Conference Will Probe New Communications

Sessions Begin, Today, With Laser Seminar

"Modern Communications as Related to Education" will be the subject of a series of public conferences headed by Herbert F. Trotter Jr., chairman of the board of General Telephone and Electronics Laboratories, Inc., today and Friday.

The two-day series of programs will get under way this afternoon with a seminar on "Press in Communication" at 2. A 4-panel discussion on "The Role of Communication in Education" will be held, both will be in Ballroom B of the University Center.

Friday's meetings will include discussions of "Space Age Communications" at 9 a.m. and "What Industry Demands of Today's Graduates" at 10 a.m. in Ballroom B of the University Center.

The public is invited. The series is sponsored by the School of Technology.

Trotter, holder of a Ph.D. in physics and a former teacher of U.S. Department of State for his experimental research in the use of the laser as a communication tool, has been instrumental in development of the primary fuse in World War II, which caused shells to explode when they came near him before the impact.

More recently Trotter has become interested in educational television. While at SIU he is a member on use of television and other modern communications.

Colombian Group To Visit Campus

Ten Colombian community development workers from the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, U.S. Department of State, to make a one-month survey in the United States. "It is hoped that the visit to this country will enable the group to become acquainted with community development projects in the U.S. and Puerto Rico, with research being done by universities in the field of community development," Frank H. Sehnert, SIU supervisor of international programs, said.

While visiting the campus, the group will meet with Robert Jacobs, coordinator of international programs, Robert Kriel, director of SIU Community Development Service, Richard Franklin, director of SIU Community Development Institute, and Anto- nio Lozano, rector of SIU Latin American Institute.

Guitarist Featured in Convocations

Alirio Diaz, Venezuelan guitarist, will present today's convocation programs at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Diaz's program will range from the melancholy cadences of the Incas, to the complicated rhythms of Brazilian or Venezuelan dance, to the haunting Argentinian "Videla," and to the spontaneous songs of Mexico.

Critics have said that in "Alirio Diaz's hands the guitar becomes an inspired voice in the performance of folk music or works based on folk music."

Diaz was born in Venezuela. He received his musical education at the Caracas Conservatory of Music where he studied guitar, theory, harmony, composition, history and aesthetics of music.

Many-Tongued Problems Baffle Secretaries at Languages Office

By Bill Marchese

Ask Linda Foster a question like "How do you put a German crossbow together," and you might get a straightforward answer. She knows.

Miss Foster, a student secretary working the Department of Foreign Languages, has learned a great deal about crossbows. She was asked by a student who ordered a crossbow direct from Germany to translate the accompanying instruction sheet into English. The instruction sheet, when unfolded, was the size of a pothole.

"It was very complicated," she said.

Situation like this are not uncommon for the secretaries working in the Foreign Languages Department. Once, Miss Foster answered a phone call from the audio-visual department. Two non-English-speaking Frenchmen were trying to take film-making courses, and they wanted to see storyboards for their film, which was the size of a pothole. An instructor of French was summoned to the phone to clear up the misunderstanding.

Miss Foster, whose major in foreign languages, is fluent in German, Russian and English. She is taking beginning courses in Spanish. She was an exchange student from Southern to Hamburg, Germany, where she spent one year studying the German language.

She learned the basics of grammar at Southern before going to Hamburg. It was helpful in the long run, she said, but when she arrived in Germany she couldn't understand a word of what the people were saying.

After a few weeks in Hamburg, listening carefully to the natives, her classmates and teachers, she had little trouble with the language.

"Even the slow students picked up the language in about three weeks," she said.

When you hear only German day and night for a period of time, and when you are faced with the necessity of learning the language in order to live, you learn fast, Miss Foster said.

Foreign language teachers could be more helpful by teaching the language as it is spoken in the native country, she said.

"Instead teachers underestimate and misjudge a student's ability to learn a foreign language as it is spoken over there."

Many Americans make the mistake of thinking they can be understood in any foreign country, they speak English slowly and loud. This only adds to the impression of the "Ugly American" that many foreigners have, Miss Foster said.

"However, when foreigners hear an American speak their native language, they respond in very warm and friendly, speaking the language as it is only a common courtesy," she said.

Increasing cloudiness and continuing warm. High in upper 30s to middle 40s.

Death by Fire

(First of Two Articles)

Homecoming weekend, 1964—at about midnight on Saturday, there were two simultaneous events taking place SIU students, causing concern to the security force.

One was a small fire discovered smouldering under a smouldering pile of debris and ashes within minutes.

The other was the game. It caught fire were about 150 SUI-Evansville students watching the game. Wednesday night. J.

No one perished in the blaze, and, except for Carrie, the permanent resident of the establishment, no one was hurt.

And Carrie's loss was one of personal and personal belongings, not physical. Her building had burned to the ground, physical, and that they filed from the burning seemingly in good fashion.

However, the single day was not a matter of time too many people trying to get out at the same time.

There was a rear door in the building, but it was usually kept locked and the fire didn't head in that direction. (This is a common practice by several students outside who were concerned that someone might be trapped in the back part of the building if there was a fire.}

At the time, many students grieved about the fire, but let them explain their thoughts on the event.

Students' Pet Peces

In the menagerie of pet pees the instructor who goes to class unprepared insists that you stay and listen to either his boring listlessness or droned up pes. After all, just because a student's opinion is no guarantee that he has to be taught anything.

Another "favorite" is the professor who defends his class and is no part of the tests will be taken from lectures. Note: From this time hence the lectures will be given at a speed similar to that of a jet in flight. This also makes for a more enjoyable school term.

The professor is quite often the subject and who joyfully announces that tomorrow's assignments is to read the next 220 pages. This is especially helpful when you have two or three professors in one room.

Next is there the "rum­ bler." This is the professor who barely speaks while lecturing. If you sit beyond the first row you may miss his whispered tones. Let it be known, however, that the jokes come loud and clear.

Students Not Entirely to Blame

The current cheating scandal at the Air Force Academy involving a student and other phrases points up the problem of dishonesty in the American educacation system.

Surely if cheating exists in the service academies which pride themselves on their honor systems, there must be widespread dishonesty at other institutions.

Terry K. Farmer's citation was shown by the Evansville people to our team by giving them a standing ovation. This is a real case of good sportsmanship.

Another problem is the return match between the two teams. Let us remember one thing: The small thing of 300 students who were stuck way up at the corner of the stadium made as much noise as the rest of the 10,000 partisan fans. At least they tried. Coach Hartman commented about the obvious interest of spectators in how school spirit and how much it means to the team. Remember, there are a lot of games coming up at the Arena. Let's start filling that place up and don't sit on your hands—make some noise.}{

'Our Economy Is Excellent,'

President Johnson Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) - Here are textual highlights of President Johnson's economic message to Congress today:

"I am pleased to report that the state of our economy is excellent; that the rising tide of our prosperity, drawing new strength from the 1964 tax cut, is about to enter its fifth consecutive year; that, with sound policy measures, we can look forward to uninterrupted and vigorous expansion in the year ahead."

"The record of our four past years has been one of simultaneous advance toward full employment, price stability, and international balance. Since 1960 a new factor has emerged to invigorate private efforts. The vital origin of difference has come from government policies which have sustained a steady, but noninflationary, growth of markets."

"The promise of the tax cut for 1964 was fulfilled. Production, employment and incomes jumped ahead. Unemployment was whittled down steadily."

"The task of economic policy is to create a prosperous America. The unfinished "ask of prosperous Americans is to build a Great Society."

"Purposeful expenditures, stimulative tax reduction and economy in government operations are the three weapons which, if used effectively, can relieve our society of the costs and consequences of waste."

"I do not believe recessions are inevitable. We can head them off, or greatly moderate their length and force - if we are able to act promptly."

The Congress could reinforce confidence that jobs and markets will be sustained by insuring that its procedures will permit rapid action on temporary income tax cuts if recession threatens. At such a time, it may be appropriate to employ idle or potentially idle resources in sound programs of public expenditure."

"I count on the sense of public responsibility of our labor leaders and our industrial leaders to do their full part to protect and extend our price stability."

New Premier to Continue
Iran's Pro-Western Policy

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - The assassin's bullet that struck down Premier Hassan Ali Mansour will bring no major changes in Iran's internal or pro-Western foreign policy. This was made clear by the new premier, Amir Abbas Hoveida.

After presenting his Cabinet to President Wednesday he said:

"As can be observed from the composition of the Cabinet, all of them are men who were used by Mansour. The new government does not intend any major changes in ministries."

"There will also be no change in Iran's foreign and internal economic and social policies," he said.

Government sources said the assassination will not affect Iran's dealings with Western oil companies. Similarly Iran's 10-year-old alliance with the West, particularly its ties with the United States and with the Central Treaty Organization, will not be shaken by the assassination, the sources said.

Taylor vs. Khanh: Who Will Go First?

“Now it’s Taylor or Khanh,” a Vietnamese officer said, “One or the other has to go.”

But a U.S. spokesman said it won’t be Taylor. The American soldier-diplomat has “absolutely no intention of giving up his post as ambassador here,” the spokesman said.

Washington authorities evidently hoped that a facade of civilian rule could be maintained in Saigon. The coup was reported to have caused no sense of crisis among Johnson administration officials.

The military leaders who indicated they intend to operate as far as possible within the legal framework of civilian government and to retain plans for early selection of a National Assembly.

There was no reiteration of a South Vietnamese warning to U.S. military bases not to fire unless fired upon.

Wright Junior College Staff Given Vote of Confidence

CHICAGO (AP) — The right of a teacher to select text books and other instructional material for his courses was questioned in a dispute over a James Baldwin novel, was endorsed Wednesday by the Chicago Board of Education.

The board ruled that school Sup’t. Benjamin C. Willa and the staff of Wright Junior College may choose any books deemed necessary for a course.

At issue is the Negro author’s “Another Country,” required reading in some courses at the city-operated junior college. A sales executive, Raymond A. Snyder, 37, began the controversy two months ago when he objected to the novel after it was assigned to his daughter in a literature course at the school.

The book deals, in part, with homosexual and heterosexual activities.

However, in Springfield, it was a different story. Rep. John Lewis, D-Marshall, called the Baldwin book “the filthiest book I ever read.” He opposed the junior college’s appropriation and said he wants the dean of Wright Junior College to appear before the Legislature to read passages from “Another Country.”

“I’m not for voting taxpayers’ money to an institution that has such a book as this classified as cultural reading on its required list,” Lewis said.

State GOP Leaders Introduce Reapportionment Bill in House

By the Associated Press

A reapportionment bill dividing the state into 59 new House districts has been intro­duced by Illinois House Rep­ublican leaders.

The new plan calls for the overlapping of some county lines. Under this proposal, Chicago would have 21 dis­tricts, the Cook County subur­ban area nine districts, and downtown 29 districts.

Albert Hachmeister, GOP minority leader, said the bill is based on a 170,000 per dis­trict population with a variance not exceeding 10 per cent.

Proposed districts would overlap the county lines of Peoria, St. Clair, Madison, Kane, Winnebago, Lake and McHenry.

Lake County would be divided into two districts ex­tending across the northern and southern half of the county. Both districts would extend into part of McHenry county to the west of Lake County. The proposed 65th District would include Elgin, St. Charles, Batavia and Aurora on the eastern edge of Kane County. The remainder of Kane county would be placed in the 33rd District with Kendall County, DeKalb County, part of McHenry County, Boone County and part of Winnebago County.

The 33rd District would be the largest with a population of 185,082.

The smallest district would be the 31st in central Illinois, composed of Sangamon and Menard Counties. It would have 153,987 population.

Peoria County, except for the northernmost tip, would make up the 45th District. The northeastern portion of Peoria County would be in the 37th District with Marshall, Stark, Bureau, Henry and Whitaum counties.

In the southwest, the proposed 58th District would be composed of small geographi­cal portions of northeastern St. Clair and southwestern Madison counties.

The remainder of Madison County would be the 54th Dis­trict. The remainder of St. Clair County would be in the 34th District. Alton and Washington counties.
Rushees Went to See, Not to Be: Some Saw and Were Conquered
By Tim Ayers

Raymond N. Fuller, Evanston, went through fraternity rush knowing that he was not going to pledge. He attended only for the experience, and to see how it was conducted. Fuller’s reaction was that rush, which ended last week, seemed to operate very smoothly, however, he also said, “I really don’t think three days is enough time to talk and really get a justified opinion of your future brothers.” Fuller also thought a conversation with only a few members of a fraternity did not give a true picture of the whole organization.

This was one impression of winter rush ’65. But, there are as many reactions to rush.

In Class Your Vision Really Does Count

Don’t take a chance on your sight for vanity’s sake. We offer complete glasses, len­ ses and a selection of lots which border Forest Hills Field Station near the western boundary of Illinois, almost directly west of Cobden. Entering to the southern­most tip of the state, the Uni­ versity owns 1 acres of Fort Massac Park. The spot is lo­ cated near Metropolis.

Much of the land owned by SIU has come from private benefactors interested in edu­ cation, or from alumni. One such grant offered the University was made in 1954 by the Rev. Raymond Alex­ ander, a Baptist minister.

The grant consisted of three lots which border Forest Street, between Mill and Grand Avenue. The grant was made on the condition the University al­ ways use the land as a bird sanctuary or other conserva­ tion purpose.

The University has stuck by the agreement, and the land is still for birds. It’s covered with beautiful scrub forest.

SII Official Visits Viet Nam,
Finds Cost of Living Is High

By Jack Roberts

The Carbondale housewife who grumbles about the rising prices of coffee and potatoes, would virtually be amazed if she carried a battle of catup to the checkout counter in downtown Saigon and saw $1.80 clang up on the cash register.

But that's the price Willis E. Malone, SII administrative assistant in the vice president's office paid for a small catup he bought the first 12 months he spent in strife-torn Viet Nam on a teaching assignment.

The professor who thinks it is cheaper to live and teach overseas has not been to Viet Nam, said Malone. Living costs in Saigon just about equal those in Carbondale, even though a U.S. dollar is worth 72 piasters, he added.

A plumber, the medium of exchange in Saigon, is worth a little more than a penny in America, from June, 1961, until August, 1963, when Malone, his wife Dorothy, and two daughters resided in Viet Nam, a dollar was worth about 72 piasters, although he said many Vietnamese offered him $1.50 and others 100 piasters for a dollar.

In some instances the cost of living exceeded that found in this area, Malone said.

"The first year was really expensive, but we received commissary checks, and the second year, and the cost of groceries was more consistent with U.S. prices," Malone said.

"Those who believe Americans living abroad get rich because of the currency are under a mis-conception, at least as far as Viet Nam is concerned," Malone said as he paused from telling about the vice president's office.

The easy-pay and lay-away plan of department stores is more convenient in America than it has been introduced to merchants in Saigon. Malone said cash was required for all purchases.

"Money went fast," Malone said. "merchants had three prices on most items. The lowest price was for the Viet-namese and middle price was for the French, and the highest for the Americans."

"In a sense it was easier to save money," Malone said, "because we had to pay cash for all items," The Malone paid no rent and utility bills while in Saigon, but he said, their food, clothing, tuition for their daughters and souvenirs were costly. Because of the extremely warm, humid climate we needed plenty of clothes, Malone said.

While Malone was busy in various parts of Viet Nam helping initiate the Vietnamese about the fundamentals of teaching, here's how prices were handled:

The University deposited his check for a second year, the cost of food, $500. The check was for only $100 to U.S. currency at the time. Malone said, but he pointed out that because of military restraints the teachers couldn't drive outside the Saigon city limits.

WILLIS MALONE

pondered what would happen if the cash in their U.S. bank accounts ran low and the university checks were late. It might take as long as six months to straighten out financial problems if anyone wrote a check without sufficient funds, he said.

Because of a lack of entertainment, the teachers had dinner guests quite often, Malone said, and, because of the high price of food, this proved to be high-cost recreation.

"It was illegal to give a dollar to the Vietnamese in the street who offered 100 piasters," Malone said.

"Americans were subject to deportation if they complied with those requests." Malone said the university personnel were flown to most teaching sites in Viet Nam. About 15 SII instructors are presently there, he said.

Gasoline, which is priced high in the U.S., was just the opposite in Viet Nam, Malone said, but he pointed out that because of military restraints the teachers couldn't drive outside the Saigon city limits.

Mike Miles Follows in Wake Of Brother on Swimming Team

By Roy Franke

When Kimo Miles returned to SIU this fall he brought Ralph Casey a gift that would gladden the heart of any swimming coach—his brother, Mike.

In his first year at SIU, Kimo proved to be one of Casey's most promising swimmers. And it appears that Mike may follow in his wake.

Younger brother Mike who celebrated his 19th birthday Wednesday, is predominately a sprinter, but in last week's opening freshman meet with Cincinnati he swam the 200 and 500-yard free styles.

In high school, though, Mike stuck to the shorter free styles. There he broke Kimo's 100-yard record of 50.8 with a 50.3 clocking. His best in the 50 was 22.5.

As a freshman last year, 20-year-old Kimo began his swimming career at Southern Illinois with the inevitable job of swimming behind the Salukis' 200-yard butterfly record-holder Dave Winfield.

But before the season was over, he was pushing the veterans in every race and was winning his share. When the summer rolled around, the big Hawaiian decided to give swimming an all-out effort. He found a job in Hindsdale working as a lifeguard, but more importantly found a spot to himself in the Hindsdale AAU swim team.

Thus he got a chance to swim competitively all summer while at the same time getting himself in what he now calls, "the best shape of my career."

He worked hard. He swam 2 1/2 hours each morning and another hour each evening, seven days a week. In the two months he was in Hindsdale, he only missed two practices.

The work became apparent in October. In one of SIU's annual pre-season invitational meets, Kimo became of age, swimwise. He smashed both school butterfly records with a clocking of 53.9 in the 100-yard fly and a 1:59.1 in the 200, compared to the old marks of 54.5 and 2:01.8.

Since the two record smashing performances, Kimo hasn't let up. He's consistently been around the two minutes in the 200, the 3:00 in the 500, the event he's now specializing in.

Against weak Nebraska in early this month, the 6-2 1/2 stockily built P.E. major almost made the record keepers go back to work. He splashed off a 1:59.7 in his specialty despite having been sidelined the week prior to the meet with a cold.

The effort brought praise from various sources, saunt Coach Ralph Casey called it "amazing, considering the circumstances" and "very encouraging," while Nebraska captain Tom Chambers said he "couldn't believe it." "I expected him to be tough but not that tough," said Chambers.

His father, Thomas, became swimming coach at Barbers Point, a U.S. Naval Air Station in Hawaii, when Kimo was five. There the youngster was introduced to the water at an early age.

It was through his father's enthusiasm and coaching that Kimo used to go to his father's workouts. There, as a prep schooler, he met a former SIU student.

Does Kimo have a goal in mind this season? He most certainly does. "I'd like to go 1:35 in the 200," he said. Although he didn't say it, that should be just about what it will take to place in the NCAA finals later this winter.

Last year that time was good for third in the nationals won by Fred Schmidt of Indiana with a time of 1:53.5. So, come March, Thom McAneny, the gangling Saluki distance ace, may have some help in trying to improve on last year's Saluki twelfth-place finish in the big meet.

Freshmen Back in Action Against St. Louis Saturday

Southern's freshman basketball team swings back into play Saturday against the frosh of St. Louis University after two setbacks last week.

The Salukis lost to unbeaten Evansville, 70-63, and southern Illinois, 86-63, last week. The losses were the fifth and sixth of the season for the frosh, who have won only two games.

The only victories of the season for coaches Tom McLaughlin and Fred Guballa's crew have come at the expense of Washington University and Kentucky Wesleyan. The victory over Washington snapped the Bears' six-game winning streak.

In the Wesleyan game, the Salukis tallied their highest point total of the season in toppling the Panthers 63-73.

The Wesleyan contest proved to be a prelude to a contest this week in the game of the night, pitting the second game of the night as the varsity scored 100 points to give the combined total of 192 points for Southern's two teams.

Although they are unusually short, the frosh have out-rebounded their opponents, 425-374 so far. In the other departments the frosh haven't fared so well though. They are behind in field goal shooting with a .368 percentage and in free throws with a point average. All in all the freshmen are averaging 68.6 points a game and 42.1 field goals a game.

The most recent of the frosh to be dropped from the roster Saturday for the varsity basketball team were Jerry Sager, whose 19-point total for a year ago. He is a 6-foot-1 pounder, also was a returning terror. He scored 84 points last year.

Giants Get Koy, Outalick Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) - Texas halfback Ernie Koy Jr., star of the recent Orange Bowl game, has been signed by the New York Giants of the National Football League right under the noses of the rival Pittsburgh Steelers and Houston Oilers.

No one is more pleased about the transaction than Frank (Pop) Ivy, former Oiler head coach and now Southwest scout for the Giants.

"Pop handled it," said Wellington T. Mara, Giant president. "We can't help it if we lost Ernie."

Koy said he took the terms of the offers by the two teams similarly. No one got a one-year contract from them, then I don't think the offers were similar," said an Oiler spokesman, implying the Houston offer was favorable, Can't have the same offer twice this week.

Evansville Game Boosts SIU To 3rd in Small College Poll

A loss has proved to be a gain for Southern's basketball team this week. The Salukis moved up from fourth to third in the United Press International poll of small college teams this week after their impressive showing against Evansville.

AIR FORCE ACADemy, Colorado Springs (AP) - Two members of the U.S. Air Force Academy varsity basketball squad were dropped from the roster Wednesday.

Bob Deck, sports publicity director, said he did not know whether they were implicated in the scandal at Elmira College.

The players were Scott Etney, senior guard from Wilmette, Ill., and Jerry Yankee, junior from San Antonio, Tex.

The two players' names were omitted from a roster released prior to the game against Brigham Young University Friday and University of Wyoming Saturday, both at the academy.

Basketball Coach Bob Spear said earlier "If any of my boys are involved in this scandal, I don't know about it."

Col. Richard Haeney, chief of the office of information, when asked about the basketball players, said, "We do not affirm, refute or even talk about reports involving cadets in the academy."

Etney is one of the stars of the team. He scored 26 points against Georgia State in the Gator Bowl game year ago. He is a 6-foot-1 inch, 170-pound speedster whose 171-point total for a 7.4 average was the best of the returning lieutenant this season. Yankee, a 6-foot-150-pound, also was a returning terror. He scored 84 points last year.

SIU Emergency Wagon Hits Student's Car; No One Hurt

The SIU Security Office's emergency wagon and a student's car were damaged in a collision about noon Wednesday at Harwood Avenue and U.S. 51. No one was injured.

Ralph Garrett, 22, a senior from Peoria, said he was turning south onto U.S. 51 from Harwood Avenue when the southbound police car struck his 1961 Falcon on the left rear side. Garrett said he never saw the red light nor heard the police car's siren. He added that the other car on U.S. 51 blocked his vision and he was watching a student who was crossing the street in the path of his car.

The emergency car was on route to the Arena in response to a call that a student had sustained a neck injury, Sgt. Luther Doniol, driver of the police car, said. The Carbondale police sent an emergency squad to handle the call after the accident, he added.

State Policeman S.L. Endicott said he would take statements from several witnesses before deciding what action to take in the case.

The left front fender of the emergency wagon was badly damaged and the left side of Garrett's car was smashed.

Finals in London

SIU's Schmitz Wins Place On U.S. Trampoline Team

By Joe Cook

SIU's Frank Schmitz came from behind Wednesday night to win second place in the World Trampoline Trials here and a trip to the finals in London Saturday.

Gary Erwin of the University of Michigan placed first in the elimination and will make the trip to London too.

Judy Wills and Nancy Smith, members of the Southern Illinois Women's Gymnastics Teams, also turned in winning performances and will go to London for the finals.

Miss Wills finished first but her teammate, Miss Smith, had a scare from Vicki Lynn Bolinger, a 13-year-old girl from Springfield, Ill. Miss Bolinger defeated Miss Smith the first time but was later defeated by Miss Smith in the double elimination tournament.

Miss Wills went undefeated in the meet.

The semi-finals of the men's division proved to be the most exciting of the evening in the SIU Arena. It pitted Danny Millman, the current world's trampoline champion, against Schmitz.

FRANK SCHMITZ

Earlier in the meet the two had competed and Millman defeated Schmitz. However, Schmitz was not eliminated because each entrant is permitted two defeats.

When the two competed again in the semi-finals, the crowd practically was on its feet with excitement. Schmitz managed to edge Millman, eliminating him, and then went on to compete against Erwin for the top spot.

This was the third time this year that Schmitz had defeated Millman. Schmitz and Millman twice at the Western Open in Tuscon, Ariz.

Dick Holzapfel of the State University of Iowa was selected by the United States Gymnastic Federation executive committee to be the team's official coach in London.
