S. told to back S. Korean opposition reforms

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Leading dissident Kim Dae Jung, banking in the opposition’s surprising legislative victory, told the United States Thursday to support his plans for democratic reform in South Korea or be labeled “the dictator’s friend.” Kim also said the opposition would not attempt to oust the Seoul Summer Olympics so long as the government followed through on its promise to continue reforming the authoritarian system used by former President Chun Doo Hwan to rule the country for seven years.

Afghan leader: Kabul will never fall to rebels

KABUL, Afghanistan (UPI) — A defiant President Najibullah vowed Thursday to prevent Kabul from falling to Muslim rebels battling his government and said Soviet military advisors will not go to Afghanistan after the withdrawal of U.S. forces ending next month. Najibullah, former head of the Afghan intelligence services, said he will be able to “defend Afghanistan’s territorial integrity” if the United States and other foreign powers continue to aid the guerrillas after the Soviet withdrawal of their 100,000 troops.

Peace talks resume as Contra dispute grows

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Leaders of the United States-backed Contra rebels arrived Thursday to resume high-level peace talks with the Sandinista government amid signs of a growing dispute between rebel political and military officials. The five-member rebel political directorate and the military leaders arrived in Managua, amid reports that the atmosphere surrounding the talks remained tense.

U.S. loosens conditions for Noriega removal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House signaled new flexibility Thursday in the conditions the United States has set for the removal of Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega as the de facto leader of Panama. As a senior State Department official in Panama to explore terms that could persuade Noriega to leave Panama, White House spokesmen said on Thursday that the United States might not insist that Noriega seek asylum elsewhere.

Reagan signs education bill, ‘dial-a-porn’ ban

Olympics showcase special young talent

"You can do it!"

Seconds pass. Elmore's face is crunched in concentration. His eyes study a spot in the sandpit before him.

Del Ray Elmore was one of more than 500 athletes participating in the 21st annual regional Special Olympics at McAndrew Stadium. Athletes from the seven southernmost counties of Illinois competed, Lucy Scaife, who registered popular shouts during his jump. He and the standing long jump, said. The more encouragement, building Del Ray Elmore was one of athletes from the nursing

The Special Olympics are a change for the normal routine, Bob Rowland, head coach of the 25-member team from the Anna Mental Health Development Center, said. The center has participated in the competition for 21 years, Rowland said. "The athletes can't wait to be in the events."

Vernal Cantrell, a member of the center's team, won a gold medal in the 50-meter dash.

"It feels pretty good," Cantrell says as he touches the medal hanging from a ribbon around his neck. "Pretty good," he says again and smiles.

The Meridian Elementary School in Mounds has a 12-member team, six of whom Debra Houston, the team's coach, plans to take to the state Special Olympics competition at Illinois State University in Bloomington.

"They get so excited about the competition," Houston said. "All year long they're planning for it. My kids work hard."

"When do I run again?" team member Robert Haynes asked Houston impatiently. "See, he can't wait to run again," Houston said.

Over 600 volunteers from the campus and community pitched in at the event, Sarah Norris, coordinator of the Olympics, said.

Blood drive passes goal

The Red Cross collected a total of 327 pints of blood, 27 more than its goal, in the two-day drive at University Park that ended Wednesday at Trueblood Hall, drive coordinator Vivian Ugent said.

"It was extremely successful," Ugent said. "The students) responded in true SIU (fashion)."

The Wednesday total was 133 pints, 15 of which came from first-time donors, Ugent said. She called the number of first-time donors "amazing." A total of 154 first-time donors gave blood in the drive, Ugent said.

One hundred pints were collected from Schneider Hall and 94 pints were taken from Blue Smith Hall (1-1 Friday, the first day of the blood drive.
Downtown: student ideas needed, too.

IT'S NICE TO see the Carbondale City Council making a concerted effort to find out what local residents, businesspeople and special interest groups want to see happen to the downtown area. But the council has yet to give students a convenient chance to air their views of downtown's future.

Downtown revitalization is one of the most important issues in Carbondale today because of its potential impact on the fate of the city. The town is in danger of becoming a shell of a city, with all of its commerce on the edge of town.

This movement away from the downtown area is especially bad for students, most of whom live within walking distance of downtown, but who often don't have cars to get to the newer shopping areas. This is precisely why students must give students a say in what happens to downtown.

THE COUNCIL MAY argue that students are a transient population, and therefore don't deserve the same influence in city affairs as permanent residents. In some issues, this may be true. But, because students' needs aren't always like those of the city's permanent residents, city officials often overlook students' ideas needed, too.

There are about 20,000 SIU-C students in Carbondale and about as many permanent residents. Although the average student stays in town about four years, the student population remains more or less static. The needs of students also remain constant. But, because students' needs aren't always like those of the city's permanent residents, city officials often overlook students' ideas needed, too.

The mass exodus of small business from downtown, which has been going on for years, must be reversed through an active campaign to lure business back to the center of Carbondale. This effort must be organized and led by the City Council. But the council also must be responsive to the wishes of local residents -- including students -- who will be most affected by changes to the downtown area.

THE CITY SPONSORED a day-long retreat April 8 at Touch' n' Tan about 10 miles northeast of town, at which about 70 local residents told the city what they think should be done to revitalize downtown. The city is to be lauded for spending time and money -- about $3,500 -- to give citizens a forum for their ideas.

The city now must sponsor a similar forum for students to present their views about downtown. It should be held either on campus or within walking distance of campus and the other results of the forum should be given the same importance as those of the first retreat.

It then will be up to the city to actually use the ideas it is given when it comes to making changes.

Rename overpass

We heartily support naming the new east campus pedestrian overpass after Susan Schumake, who was raped and murdered on the Ho Chi Minh Trail in 1981.

The overpass was built because the trail was unsafe. Not only should the overpass bear Schumake's name, but also all should know why it was named after her and the overpass should serve as a solemn reminder of the danger of sexual assault that exists at and around SIU-C.

Naming the overpass for Schumake only makes sense if it serves to deter similar assaults in the future.

Show women more respect, men: end sexual innuendos, degradation

On April 21, in the Communications Building's Cinema and Photography Soundstage, two films were shown. Both were free and open to all SIU students and the general public. The Woman of Film Series presented "Pornography, Not Love Story" by Bonnie Klein and "Witches: Remember The Witches" by Laurie Meeker.

For 48 hours, from noon Thursday, April 21, to noon Saturday, April 23, women from the Rape Action Committee camped in the Free Forum Area. The encampment served two main functions. First, as a request that the new east campus pedestrian overpass be named after Susan Schumake, an SIU-C student who was brutally raped and murdered on the Ho Chi Minh Trail in 1981, and secondly, to inform people about violence against women.

Why must these films be made? Why does such an encouragement have to take place? The reason is at once both simple and frightening.

Men control because they can. The problem is men do not see the 'connection' between sexist language (i.e., jokes objectifying women, cartoons, etc.) and hardcore pornography; rape; and physical violence against women. The women is the victim.

"Pornography, Not Love Story," follows a woman as she makes the 'connection.' She is a stripper. She sees it merely as entertainment. She thinks she has nothing to do with violence. The filmmaker leads her step-by-step through the world of pornography. The camera is never sexed-out, as she realizes that she is indeed in the middle of it.

The Women's Encampment To End Sexual Violence tried to make the 'connection' mostly for men. Men are "in the middle of it." Can a man and do laud to rape. Women from the Rape Action Committee want this weekend to be Springfest, not Rapefest.

Let us make Susan Schumake's ordeal the last of its kind. I am making the connection. I will stand up to men. I will stand up for women's rights. This is a letter of hope. Hope that not only in Carbondale, but in all places, the streets will be safe.

James Lundy, graduate student,就会 communication.

Liberals don't take Red threat seriously

Close-minded liberalism is again.

Toby Eckert's viewpoint in the April 21, 1988 issue of the Daily Egyptian characterizes conservative philosophy with sensationalism and ignorance. Eckert implies that the ideas of William F. Buckley and other conservatives show the type of ignorance similiar to little old ladies who read the National Enquirer.

The fear that Russia is going to attack us without firing a shot was exaggerated by Soviet leaders Nikita Khruscchev in the 1960s. Conservatives tend to take seriously this threat. Liberals believe that the communist goal of world conquest remains despite Gorbachev's glasnost.

The National Review and William F. Buckley are respectable media sources. These conservative sources have credibility and a following. The left was programmed their point of view near ubiquitously to the American public.

Birthright thanks Walk-for-Life volunteers

I would like to thank all those SIU-C students who participated in Birthright's ninth annual Walk-for-Life. A special thanks goes to Chi Alpha, who helped with registration, cleanup and arranging transportation back to the walkers' cars.

The Walk-for-Life was held on April 21 in Carbondale and Marion. Between the two walks, 160 people participated and close to $10,000 was raised. Thank you again to all those who helped or contributed to our Walk-for-Life so we can continue to make a difference.

IT'S A ROUGH LIFE by Stephen Cox

"One more Bartie please Master Mortimer."
FUTURE CITY - "I know I'm going to heaven when I die because I've lived in hell all my life."

Beattie Rivers, 70, wears a red baseball cap with those words printed on it. The cap pretty well describes the community where she lives. Rivers lives in Future City, an ironic name for such a bleak place.

"It has no future," Rivers said. "It's been at rock-bottom for a long time and it's probably going to stay that way."

Rivers, who has lived in Future City for most of her life, said that the town's problems started after World War II, when people left to find work elsewhere.

"There were no jobs here. There still aren't any," she said. "Poverty is a damned shame, it ruins able-bodied people and it scares me."

"The children," she said with a sigh, "have to get away from here. Two or three will go, but if the others aren't careful they'll stay here."

Rivers estimates Future City's population to be 50 to 60. Less than five families have members with steady jobs. "We live from day to day here," she said.

Rivers is the town matriarch. She knows everyone. She goes to city council meetings in Cairo, she attends the Alexander County Board meetings, she was the County Democratic chairwoman from 1979 to 1988 and she hands out food commodities to city residents.

"It was a helluva job," she said. "I got calls from Washington (D.C.) and was told not to give up, so I didn't."

RA resigns his position

By Curtis Winston

Surf Week

Bruce Towers housing officials forced a student resident advisor to resign on the basis of rumors that he was consuming alcohol with minors, according to dorm residents.

Jeff Horve, SRA on Schneider Hall 11th floor, said he resigned April 15, after rumors were calculated that he had been drinking in a bar with minors.

"No one saw me out (at a bar)," Horve said. "I got caught in a bad situation at a bad time."

"I didn't want to be in housing anymore," Horve, a second-year law student, said. "I wasn't satisfied with the hypocrisy of my superiors."

Shortly after Horve resigned members of the Schneider Hall Council, including the council president, vice president, treasurer and secretary, resigned to protest the handling of the situation by housing officials.

"We had lost respect for the people who handled the situation," Mike McCormick, former council president, said. Charles A. Earls, Bruce Towers coordinator of residence life, said he wouldn't comment on the matter.

Scheider head resident Charles Parrot and assistant head resident Tom Steinhein died a Daily Egyptian reporter that Earls "would be the person to talk to because he handled the situation."

Horve's actions did not constitute a arrest under Illinois law.

VanDerHoff pointed out discrepancies between Feirich's testimony and a statement he made to police shortly after Russell was arrested at the Daley Center Place in Chicago.

Feirich testified that during the trip to Chicago, he was sitting in the back seat of the 1979 Oldsmobile Cutlass driven by Russell and saw a "long gun" in the trunk of the car when Russell opened it.

VanDerHoff introduced photographs into evidence that he argued proved that a person sitting in the back seat of the car could not see into the trunk.
Explosion tears hole in jet

KAHULUI, Hawaii (UPI) — An explosion ripped open the fuselage of an Aloha Airlines jet carrying 56 people over Hawaii Thursday, forcing the plane to make an emergency landing on Maui and injuring 39 people, some critically, officials said. One person was reported missing.

Aloha Airlines Flight 243, a Boeing 727 en route from Hilo on Hawaii Island to Honolulu on the island of Oahu, was about 25 miles from Maui when the blast occurred, Transportation Department spokesman Marty Kali said.

She said the plane landed on the island's Kahului Airport "with the front portion of the plane open. Aloha Airlines said 95 people were aboard — 90 passengers and five crew members.

George Harvey, Federal Aviation Administration area coordinator in Honolulu, said 94 of 95 people aboard the plane were accounted for. He said he had no idea where the missing person was.

states that SIU-C has lost 25 faculty members to other states since last fall.

Petit said he knew of about 115 faculty members that have been approached by universities in other states. He said the salaries being offered by other universities range from $10,000 to $14,000 more than faculty pay at SIU-C.

"We have some very good faculty who are marketable and have made an effort to stay here," Petit said, adding, "but others can't make the sacrifice in the face of what's going on."

Petit said the efforts for a tax increase aren't "simply self interest," but that an increase is needed for the "benefit of the entire state."

"Education is what gives society its economic and social potential," Petit said. In a prepared statement to the House appropriations committee, he stated that "education must be the first priority to undergird the creative enterprise in this state."

"For every dollar we bring into the University, about $4 is brought into the city," Petit said. "We (SIU-C) are the biggest employer in the area," he said, adding that the University brings about $25 million into the local economy.

Teaching equipment, union classroom and office space, faculty morale is low, Petit said, and low morale has a negative impact on the students.

Petit also cited the "substantial curtailment of summer semester course offerings and the decrease in the purchase of library materials, as other factors leading to negative student morale."

"And there still looms the specter of another tuition increase," Petit said. Petit said the committee's reaction to his testimony was "simply hard to read. They were very cordial and didn't ask any hostile questions," he said. "I think the sentiment of the Legislature is good. It was a very good feeling."

"We are forced to ask ourselves, how can we make similar testimony to the House appropriations committee in late May or early June. State education officials have said that Illinois is able to sustain the $50 states in revenue for public schools in relation to personal income."

Although the University has not specified the increase it is seeking, local legislators have indicated they would support a 0.5 percent increase in state income tax.

Daily Egyptian, April 29, 1988, Page 7
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — The government, in a significant concession at the start of the renewed peace talks with the Contras, said Thursday the U.S.-backed rebels could immediately begin receiving humanitarian aid inside Nicaragua.

The Sandinistas offer reflected a change from their earlier insistence that the rebels must gather inside seven cease-fire zones before receiving aid, which comes primarily from the United States.

Leaders of the Contra rebels arrived in the capital Thursday to resume the high-level talks with the government amid signs of a growing dispute between rebel political and military officials.

The five-member rebel political directorate and military leaders arrived on different flights. Observers said the separate travel arrangements underscored the growing divisions between Nicaraguan Resistance political leader Adolfo Calero and military commander Enrique Bermudez.

Bermudez, a former leader of the national Guard under former Anastasio Somoza, is reportedly unhappy with the pace process that began with the signing of a 60-day cease-fire accord March 25 in the southern border port of Sapoa.

The high-level peace talks that resumed Thursday were called for in the Sapoa accord. The talks are aimed at reaching an agreement on ending the 7-year-old civil war, which has left about 50,000 dead.

In the course of the discussions, the rebels rejected a Sandinista offer to extend the two-month cease-fire, which began April 1, for 20 days.

"To push back the cease-fire is the same as putting the other issues of this process on the back burner. We want no delays," said Contra spokesman Bosco Matamoros.

The Sandinistas have insisted on negotiating a separate agreement on the cease-fire zones before they will discuss a more lasting peace and reintegrating their forces into Nicaraguan society.

The Sandinistas' insistence on linking the zones to the permanent cease-fire was a tactic aimed at "preventing us from receiving any new humanitarian aid," Man­tamoros said.

"The Sandinistas are stalling the process to keep us from getting food and other assistance. They are trying to starve us into surrender," Matamoros said.

In rejecting the Sandinistas proposal, Deputy Foreign Minister Victor Hugo Tinoco said, "We are trying to resolve that which is supposedly their biggest problem, hunger among their troops.

The Sandinistas proposed that the international Red Cross begin distributing humanitarian aid immediately.

Elephant situation is pretty 'Stony' this year

By Antoinette Hayes
Staff Writer

This year's Springfest will be a slight disappointment to anxious elephant riders, Don Castle, assistant University public relations coordinating, said Thursday.

Castle said one of Springfest's main attractions, Stony the Elephant, will not appear because its owner's insurance policy does not meet the University's approval.

Castle said the owners have an insurance policy, but "the policy is not the right dollar amount required by the University. The issue about the elephant is "pretty technical," Castle said, but some of the problems include the type of liability insurance and the insurance company.

The cancellation of Stony the Elephant "won't deter from Springfest, but it is a unique event because many people don't get to ride elephants," Castle said.

The SIU-C chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon will hold its seventh annual Keg Roll Saturday to raise money for St. Jude Children's Hospital in Memphis, Texas.

Ten fraternity members will participate in the 16-mile roll, which will begin at midnight Friday at the St. Louis Arch. The runners will arrive at the Old Main Mall at 2 p.m. Saturday at the request of St. Jude Maddox, Keg Roll chairman.

Each runner will run a two-mile leg, pushing an empty ball-bearing mounted keg. Each runner will run 12 miles by the time he arrives in Carbondale after the 14-hour trip, Maddox said.

The fraternity has set a $2,000 goal for the fundraiser, which would surpass last year's amount of $1,500.

The idea of the Keg Roll originated in 1979 as a response to actor Danny Thomas, St. Jude Children's Hospital founder and TKE member, St. Jude Children's Hospital, which is supported primarily by volunteer contributions, cares for children stricken with catastrophic diseases and conducts research on those diseases.

The owners have insurance, but the policy is not the right dollar amount required by the University.

Workshop focuses on computers

A daylong workshop Saturday at the Student Center will focus on neural networks and the possibilities for designing computers based on the physiology of the human brain.

The workshop will be sponsored by faculty from the departments of electrical engineering, computer science and physiology.

Neural computing may produce computers faster and more efficiently than today's most powerful supercomputers. Session material will be highly technical.

Those interested in attending should call the Division of Continuing Education at 536-7753.

Agency debates raising fees for fishing, hunting

By Pat Harrison
Student Writer

It may cost fishermen and hunters more to put food on the table, and campers may have to pay more for a night out.

The Department of Conservation may increase fees for fishing and hunting licenses and state fees, said Tamminga, a DOC spokesman. The DOC also may begin charging fees for what now is free, such as entering state parks.

"For some time, we have felt our fees are out of line in comparison to the cost of the services we provide and because of budget shortcomings," said Tamminga.

Several feeding sports and conservation groups are split over whether new fees should be imposed.

Strongly opposed to any increases, unless certain conditions are met, is the Illinois Sportsmen Legislative Coalition in Hana City.

"We stand pat in opposing increases that affect sportsmen unless other groups who use the parks, like hikers and birdwatchers, pay fees commensurate with sportsmen's fees," said Fred Kirkpatrick, president of the ISLC.

"I've got nothing against the other interest groups, but there are costs involved in obtaining the land and they're consuming that. It took money to acquire the land. In most cases, no money is needed to buying land," Kirkpatrick's suggestion that birdwatchers pay a fair share of DOC operating costs drew no opposition from an Audubon Society member.

Birdwatchers are nature enthusiasts and we've never contested having to pay our fair share," said Margaret Hollowell, an ex-president and currently a member of the board of directors of the Audubon Council of Illinois in Bloomington.

"We don't have any problems with an entry fee (to parks) because DOC is strapped for money. Pay those fees in other states and they have better facilities," she added.

John Kilpatrick, vice chairman of the Goldenrod Shawnee chapter of the Sierra Club, compared hiking to breathing.

"Why should we be charged?" he asked. "It's kind of like breathing. There is little cost to the state in terms of what hikers, or even campers, do. There is practically no maintenance for what hikers do.

"This sounds like an 'us versus them' thing -- conservationists versus sportsmen," he added.

However, Kilpatrick would be willing to modify his position if extra money was needed to keep state parks open.

"If the issue is state parks not being open because of a lack of money, I'd say charge user fees," he said. "I think state parks should be used by as many people as possible." The Illinois Association of Park Districts in Springfield strongly favors any fee increases, association director Ted Flickinger said.

"We feel the Legislature has given DOC a bum rap," he said. "The Legislature tells DOC it is getting fees and doesn't need any more money. The fees go into an account and not to DOC and it (DOC) isn't experiencing any budget increases. Very little of the fees goes back to improving facilities or park settings."

DOCS's budgeted proposal for fiscal year 1989, which begins July 1, is $135.5 million, about $8 million less than last year, said Tamminga. Of the $135.5 million, $98.6 million will come from the general revenue fund, he said.

Various taxes and fees are placed in the general revenue fund.

The smaller budget, said Tamminga, has prevented DOC from opening seven planned state parks, including a 5,800-acre site spread across Jefferson and Hamilton counties.

Budget constraints also have forced DOC to close two state parks and stopped it from expanding services at two other parks.

DOC personnel said that over 34.7 million people visited DOC parks, wildlife areas, fish and wildlife areas and forests last year. About 80 percent of the DOC fees are out of line for the fees that it does impose."

"If DOC doesn't have enough money after a percentage of sales tax money and fees are collected, then ISLC is not opposed to fee increases. Sometimes, we have come forward and said 'Since you don't have money for improvements, we're willing to accept an increase in fees.'

"Missouri's Department of Conservation has been financed by sales tax revenue and fees since 1977, an environmental administrator for the department said. "We've always been adequately funded," said Dan Diekneit.

In the coming fiscal year, $60 million will be generated for the Missouri DOC by taking.

Cairo project welcomes spring by building new park entrance

By Dana Schulte

Cairo Project Enterprise will welcome spring by building the new park entrance at 1 p.m. Saturday. "This is the head of community development in Cairo, and Saturday's event will be a "big, massive community work day to begin building the park into a real attractive tourist center."

About 500 residents are expected to help with the cleanup. The National Guard, U.S. National Forest Service and the State Department of Transportation also are helping and contributing materials for the new entrance, Poston said.

"Everybody is in this all together," he said.

The main focus of cleanup, Poston said, will be building a new, fort-like entrance to Fort Derajte State Park. "It will look like an old Army post from the 1800s," he said.

The new entrance will be in the form of an arch, supported by two piers and will have a smaller fenced on each side, he said.

This is the second year for cleanup. "It has to be done annually because it's situated between the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, where they meet, and they deposit driftwood on the park all the time," Poston said.

All the water in the United States from the Rocky Mountains to the Appalachian Mountains flow past that point, he said. "We collect water in 35 states of the Union and several provinces of Canada," Poston said.

Cairo residents want to build a platform to place the flags of the 25 states in, eventually. "We're going to ask the governors of the 10 states to send us a flag," he said.

The cleanup is only one part of the Cairo project to promote tourism and economical growth in the city. Future plans for the park include installation of playground equipment, concession stands and water fountains, he said.

The park is owned by the state of Illinois and is leased by Cairo. "It's a historical park," Poston said.

"General Grant had his west headquarters of the Union Army here during the Civil War," he said. "It was from here that he launched a siege on Vicksburg. That siege was the turning point of the war because he won control of the Mississippi all the way to New Orleans."

one-eighth of one percent of sales tax, Dickneitt said. Another $30 million will come from fees.

However, for such a plan to be implemented in Illinois with a 25 percent participation of a statewide referendum, Tamminga said.

"I don't know if (DOC) would be in favor (of such a referendum)," he said.

To get a referendum on the ballot would require 150,000 petition signatures, or a percent of the total votes cast in the last general election. No problem, said Kirkpatrick.

"There are 600,000 members in our coalition and we've got several other organizations, like the Illinois Wildlife Federation, Galena Association of Park Districts and the Illinois Environmental Council, that are willing to work with us on this," Kirkpatrick said.

"So, we've got plenty of help. I don't anticipate any problems in getting the correct number of signatures."

A spokesperson's group in Missouri spearheaded a similar drive, Dickneitt said.

"They got enough signatures to get it on the ballot and enough votes to pass it," he said. "Otherwise, I don't think it would have gotten through the House and Senate."

Currently, a Chicago accounting firm, David Griffith and Associates, is studying what it costs DOC to provide services and where it would be logical to raise fees, Tamminga said. He added that the results of the study will be presented to DOC next month.

MYTHS, MEN & BEERS

Drinking helps you meet and socialize with women.

FACT

It can also make you more aggressive, inappropriate, interruptive and sexually harassing with women.

One in 3 women will be raped in their lifetime—most of these attacks are alcohol related.

Try being a party person instead of a party animal. If you decide to drink, pace your intake or no more than 1-2 drinks per hour.

MYTH

Eat a banana every day.

FACT

Eating a banana every day will not increase your intelligence or boost your memory.

What You Should Know About Date RAPE

High Risk Factors:

SEX ROLE STEREOTYPES: Women are aware of stereotypes that prevent you from self-expression, such as "angry is un feminine."

- Men: Be aware of stereotypes that promote violence against women, such as "It's manly to use force."

IGNORING YOUR INSTINCTS:

Know that you have the right to set sexual limits, even if you are being pressured past your limits, you are right.

INDEFECTIVE COMMUNICATION:

Confidence is building when a woman starts to offend you, tell her. Tell them directly, honestly, and don't worry if you have to be firm.

Protect Yourself:

- Say no when you mean no, say yes when you mean yes, and be in touch with your feelings to know the difference.

- Defend your right to express your feelings and learn to do so assertively.

- Be aware of stereotypes that prevent you from self-expression, such as "Being passive is feminine."

- Be aware of specific situations in which you do not feel relaxed and in charge.

- Hear what the other person is saying. Don't guess. Don't react.

Remember:

- You and your partner have the right to say no, at any time, without feeling guilty.

- Saying doesn't mean a lack of manhood or womanhood.

- Saying doesn't mean that you are submitting.

- It does mean people are people, not objects, and have a right to voice opinions.

- Alcohol and drugs interfere with clear thinking and effective communication.

- Money spent on a date doesn't obligate either person to sexual favors.

Comedian plans to reveal all

Emo Phillips promises laughs, wierd monologue

By Lena Schulte

Emo Phillips has been described as a basket-case neurotic, an anorexic oddball, a one-man asylum and a comic genius. But who is the real Emo? He’s a comedian who had his own Cinemax special in 1986, and he’s appeared on the Letterman and HBO. He has had five appearances on the David Letterman show and one guest appearance on Dr. Ruth Westheimer’s “Sex in the City” program, which never aired. Phillips will perform at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday at BG’s.

“Emo Phillips at the Hasty Pudding Club,” his second album was released last year and appears to be doing better than his first album, “EM – 2.” He recently filmed a movie in which he starred as a knight, “Journey to the Center of the Earth.”

Although he makes his home on buses and in hotels nowadays, he is originally from National City, California. Phillips grew up in Chicago. Phillips interviewed from Boston, where he was performing, Phillips proved to be unpredictable and off-the-wall.

Q: Why and how did you get into comedy and what keeps you going?
A: Because I like to make people laugh. I figure if I can make people laugh, I’m already doing better than “Family Ties.”

Q: How long do you plan to stay in comedy?
A: Probably till I’m shot to death. What day is it?

Q: Wednesday.
A: I’ll have to throw tomorrow.

Q: Tell me about your experience on Dr. Ruth’s show.
A: She asked me if I had any sexual problems. I said the only problem I have is when I’m having sex. Your image comes into my mind and I can’t get aroused again for another month.

Q: How about the second one?
A: We’ll be right back.

Q: Will you be on David Letterman in the future?
A: David told me I’ll be on again and again when the shows are repeated.

Q: Which TV appearance did you enjoy most?
A: The HBO special, because I was able to do almost a whole hour without any commercial interruptions.

Q: And what was really nice was that I got to be in front of a real live audience. (It was shot at Harvard University, so it’s been made into a home video. You can buy it this summer.)

Q: Has your movie, “Journey to the Center of the Earth” been released?
A: No. It’s in post-production now. There’s a lot of technical stuff that has to be done. They have to dub in actor over my voice. The problem with the movie was that the words didn’t match up with my lips. It was like it’s in a different language and anything.

Q: Where do you plan for another movie in the future?
A: Oh, sure. I’ll be doing movies and maybe a book. I’m also writing a book.

Q: When will it be published?
A: When the government meets my demands.

Public Hearing Notice

Carbondale

East-West System

When: Public Hearing on proposal to complete the east-west link 15 in Carbondale.

Where: City Council Chambers, 607 College St.

Background. For many years there have been proposals to build the western portion of the east-west link through Carbondale for Route 15. Currently Walnut Street and Main Street function as paved one-way streets from Lewis Lane to University Avenue. Construction of the western portion of the circuit would entail building a new section of street from the intersection of Brook Lane and Walnut Street to the intersection of Walnut Street and Oakwood Avenue. Main Street would be widened from one-way to two-way for as far as Lake Lane, and the new connector street and Walnut Street would be widened from two-way to four-way.

On April 19, 1983, consultant studies were presented to the City Council. Both studies supported construction of the east-west link. The consultant plans, however, have requested a response from the City Council by mid-July in order to continue the construction of the public hearing scheduled for May 8. The public hearing will give people an opportunity to have levy a hearing. Carbondale for the summer opportunity to comment on this issue. Likelihood additions to the plan.

Jackson, who ended a series of three shows in Dallas on Sunday, said Justin "bear is classical, one buffalo and one bullide" when Scivetti gave Scivetti a peek at the company's new shoe-boot, which is a 4-inch boot instead of the regular full-length calf.

IT guitarit Scott Munson jams out some tunes at the free-forum area Thursday.

IT is not just a word
IT is a 'classic' band

By Richard Nunez
Entertainment Editor

It is a local rock 'n' roll band. That is, it is the name of the band.

It's musical repertoire consists of original and cover songs. The band covers "classic" rock songs -- not Top-40 songs, the band members would like to emphasize -- but obscure, classic songs such as "The Story in Your Eyes" by the Moody Blues, "The Real Me" by the Who and "I Want You" and "Everybody's Got Something to Hide, Except For Me and My Monkey" by The Beatles.

A lot of classic rock you hear in Top-40 for its era, Scott Munson, guitarit for IT, said. "We tend to play the more obscure songs that people like, but don't hear too often."

It consists of Munson, keyboardist Andy Hanson, bassist Todd Freeman and drummer Bill Lancaster. Dave Mylan is a temporary singer for the band.

It is scheduled to perform at 4:30 p.m. Saturday in the free-forum area during Springfest.

The band also covers songs by Genesis, Jethro Tull and Pink Floyd. Therefore, IT's music is complex and oriented around the synthesizer and guitar.

"We'd rather the covers complement our originals," Hanson said.

It's original music is reminiscent of the music of Traffic and early Genesis and Yes. Though the music is complex, the band members said they welcome the challenge.

"If you play something that challenges you, you ultimately become better," Freeman said.

"What we're finding out is people want to respect us. They're happy we can take the..."

Taking care of ‘business’

Students start up auto exports to West Germany

By David Gallianetti
Student Writer

For most students, outside work involves going to the library and doing some reading. But for one undergraduate, outside work has turned into a full-time job.

Dho Hyong Cho, a junior in marketing, has started a car exporting business with the company headquarters located in his dorm room, 302 South Haggard.

His company, Trans Auto of North America, advertises in West Am Sonntag, a West German newspaper with a circulation of about 1 million. Cho, 22, has received 10 requests for cars, and more are arriving daily.

Cho’s first ad appeared in West Am Sonntag on March 30. His biggest request to date is for 50 Pontiac Fiers and 50 Corvettes. If the sale goes through, at a profit margin of $1,000 per Fiero and $5,000 per Corvette, Cho said he would make $250,000.

“[In Germany] there are only about a dozen car dealers and they don’t have vehicles on the lot. I want to offer someone who wants to buy over there, it takes a week or two to get the car and dealers don’t go down in price. You either pay the sticker or take a hike. It is a system of making a sale is rather complex,” Cho said.

According to the second letter, Cho mailed a price out, and the customer that payment can be made with a letter of credit, a cashier’s check or a wire-to-wire money transfer.

Once the customer has agreed to purchase the vehicle, the car is sent to a freight forwarder and the shipment overseas to a German port. Once it arrives, a 25 percent import duty is added to the price of the car. An additional $210 is needed to bring the car up to German specifications.

Despite the added expenses, Cho says he still can save German car buyers a considerable sum of money. “Depending on the car, I can save the buyer anywhere from $2,200 to $8,000,” he said.

The business is a full-time job. During the interview his telephone rang constantly. Between the time it is seven hours ahead of Central Standard Time, Cho said he often stays up until 3 a.m. to answer new inquiries.

Cho said he got the idea for the business while he was sleeping one night.

“I researched it and figured out the pros and cons,” he said. “About 10 times or more I had second thoughts, but additional research just built my confidence up again.”

“[In order to make this work you need cash up front — and be prepared to lose some],” he continued. “I would say you need about $10,000, and out of that be ready to freely spend about $2,000. There are many hidden costs, like backing fees and large phone bills to deal with.”

Cho said he decided to call on his one-man operation Trans Auto of North America because it sounded like a ‘prestigious company’.

“My business cards have a picture of the world on them,” Cho said. “[You] have to look big and think big.”

Cho and his family came to the United States from Korea in 1973, after his father, who worked as an engineer for the United States in the Vietnam War, was offered citizenship. The family lives in Park Ridge, a Chicago suburb. Depending on his success with German consumers, Cho said he may expand the operation to other European countries.

“The conversion rate, that is the rate of foreign currency compared to the U.S. dollar, of several countries is good, so business could be possible,” he said.

Spain, Sweden, Finland and Austria are a few of the countries Cho is considering targeting. As for lifetime goals, Cho has big aspirations.

“If in 30 I want to have well over $1 million in cash and personal assets,” Cho said. “By the time I’m 40, I hope to retire with around $500 million.”

Cho said he plans to manage a Snaggy, a chain of restaurants in Chicago. He also plans to open a car dealership specializing in Ferraris and Porsches. Cho said the export business is teaching him valuable lessons.

ARE YOU A RAPIST?

As men, we need to realize our responsibility for rape. We need to ask ourselves if we have in any way been rapists — given other men permission to rape, or helped to create a climate where rape is accepted.

Do you ever use physical force to have sex, including with your partner, wife, or friend? Did you use this force because you thought the woman wanted it? If so, how often do you use it?

Do you have a position of power or financial advantage to obtain sex? Have you taken advantage of someone sexually (such as having sex with someone who was drunk and not aware? Have you ever been physically or verbally threatened, such as "NO!" and begged her to say yes to sexual advances?

Have you been physically or verbally threatened with violence or rape by someone who wanted sex, even if you didn’t think it to be rape?

Have you ever been physically or verbally threatened with violence or rape by someone who wanted sex, even if you didn’t think it to be rape?

Hay you encouraged other men to do anything of the above (such as laughing) or remaining silent?

Have you ever been verbally or sexual with someone who wanted sex or raping was an unexpected or unwanted way?

What are your most common reasons for raping other men?

Most men answer “yes” to some of these questions. What can we do to stop these things from occurring?

In doing things, don’t let this the "men’s problem." Rather, that sexual activity isn’t the way anyone should measure your worth. Preserve "no" on everyone's mind and let us practice what we preach.

If you want to do the right thing, please do the right thing.

Aids amendment passes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate agreed overwhelmingly Thursday to require Aids tests of felons convicted of drug and sex offenses, with the Senate pushed toward final passage of a massive bill funding research for the battle against acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

The Senate voted 56-4 for the amendment introduced by Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., to require routine confidential testing of people sentenced to state or federal prisons for drug and sex offenses, although the bill itself had little to do with Aids issues as widespread testing.

The battle against acquired immune deficiency syndrome — a package Nickles said would "cure acquirable and common sodomy."

The Senate twice defeated an effort by Helms to bar the use of any money to provide free needles or syringes to drug addicts. Lawmakers instead agreed to give the surgeon general power to pass, clean needles to drug addicts to prevent the spread of the deadly disease, approving amendments by Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, chairman of the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee.

The Senate refused Thursday to incorporate an amendment by Sen. Simpson of Wyoming said.

"The extension was already doomed by advance notice that President Reagan would veto the bill and the inability of the House, which passed the bill by 213-201, to override the decision.

The one-year alien amnesty program, passed in the 1986 immigration law, allows illegal aliens who entered the country before 1982 and met other conditions, to apply for legal status and remain in the country.

It was originally estimated that 3 million legal aliens would be eligible. The immigration and Naturalization Service expects applications to reach only about 1.7 million although thousands of crowding INS offices in a last surge to beat the deadline.

As of the middle of March, 674,000 had been granted legal status in the United States.

Another part of the immigration law provided an eight-month application period for illegal aliens who are farm workers.

Simpson said that the amnesty program is "working" and added that it has never been a more generous amnesty program in the history of the world with the possible exception of Argentina.

House votes against ban on tests of anti-satellite weapon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, for the first time in four years, refused Thursday to ban tests of a U.S. anti-satellite weapon, marking the first arms control effort to falter at Democrats during debate on a $29.5 billion defense bill.

The House then turned its attention to a proposal to hold Moscow also refrained from larger tests.

The surprise refusal, on 200-197 vote, followed the rejection of a Republican-sponsored proposal to put $100 million into a satellite to destroy anti-satellite, or ASAT, weapons.

Although the House sent mixed signals on the issue, the Air Force — because it kept losing — did not seek any money for the ASAT program that uses a homing missile launched into space from a high-flying F-15 fighter.

For the past three years, at the urging of Rep. George Brown, D-Calif., the House approved one-year ASAT tests. In all three previous measures, and his proposal for a permanent ban, the measure applied only if Moscow did not test its ASAT system.

The House also considered a Democrat-sponsored proposal to require the Energy Department, which runs the nation's nuclear weapons program, to prepare for a nuclear test ban by setting up a program to assure adequate maintenance in the absence of tests over 1 kiloton.

There are still a host of issues to be resolved on the massive bill, a measure that reduces defense spending for the fourth consecutive year, and it is likely to be on the House floor in the second week of May.

Senate denies extension of alien amnesty deadline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate refused Thursday to kill a filibuster aimed at ending the Senate extension of the alien amnesty deadline, at which time the aliens facing a midnight May 20 deadline to sign up or lose their chance for legal status in the United States.

"The game has nine innings," Assistant Senate Republican leader Alan Simpson of Wyoming said. "The ninth inning is here."

"With this vote, we have indeed signaled," Simpson said. "May 20, the deadline amnesty will end."

Simpson urged members of Congress and others to spread the word that there will be no extension of the amnesty program.

The Senate voted 56-40, 20 less than the required 60, to cut off a debate on a House-passed bill that would have extended the alien amnesty program until the end of November.

The refusal to kill the filibuster assured no Senate action before the May 4 deadline, at which time the Senate will be in a weeklong recess.

But the extension was already doomed by advance $400 CASH FROM FORD AND PRE-APPROVED CREDIT FROM FORD CREDIT.

At Vogler Ford, we know how hard it is to get started financially. So here's what we offer. If you've graduated, or will graduate, with a Bachelor's or advanced degree between October 1, 1987 and January 31, 1988, you may qualify to $400 from Ford and pre-approved credit from Ford Motor Credit Company. To qualify for pre-approved credit, you need a valid employment beginning within 120 days of graduation and (2) a salary sufficient to cover normal living expenses plus a car payment, and (3) if you have a credit record, it must indicate payment made as agreed.

The $400 from Ford is yours whether you finance or not. Keep it or apply it to the purchase or lease of an eligible Ford or Mercury vehicle.

For all the details, contact us by call Program headquarters, toll-free, at 1-800-321-1536. But hurry! This limited time offer is only available between March 1 and December 31, 1988. So take advantage of the Ford/Mercury College Graduate Purchase Program now.
Men's golf to play with top teams

By Steven Walsh

The men's golf team will compete in a 15-team field at the Northwest Missouri Invitational today and Saturday in Lake Geneva, Wis. There will be 10 teams at the tournament, including golf powerhouse Ohio State.

"It's going to be a great tournament," golf coach Lew Hartzog said. "This is the kind of tournament I'd like to be able to play in more often.'

The team is coming off a third place finish at the Illinois State Invitational last weekend. It was in first place after the opening round, shooting a 288.

"We're beginning to wake up," Hartzog said. "We're a lot better team than we were just a few weeks ago. If you can shoot 288, you can play with anybody.

"We could easily have won at Illinois State, but the guys put a lot of pressure on themselves after the first round. I told them that they had to do something spectacular, but they had to do it was just as they did in their normal game." Hartzog said this tournament will help the team prepare for the Missouri Valley Conference championships next weekend.

"I'm feeling strongly that this will help us at the championships," he said. "After we beat Ohio State, it's hard to feel intimidated by Tulsa, Bowling Green or Illinois State.'

Hartzog said a big crowd is expected at the tournament. Golf legend Jack Nicklaus will be on hand to watch his son, Mike Gary, a freshman golfer with Ohio State.

Rea gets 2 athletics awards

By Troy Taylor

When swimmer Lori Rea was named the recipient of the SIU-C Female Athlete of the Year and the Outstanding Leader-Athlete awards, she immediately called a friend in Iowa City, Iowa.

"I was pretty excited when I called them," Rea said. "My mom asked me if my head was going to be bigger.

The awards culminated an outstanding four-year career for the 22-year-old All-American. Rea will graduate as a public relations major with a 3.8 grade point average, the highest of any graduating female student-athlete at SIU-C.

"Lori is exactly what people were thinking of when they defined the term student-athlete," swimming coach Doug Laugram said.

Rea is training for the Olympic trials in the 800-yard butterfly and the 50-yard freestyle. She participated in the 1984 trials.

"Swimming as a freshman, I never would have imagined that," Rea said. "So many people have helped along the way. I'm really grateful for the opportunity they gave me.'

Jordon's 50 gives Bulls win over Cavs

CHICAGO (UPI) -- Michael Jordan showed his game-high 50 points in the second period Thursday night to pace the Chicago Bulls to their first postseason victory in three years, a 106-95 decision over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

The second game of the best-of-five opening-round series will be Sunday in Chicago. The Bulls' playoff losing streak dated back to 1985.

The Cavaliers played without guard Ron Harper, who was out with a sprained ankle. His status for Sunday has yet to be determined.

Tummins makes adjustment from shortstop to outfield

By Troy Taylor Staff Writer

Kim Tummins said she had to make some adjustments in the way she played defense when softball coach Kay Brechtelsbauer moved her from the infield to right field at the start of the season.

"I was leading off the batting order, no changes were necessary," Tummins, a 19-year-old freshman, was named the Gateway Conference Player of the Week after hitting .571 in four games last week. The entire team out performing her batting average 37 points.

"She has more power than most lead off batters," Brechtelsbauer said. "She can get on with a walk, but she can also hit a double or a triple. Those extra-base hits are important because we don't have to give up an out by using a bunt to move her over."

An aggressive stance at the plate is what enables Tummins to hit for power, even though she is only 5-feet, 2-inches tall. "The easiest thing to do is to hit the first pitch," Tummins said. "I've always been told that if I like the first pitch, I should take a swing at it.

Tummins knows when not to swing, too. She is mindful that the primary responsibility of a lead off batter is to get on base. Already she holds the school record for walks in a single season with 21. Her on-base percentage is .334, second on the team behind Shelly Gibbe. Tummins attended Memphis Catholic High School in Memphis, Tenn. She was an all-conference shortstop for three seasons before coming to SIU-C.

* The Salukis' infield was already set, however, with Mary Jo Firnbach at third, Theresa Gramsak at short and Shelly Gibbe at second, so Brechtelsbauer moved her to right field.

"I've had a tough time adjusting to that side of the field," Tummins said.

Brechtelsbauer said Tummins is still learning to react immediately to fly balls hit to her position.

Aided by improved reactions and her speed, Tummins was able to make catches on the run in Saturday's sweep of Northern Iowa.

When it comes to back-peddling after fly balls over her head, though, Tummins said she remembers it is a shortstop at heart. "The main thing is to keep going back on those long balls," she said. "As an infielder, I'm still not used to it."

Softball team doesn't feel any pressure

The softball team will end its regular season this weekend against Gateway Conference defenders against Wichita State and Southwest Missouri.

Senior Shelly Gibbe, 25-16 overall and 8-6 in the conference, played Wichita State (7-24, 1-5) at 2 p.m. Friday and Southwest Missouri (7-24, 2-5) at noon Saturday at AAW Fields, across from the Recreational Center.

To stay in the thick of the conference race, the fourth-place Salukis can afford no losses.

Despite that, freshman third baseman Mary Jo Firnbach said the team is not feeling any pressure.

"We have a lot to lose, but on the other hand we don't," Firnbach said. "We don't have a reputation to uphold. We can go out with a positive attitude. We'll give it our best shot."

Firnbach, who is batting .281, has been a strong factor defensively for the Salukis. She is an awesome club, I enjoy games.

"In terms of her defense I don't know if there are any better third basemen in the conference," Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said. "She has a great temperament. She's consistent and great to work with."

The Salukis will need sure-handed defenders on the field again against Wichita State.

Wichita State is led by junior pitcher Patty Bautista, who Despite a 2.42 earned run average on the mound, is hitting a team-high .306 with 12 runs batted in.

Senior Sue Gasper is Wichita State's other power hitter with a .266 average and is Hibla.

Brechtelsbauer said Southwest Missouri has two capable pitchers in Joel Smith (4-9) and Michele Chia (4-17), Smith has a 2.61 ERA and Chia a 2.79 ERA.

"Southwest is always problematic for us," Brechtelsbauer said. "Both pitchers are excellent. They are an awfully good club, I thought by now they'd be in the thick of things."

The Salukis split with Southwest Missouri at the Missouri Invitational.
Former basketball coach recalls 1967 NIT champions

Jack Hartman, who coached the 1966-67 men's basketball team to the National Invitational Tournament championship, reminiscing about that team at a brunch celebrating the 75th anniversary of SIU-C athletics.

Hartman was the featured speaker at the event, held Thursday at the Student Center.

"The thing that truly exemplified that team was that the sum of the parts was greater than any one part," Hartman said. "We had kids who played critical roles, who in truth, were not great athletes. But they did their jobs to well they fit in."

Women's tennis triumphs over Illinois State in GCAC

The women's tennis team took a big step toward its third Gateway Conference championship by beating Illinois State, 61-41, Thursday in Macomb.

The victory moved the third-seeded Salukis into the semifinal round against defending champions and No. 1 seeded Western Illinois at 10 a.m. today.

Salukis won all six singles matches against the Redbirds. SIU-C's C-Elisabeth Kowalewski, completed three sets to beat Jan Phillips, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

Special Olympics is near Jim's heart

Jim Hart can still remember the first time he attended a Special Olympics event. "It was 1974 or '75, and the student participants, through Bill O'Brien, then head of the recreation department, asked me to come down," Hart said.

"I had several motives for coming down. When I thought it would be a good chance to see some friends and some Special Olympians. But my motivation for coming changed after meeting the athletes.

Since then Hart has been involved with the Southern Illinois Special Olympics, which was held Thursday at McAndrew Stadium.

"It's inspirational," Hart said. "I've seen it many times, if I had tried as hard as these people do, I probably made all pro every year.

Athletes representing decades were also recognized at the brunch.

After an eight-year SIU-C coaching career in which he won 144 games and lost 44, Hartman became a coach at Kansas State.

Hartman now lives in Manhattan, Kan., and is a television analyst for Kansas State basketball.

He said he likes doing television because it keeps him in close contact with the game and other coaches.

Two things contributed to the NIT team being a media attraction even before it made the finals, Hartman said.

"One thing was that we were Division II at the time," said, "and this was the first time the NIT invited a Division II team. The second was that the Salukis was our nickname. The New York media did a lot of clever things with that."

The decision to play in the NIT rather than accept the NCAA Division II bid was a difficult one to make, Hartman explained.

He said the NCAA gave the Salukis 11 hours to make the decision, but the NIT had not yet offered an invitation. Even at the risk of not playing any postseason games, the team voted unanimously to wait for the NIT.

Former Saluki and pro football star Shane Gooden, a candidate for SIUC-U athletic director, said he would like to see a different athletic department by delegating a candidate for athletic director.

"I think any good administrator, businessman or even a sports coach understands things when he tries to do it all," Hart said Thursday in an interview at McCasland Stadium during the Saluki-Olympic. "The job of a leader is to perform a particular task with quality and surround himself with people who are expert in their abilities."

The concept has been associated with the University since he played football from 1967-69, and is the former chairman of the 1988 Saluki basketball team.

"Funds are a big problem for this athletic department," Hart said. "It appears more than ever we can raise the less chance of getting back in sports. There's a lot of talk about cutting some sports, and one game was cut this year. But that depends on raising substantial funds."

"Saluki athletics needs new champions," Hart said. "People who appreciate the effort. Don't let athletes put forth and will make a financial commitment to show their support."

Hart said he considered applying for the job when former AD Jim Livengood left last August to become the AD at Washington State. He didn't decide to apply, however, until Livengood suggested he might encourage him.

"There's currently is co-owner of several restaurants in the St. Louis area with former Cardinal teammate Dan Dortdor. He is active in the management of more than 300 persons in retail business. Hart played pro football with the St. Louis Cardinals and one year with the Washington Redskins in his 18-year career."

"I don't think saying that experience puts me in the same category as others," Hart said, "but I think being AD would be one of the most positive career moves I could make to this University."

Hart also is a color commentator for the Saluki football games.

Runners to debut on new facilities

The men's and women's track teams will see their first competition on the new track facilities at McCasland Stadium Saturday.

The track meet scheduled to be completed in August, will be the site of the 15-team Saluki invitational.

Coach Bill Cornell and women's coach Don DeNoon are pleased with the natural surface tested in the meet.

"I've been trying to talk up the meet with our freshmen, because the track is fast," DeNoon said.

Cornell said, "It's exciting that we got so many teams involved. It's encouraging for our first meet." The teams competing in the men's division of the seven-scored meet will be Western Kentucky, Alabama, Illinois, SIU-E, Lewis College, Indiana, Eastern Illinois, Memphis State, Mississippi, Murray State, William Jewell and Southeast Missouri and Indiana State.

The women will run in the same track meet as the men. Teams will include Southwest Missouri, Western Kentucky, Alabama, Illinois State, SIU-E, Lewis College, Eastern Illinois, Memphis State, Mississippi, Murray State, Wisconsin, Chicago State, Northeast Mississippi and Southeast Missouri.

DeNoon said the overall field will be competitive. "It's a pretty good field all the way through. We'll have quality people there. We're deep," he said.

Cornell hopes the quality of the runners will increase in the future. "Hopefully we will get more class athletes. We're competing with the Drake Relays."

DeNoon hopes competing at home will give the runners an advantage. He said, "I think it's led good for the fact that they're home finally."

Cornell hopes the meet will get his athletes in a better track form before the conference. "They need to get excited about something," he said.

The meet could provide the competition for NCAA qualifying performances. The men's team is hoping Bret Garrett will qualify in the 800-meter run. Garrett qualified for the indoor championships in March. All-American John Ron Roper already has qualified in the discus.

The women are looking for outstanding performances. "Carol Ann Charles, a former Saluki in the triple jump, and Roseane Vincent in the 800," Lisa Judicin at the 10,000 and Dora Kyrisco at the 400.

Baseball team needs 2 wins

By Dave Miller
Staff Writer

It's time for the baseball team to make its move. The Salukis will have one game out of first, head into Kansas for a four-game weekend series against the Jayhawks, followed by a home series with Creighton at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Saluki coach Ichiy Jones believes the team must win the series with Kansas to have a chance of making the conference.

"This is a very important weekend with a four-game series at home against Indiana State. Wichita State ends its season at Creighton. The Salukis will have a 2-1 overall and 7-5 in the Valley, enter the series with their bats scorching. In this week's games against Murray State and St. Louis, they scored 37 runs on 37 hits. However, the Salukis will face better pitching this weekend, Wichita State, 20-13 and 8-4, leads the conference with a 3.70 ERA."

Saluki pitcher Dale Kuiten (5-4, 4.31 ERA) will start one game against David Haas (8-3, 3.10 ERA). Haas is second on the Shockers' all-time victory list with a 14-4 career record. Lee Meyer (1-1, 2.43 ERA) will pitch the second game for the Salukis. Wichita State has yet to name a starter.

In game three, Rich Campbell (5-2, 4.15 ERA) will pitch against Shocker Greg Frummett (5-4, 3.92 ERA). Wichita State pitcher Pat Cenedo (5-4, 2.31 ERA) will go in game four against a Saluki pitcher, who has yet to be determined.

"Everybody has problems with their first four," Jones said. "Some batters are having a good year with your bats. Our players have got to know that, in those ballgames, they have to generate six, eight, 10 runs or whatever it takes to win." Dale Meyer will be in middle relief for the Salukis with Shane Gooden in the stopper's role.

Joe Hall may not be behind the plate because of a sore thumb on his glove hand. This could be trouble for the Salukis. Wichita State has been successful in 68 of 109 stolen base attempts.

"I don't know how much Joe Hall will catch," Jones said. "Speed will be a factor. Our pitchers have to hold the line. They're going to run and we're going to run if we get the chance."

Jones said one way to stop Wichita State's running game is keep runners off the bases. The Shockers' batting average is .308. Third baseman Dan Saley is second in the Valley with a .380 average.
