SIU Will Award 4 Honorary Degrees

Robert Clifton Weaver, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the United States government, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Southern Illinois University during June Commencement.

Weaver will deliver the commencement address at the Edwardsville campus June 14 and will receive his L.L.D. there.

Phil David Sang, Director of the Illinois State Historical Society, has been invited to come to the Carbondale campus to receive an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters (L.H.D.) degree, according to Morris Library, that he be on campus to receive the honor.

Two others have been invited to come to Southern Illinois for honorary degrees in June but have not responded. They are Francisco Keppler, U.S. Commissioner of Education, Washington, D.C., an L.H.D., and George Wells Beadle, Chancellor of the University of D.C.

A total of 26 have been approved for honorary awards at SIU since 1900. Of these, all but three or four have come to receive their awards, an occupational rate.

There are no nominations this year for another category of honories, the Distinguished Service Awards.

1,200 Students Fail To Return Textbooks

Some $11,371 worth of textbooks have not been returned from winter quarter, according to Heine T. Stroman, director of the Textbook Service.

Stroman said approximately 1,200 students are on the delinquent list just released by Textbook Service. This list includes students who have not returned books at the end of the quarter.

"The $11,371 worth of textbooks which rests in the hands of these students is not an unusually high figure," Stroman said.

"Our loss of books is very slim. Only about one per cent of the missing books will be turned in by the end of spring term," Stroman added.

Delinquent students from winter quarter have bills ranging from $1 to $74.00.

Delinquent students are billed through the Bursar's Office.

Supreme Court Slows SIU Land Condemnation

The Illinois Supreme Court yesterday held up condemnation of 82 acres for SIU's Edwardsville campus.

The Madison County Circuit Court had awarded the land owner the right of the university to take the land by condemnation and had set a date of July 15, according to the Associated Press.

The high court reversed the circuit court and ordered it to hear evidence on the motion. Chief Justice Roy Soffing, who wrote the opinion, said the judge erred in ordering the university was empowered to take the land or in setting a date for the condemnation proceedings.

Langan urged the university did not need the land and that it did not have the authority to set up a university at Edwardsville.

SIU Seeks Re-Zoning Of Disputed Property

The executive committee of the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution of cooperation with SIU in efforts to re-zone the area.

Thursday calling for legal action to stop SIU's expansion into the city.

Meanwhile, the University, through President Dwayne L. Morris, asked the area north of East Grand Avenue now under dispute, be re-zoned for single family use, which would nullify plans of commercial builders to construct multiple unit dormitories.

President Morris made the request to re-zone the area with city officials in his office Friday afternoon.

The meeting was called at the request of the mayor, D. Blaney Miller and others who wanted clarification of University expansion plans and a chance to protest further the University's action in buying properties where private investors were building or expecting to build.

Other action to complicate the relationship between the city and the University came up at the Friday meeting when Mayor Miller said the city was requesting annexation of a part of the SIU campus in an effort to boost sales tax revenue by as much as $75,000 a year.

Miller said the city would benefit mainly to the extent of one half of one percent of the sales tax on transactions at the University Center.

He said the money was needed to off-set the increased city costs of the University expansion.

The Saturday resolution assuring SIU of the Chamber's good feeling regarding the wording of the resolution indicated mutual regard between the Chamber and the University did not exist, was adopted by the president of the Chamber, Leonard Benning, and five vice presidents.

The May 23 resolution threatening legal action to stop Office, if they return the books late they are charged one dollar per book. If the books are not returned, they are billed for the price of the book, plus an extra one dollar charge.

"It is amusing to see the expression on student's faces when they come in to return books," Stroman laughingly said.

"My wife works at the Registrar's Office, filling out grade transcript requests. She bills the students on their transcripts if they haven't returned all their textbooks. Then, when my signature appears on the card that they have returned the late books, the student looks twice to see which Stroman he's dealing with," Stroman added.

Throughout his years as director of textbook service, Stroman recalls many unusual sources which have returned books.

"On two occasions, Trans World Airlines has sent us books they have found aboard their airplanes," Stroman commented. "And just last week, the Illinois Central Train Station called the university saying they had found textbooks on their trains.

"Banks, laundromats, taxis, even the university are some of the locations which have returned textbooks in the past," Stroman stated.

Spring term students have the option to return books at the center or the Circulation Desk.

Textbooks are to be returned to the second floor of the library, or to the center stairwell by the circulation desk, Stroman added.

The play is built around the son's attempt to walk out on the old family mansion, the father, and an unmarried sister in order to establish his own life and business.
State Senate Votes To Hike Cigarette Tax A Cent A Pack

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Ignoring Gov. Otto Kerner's no-tax increase policy, the Illinois Senate voted Monday to hike the state cigarette tax one cent per package and use half of the income for recreational development purposes.

Many senators were slain on roll call as the bill squeaked through on a 32-8 vote and moved to the House for final action.

Sen. Gordon Kerr, Rochester, who sponsored the bill, said Illinois ranks 47th in recreational areas in the nation and that outdoor sites are needed most in the northern part of the state.

The bill would earmark half of the estimated $18 million additional revenue a year for recreational purposes and the remainder for the state's general revenue fund.

Sen. David Davis, R-Bloomington, in voting for the legislation, said he was hopeful some of the revenue going into the general fund could be diverted for raising school aid.

Some senators who opposed the bill contended Illinois retailers couldn't stand a cigarette tax increase. The state tax now is 4 cents per package.

VATICAN CITY

The Vatican has suspended plans for a papal audience with President Kennedy next month because of the grave illness of Pope John XXIII.

Despite reports that the 81-year-old pontiff showed some improvement Sunday night and Monday morning, there still was the deepest concern about his condition.

His doctors ordered him to stay in bed. His sacristan reported remaining constantly near the Pope and commented, ready to administer extreme unction.

Italy's biggest paper, Corriere Della Sera of Milan, reported: "I know very well what I have, and I also know that I only have three to four weeks of life."

In Washington, a White House advance party suddenly canceled plans to fly here to arrange for President Kennedy's visit to Rome and to the Pope about June 22.

The Supreme Court warned still-segregated public schools Monday it will tolerate no avoidance of desegregation by obeying its 1955 decree which called for "all deliberate speed."

The court did so in ruling that the "all deliberate speed" guideline does not permit any further delay in integrating parks and other city recreational facilities in Memphis, Tenn.

Unanimously, the tribunal pointed out that eight years have passed since the second school segregation decision. The court declared it would be impossible only to "make up" the delays.

Secondary Pupils Here In Summer Science Program

From an initial 1,729 inquirers, SIU has gleaned 72 of the nation's most promising high school students for acceptance in a National Science Foundation summer program.

Those selected, from 31 different states, are offered a concentrated eight-week summer study in college-level animal and plant science, chemistry, experimental psychology, mathematics, microbiology, anatomy, physics, and physiology.

George H. Gasa, associate professor of the Physiology Department and director of the program, said each student will study in three of the subjects offered. In addition, each will conduct supervised research in one of these.

No tuition will be charged by the University, and travel expenses, room, and board will be awarded in full or in the amount of need to those students selected. The session is scheduled June 17-Aug. 10, not tolerating further delay "un constitutionally or administratively." The court pointed out "pellingly appeared unavoidable."

GENEVA

The Soviet Union formally placed its proposal for a United Nations free-trade zone on the record of the deadlocked 17-nation disarmament conference Monday. The United States and Britain called it pure propaganda.

JAKARTA, Indonesia

About 120 North Borneo rebels killed at least 200 civilians in a two-hour battle in the border town of Pandieh, a spokesman for the Indonesian official Antara news agency said today. The fighting was described as "very tough." The tax agent used an electrical device hidden on his person.

The decision was given on appeal by German Federal Court of Justice, which had revoked a 1955 decree which the figure could be in addition. He said the process of carrying out a constitutional requirement would be possible only if the physical facilities and housing for the research faculty and students were available.

Morris also asked, shall we draw back on helping to provide housing for our students?

The SIU President said he thought if the University were to establish final boundaries it would be a mistake. He referred to the situation in the past when the University expanded. What was needed was re-establishing the city-owned north to College Street, and the result was no growth until this condition was removed.

Ralph Swick Voted Chairman Of NAA

Ralph D. Swick, chairman of the board of accountants, has been elected chairman of the Southern Illinois Group of the National Association of Accountants.

The Southern Illinois Group included members in Anna, Carbondale, Centralia, Herrin, Du Quoin, Makanda, Marion, Mathes, Mattoon, Marion, and Carterville. Members are public accountants, individual accountants, accounting managers, public accountants, accounting managers, public accountants, teachers of accounting and representatives of firms manufacturing and distributing accounting machines.

Robert Calhoun of Carbondale was named secretary-treasurer; Sumner of Carbondale, director of programs; Richard Sullivan of Herrin, director of meetings and attendance; and C. A. McFarland of Herrin, director of membership and public relations.

Swick came to Southern in 1955 from Indiana University, where he obtained his doctorate in 1954.
Hirsch Elected President Of Architectural Group

Dennis Hirsch is the newly-elected president of Epalon Tau Sigma, honorary architectural drafting and design fraternity.

He is majoring in a two-year architectural drafting program in the Vocational Technical Institute.

Other officers named at the organization's annual awards dinner are Roger Breit, vice president; Eddie J. Williamson, and Dave Tresseu, secretary.

VTI students Ronald Sauberli, Bourbonais, and Bernice Wichern, Uniform, Mo., received trophies awarded by a Mt. Vernon promotional organization, Operation Water Mt. Vernon, for submitting the winning designs of a proposed tourist section of two interstate highways near Mt. Vernon. Sauberli also was honored for the highest scholastic standing among second-year VTI students in architectural drafting and design.

Andrew Eggemeyer, Chester, was recognized as the top student in the first-year class.

James Montgomery, Cypress, received an award for excellence in material and methods of construction phases of the architectural drafting and design program, and Elmer Kellerman, Pinckneyville, for excellence in architectural design work.

Hindersman Gets Paper Published

Charles H. Hindersman, associate professor of the Marketing Department, recently had a paper published in Business Review, a periodical published by the College of Business Administration of the University of Washington.

Hindersman's paper, "Marketing's Indirect Effect on Consumption," is an evaluation of advertising as an investment, and the value of advertising as a part of marketing.

Hindersman has served as senior research analyst and assistant research director for business firms.

Tuesday, June 11

Four, three, two, and one-hour classes which meet during the second period (7:35-9:00 or 9:15 P.M.) on Monday and/or Wednesday-6:00.

Classes which meet only on Wednesday night. Examinations will start at the same time as the class sessions ordinarily start.

GENERAL EXAMINATION INFORMATION

Examinations for one and two-credit hour classes will be held during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the formal final examination period. Three, four, and five credit hour classes will meet at the times listed above.

A student who finds he has more than three examinations on one day may petition, and a student who has two examinations scheduled at one time should petition, his academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that a student may decide to miss his scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for a student whose petition has been approved by his dean.

A student who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination.
Housing Regulations: Students

Southern's revised housing statute as seen from the viewpoint of the university and the householder has been presented in the Daily Egyptian. The effect of the regulations on students involves another angle.

The housing rules as drawn up for the spring term will largely through the efforts of the administration, be designed to bring a better improvement in the quality of off-campus campus housing. The regulations thus are an answer to the chorus of complaints and suggestions made regularly by students exploited by housing companies.

Any objections from students to this aspect of the regulations can be expected to come only from those by choice live in substandard housing. Substantial numbers of students cannot afford to become interested in choosing substandard housing so that they can afford an automobile.

The effect of the regulations on students living in off-campus supervised housing is embodied in the rule: "No single undergraduate student may live in unsupervised housing without the permission of the Housing Office." This may sound essentially, questioning in loco parentis, a term covering an administrative notion that the university is the student's mother away from home.

That a university administration should attempt to regulate the private lives of its students must be questioned: but as seriously as to question the amount of freedom allowed it is clear to the student body what the rules mean may well contribute to the student's lack of information.

Brooks, the senate will on short notice of eight members, four students elected at-large from the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses. Its function shall be: "Proposing and recommending to the student body the student body of the univer-city as a whole."

It is seen that the real powers and responsibilities of student government may be greater than those of which the student body has been made aware. The argument used against objections to university intervention upon student rights is that students are here of their own free will and have agreed to abide by university regulations. The question then becomes, is it not the limit the university itself should agree not to exceed?

Erik Storrup

Support Student Senate

For SIU students, the thought of this spring may be burdensome. The May 24 election for all Student Senate are contrary to popular opinion. For fewer elections and shorter ballots, and the decision to have it now seems an unwelcome.

However, without an election and the logistics of the senate would probably have to wait another year. This is because the College of promoting the unity of the two SIU, the student government, a contribution toward student participation in all-university policy-making plans it ease the load operation as soon as possible.

The major problem with this election as with the majority of campus elections, if the lack of information about issues and people the students will be voting for. The speed with which the outline of the people of campus senate was drawn up and the length of time it took may well contribute to the student's lack of information.

The restriction of students from using an attempt to regulate extra-curricular activities and to improve study habits, both of which involve forcing upon students another's concept of moral and scholarship. Why is it necessary to watch over the lives of students 21 years of age or older? Is it because some of them will have trouble? According to the Office of Student Affairs, the number of off-campus violations reported to that office was greater than those originating in on-campus housing.

The exceptions by permission to the unsupervised housing restriction, such as students over 21 or juniors and seniors with a 3.25 grade point average, can enable a great percentage of those students who have a desire to live off-campus housing to do so. But for how long? The foot is in the door if it is expected to be extended in the future.

The argument used against objections to university intervention upon student rights is that students are here of their own free will and have agreed to abide by university regulations. The question then becomes, is it not the limit the university itself should agree not to exceed?

Nationalism Positive And Negative

Force In Dealings With Latin Americans

By Albert W. Bork

Director

Latin American Institute

Bogota, Colombia. This Sunday morning's paper carries a commentary on the General Assembly's declaration on nationalism and the necessity of a nationalist spirit. Enrique Santos Molano, the writer, says among other things:

Nationalism, it seems to me, is not only the raison d'etre of all human societies, but also the pride of accomplishment which it implies that is of great importance in the area of international relations today. It is both a positive and a negative force in many ways. If it does not exist, the political system will fall to the aid through such programs as the Peace Corps, the UNESCO, the International Labor Organization, the Food and Agriculture Organization, and many others, and cannot and does not respond. There exists no country in the world that can now any other nation for no economic and no political reasons.

Nationalism which I momentarily recall is that manifested in the bi-lingual stencilling one sees on the bags of coffee we proudly bag ourselves.

"Coffee, the world's best," it's worth less than pennies an ounce. The essential point in one's saying: "This is from my country, it may not be perfect, but it is mine," it is necessary to create a mystique that beautiful and perhaps well-founded falsehood of considering that a race, a people, a product, a book, are as good as we are because that is what is imported from outside.

It is precisely this nationalism which is often the cause of conflict. It is often the basis for the pride of accomplishment which it implies that is of great importance in the area of international relations today. It is both a positive and a negative force in many ways. Enrique Santos Molano, the writer, says among other things:

Nationalism, it seems to me, is not only the raison d'etre of all human societies, but also the pride of accomplishment which it implies that is of great importance in the area of international relations today. It is both a positive and a negative force in many ways. If it does not exist, the political system will fall to the aid through such programs as the Peace Corps, the UNESCO, the International Labor Organization, the Food and Agriculture Organization, and many others, and cannot and does not respond. There exists no country in the world that can now any other nation for no economic and no political reasons.

This nationalism which I momentarily recall is that manifested in the bi-lingual stencilling one sees on the bags of coffee we proudly bag ourselves.

At California Relay:

Turner Runs Fastest 2-Mile In His College Racing Career

Brian Turner ran the fastest two-mile of his career, but placed third and SIU's sprint medley team finished second at the California Relays Saturday night at Modesto, Calif.

Turner ran the two-mile in 8:46 but the race was won by Murray Halberg of New Zealand with a time of 8:34. Texas Southern won the sprint medley race with a 3:21.5 time. SIU's second place time was a show 3:24. SIU took a 3:18.7 clocking into the meet but could not match that performance Saturday night.

Southern California, who was one of the favorites in the race, competed instead in its conference meet where it won the team championships.

Turner's time in the two-mile bettered his own school record by five and seventeens seconds. He ran the race in 8:51.7 at the Drake Relays a month ago.

"Brian ran a tremendous race," Lew Hartoug, SIU track coach said, "He led Halberg with only 300 yards remaining but Halberg sprinted past him for first place."

Turner already owned the third fastest time in the two-mile among the distance runners in the colleges and universities. He probably will move into second place with Saturday night's effort.

Turner came to SIU in the spring of 1960 from England. He is a junior and majoring in economics. In addition to excelling in track, he also is an excellent student. He has made the academic dean's list several times since coming to school.

Two world records were set in the meet which attracted athletes from around the world and across the nation.

Brian Sternberg and Paul Shimnick, teammates at the University of Washington, established the new marks. Sternberg won the pole vault with a vault of 16 feet 7 inches. Shimnick took first place in the broad jump with a leap of 27 feet four inches. The old broad jump record was 27-3/4.

Peter Snell won the mile race in what was billed "the mile of the century." Snell's winning time of 3:54.9 was only five-tenths of a second off his own world record of 3:54.4.

Notre Dame Upsets Salukis

Tennis Squad, 5-4, In Finale

Notre Dame handed Southern Illinois' team its second loss of the season as the Irish staged an upset victory over the Salukis 5-4, Saturday afternoon at South Bend, Ind. SIU, whose only other loss of the season was to Big Ten champion Northwestern, closed out its regular 1963 campaign with the best record in its history. Coach Dick LeFevre's squad will take a fine 16-2 record into the NCAA championships at Princeton, N. J., on June 17.

The Salukis, who played their last three matches without the services of Lance Lumiden, hope to get the Jamaican star back in time for the championships.

The loss marked the sixth time that SIU has dropped a match to the Irish in seven outings. The Salukis first win over the Irishmen came earlier this year, when LeFevre's squad blanked Notre Dame 9-0.

In summing it up, it probably was his most lucrative season, LeFevre explained, "It was the best season we've had, but we're sorry we had to lose the last one. We should have beaten them even without Lumiden."

LeFevre early season prediction that his first few men might be beaten, but the players at the four, five and six positions will be hard to defeat, seemed to work all season long, but it backfired against the Irish.

Captain Pacho Castillo at number one, and Bob and Roy Sprengelmeyer working the two and three spots, won all their singles matches, but it was Wilson Burge, George Demenech and Vic Seper, working the last three positions, who succumbed to the Irish.
