The second and third volumes in the University Press's "Laudanums in Rhetoric and Public Address" series have just been published, and "Rhetoric and Reason," edited by George Campbell and "Elements of Rhetoric," by Richard Whately, was launched last fall.

The new books are the result of a dream in the mind of the editor in chief of the University Press for several years. The reason for one accumulated material before was that the books were too large and too money-making, the reason for this is that these are not popular books and literature for this subject is hard to sell. The editor in chief of the Press, Potter, professor of speech and general editor of the series, had been thinking about this for a long time. The two new books are exact reproductions of earlier editions of "Rhetoric" and "Elements of Rhetoric," the latter dating from the late nineteenth century.

W. L. A. (University Press) has been working for two years for a copy of "Rhetoric" before his advertising department is able to order for a man in London, England. The editor in chief of the Press has had to borrow from the Princeton University Library.

The second book was published by a number of publishers to consider publishing works such as these but they all refused because of the uncertainty of profit. Then finally persuaded Mr. Stern, a number of publishers said that these works were primarily aimed at upper-classmen and graduate students in the field of speech.

Hockey Coach To Visit Here

Verna Kyle, a noted Australian field hockey player, is scheduled to visit SIU to lecture and coach on Wednesday through Friday under the sponsorship of the International Hockey Tournament. Miss Kyle will give lectures on her team and on physical education in Australia at 5 p.m., and 6 p.m., Thursday, at the Women's Gym. She will coach the local teams as conductor of the women's hockey team at 4 p.m., each day at 11 a.m., Friday.

Unclaimed Obelisks Go On Sale Friday

Unclaimed copies of the 1963 issue of "Egyptian" will be sold on sale Friday, Nov. 1 to SIU students and faculty. Those interested may purchase a book for $2 if they have been registered at Southern for the previous three terms.

RODELENS in MAIL - When SIU student Larry Combs of Chicago took part in a government session, he didn't expect a "hobby" of three rodents. But they were there when he opened the mailing tube. Combs, wearing the sweatshirt, is shown displaying the rodents with a fellow resident at 202 E. Pearl St., John Horsey of East St. Louis (wearing jacket).

U.S. Printing Office: World's Largest Publishing Firm Ships 3 Mice To Carbondale

The world's largest publisher is now shipping mice to Carbondale. This was the discovery of SIU students Tuesday. It seems Larry Carnito of Chicago, a sophomore in mechanical engineering, spent half a dollar to the U.S. Government Printing Office, requesting a chart telling all about the metric system of weights and measure.

Tuesday, the documents arrived at Carnito's residence at 202 E. Pearl St. The chart came packed in a mailing tube with other sealsers on each end and showed no sign of disturbance. Carnito and John Horsey of East St. Louis opened it.

"It didn't smell right," Carnito said.

Horsey described how they shook the mailing tube, and some scraps of paper started to fall out; a baby rodent followed.

A full investigation disclosed more chewed-up paper, two more rodents ("we had a real peppy one!"). and the National Bureau of Standards chart.

They turned out to be the friendly little critters who warmed up to both Carnito and Horsey, and all curious bystanders to whom they were exhibited.

One found Horsey's shoulder was a fine place for testing out the captured talents such as moving about on untasted feet. All three posed for photographs and displayed no fear of their nearby-found captors.

No comment was immediately available from the publisher, female reporters at SIU, from Carnito, spent most of his high school days at Carbondale. His loss will further cripple Southern's already weakened backfield situation.

Smoking will be on sale daily from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the "Obelisk" office.

Free Day Preceding Finals Being Studied

Council Seeks Student Opinion

The feasibility of recommending a "free day" before the final examinations was explored in depth by the All-University Council, meeting at the Edwardsville campus last Saturday.

The group discussed more than a dozen possibilities to improve its communications with both campuses and considered the possibility of recommending all-university awards and a scholarship.

These matters will be discussed first with administrators and faculty officials, according to Jim Greenwood, one of the Carbondale campus Council members.

Halfback Weber Out For Season. Has Operation

Rich Weber, SIU junior halfback, scheduled to undergo surgery this afternoon to mend a broken cheek bone that will almost certainly put him out for the remainder of the season. The operation will be in a St. Louis hospital.

Weber, SIU's leading ground gainer this season, was injured in the early minutes of the SIU-Fort Campbell football game at McAndrew Stadium Saturday night.

The 5-8, 170-lb. halfback, despite being one of the lightest men on the squad, leads the ball carriers in every department. In six games, he carried 38 times, gaining a total of 257 yards. His 5.7 yards average per carry leads the team in Percy Manning with nearly a full yard per carry. Weber gained 80 yards on 20 carries for 43 yards and has one touchdown to his credit.

Though a Justice to SIU from Macon, he spent most of his high school days at Miami. Fla. He's a redshirt for 1963.

The theme of the discussion was an"Applying Quantitative Techniques in Town Classification." The evening session, which will be at 8 p.m., in the Morris Library Auditorium, will be an illustrated talk followed by "Australia's Changing Weather Patterns," a lecture on past research with the University of Melbourne, Melbourne, Australia.

Robert Smith, assistant professor of Geography at the University of Wisconsin, will speak at a Geography Seminar Wednesday.

Smith, who is a former professor at Queens University and Carleton College, will speak at an informal discussion at 4 p.m. in the common room. The theme of the discussion will be "Applying Quantitative Techniques in Town Classification."

President Kennedy will make a flying trip to Philadel­phia Wednesday and to Chi­cago on Saturday. In both cities, he will drive through downtown areas at hours when邪恶 crowds normally are to be expected.

Kennedy’s schedule calls for arrival at O’Hare Inter­national Airport, northwest of Chicago, at 11 a.m. CST.

PHILADELPHIA

Authorities moved swiftly Tuesday in an effort to pre­vent further violence around the time of the clot­ting of a Negro suspect by a white policeman.

The fatal shooting took place in congested North Phila­delphia on Saturday night, trig­gering mass violence by Negroes. It touched off four hours of rioting Monday night by about 300 Negroes, the climax of what started as a protest rally at a street crossing.

A force of 50 policemen made a flying trip to Philadel­phia on Saturday night, but Negroes were killed in the incident.

The mob smashed windows, broke merchandise, damaged automobiles, menaced white drivers, fought with police, and threw stones and bricks.

One policeman and two Negroes were killed. Twenty-two persons, 19 of them minor­victims, were arrested and charged with malicious mischief, dis­orderly conduct and breach of the peace.

All damaged stores belong to white merchants, police said.

The scene was quiet Tuesday, but the atmosphere was one of continuing tension.

WASHINGTON

A bipartisan civil rights bill aimed at racial discrimina­tion in nearly all areas of national life was approved by the House Judiciary Committee Friday.

Bowing to President Ken­nedy’s wishes, the com­mittee rejected a stronger bill draf­ted by one of its subcom­mittees and voted 23-11 in favor of a compromise worked out by the administration.

Both the Democratic and Republican leadership in the House endorsed the measure before the committee voted, assuring it strong support in the House.

Although a cut below the rough bill band­ed by rights groups, the new package is stronger than the original Kennedy proposal.

Earlier, the com­mittee voted 20-14 for the new pro­posal, but a parliamentary tangle required the second vote to make action final.

Kennedy intervened per­sonally to block the stronger bill for fear it could not win the bipartisan support needed to make it law. It had been drafted by a subcommittee and strongly supported by civil rights groups.

Meeting shortly after Ken­nedy spoke with House Demo­cratic and Republican leader­ers, the committee rejected the subcommittee bill, 19-15. Concerning the bipartisan nature of the agreement put together by the administra­tion. 19 Democrats and nine Republicans voted against the bill.

On the proposal to substi­tute the new package, 11 Demo­crats and 11 Repub­licans made up the majority, with eight Democrats and six Republicans opposing it.

Must Stand Trial

LONDON

A magistrate’s court has ordered Christine Keeler to stand trial in Old Bailey Criminal Courts on charges of concocting a story that her former lover beat her up. If convicted by a jury, Miss Kee­ler could be sent to prison for up to 20 years.

The 21-year-old party girl heard the decision Tuesday, then left for a reunion with her father whom he abandoned his family 17 years ago. The pre­vailing mood took place in the drawing room of a house Miss Keeler is renting near the court.

The father, 40, a photo­grapher who changed his name to Colin King, turned up in the spectators’ gallery Monday.

The last time he saw her, he was only 30 and at the entrance of an air raid shelter. Christine was 4 at the time.

DOES a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it.

Most men think Mennen’s Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion as well as the best looking one that has. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scratches. It helps prevent blisters.

So who can blame him of Bruce’s crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of his after-shave power, but the intelligent

Menjou, 73, Dapper Actor, Stylist Dies

HOLLYWOOD

Adolph Menjou, the dapper, crisp-talking actor whose career spanned nearly half a century in films (including 1951, 1952), after a long illness. He was 73.

He had been suffering from Parkinson’s disease for some time. Doctor came to his home in Beverly Hills, where he was a substitute with the former Versace­dale, and his son, Pe or, 27, Menjou was a supporter of Holly­wood’s great stylists. Though known in the United States, he used his foreign-sounding name to advantage in early days of silent films.

With trim mustache, slicked hair and continental tailoring, he became the epitome of the European gentleman on the screen.

Menjou’s mannerisms were im­itated by many directors. Menjou looked reflected scurrilous cases in the el­egance of male attitude.

One of his earliest talking films was “The Front Page,” in which he played the gar­rulous managing editor.

Menjou was proud of being what he regarded as a “thinking man,” he read up to eight books a week and was fluent in five languages.

By 1930 he had appeared in more than 200 motion pictures. He had come to Hollywood in 1922.

Menjou was born Feb. 18, 1890, in Pittsburgh, Pa. The son of a well-to-do real estate proprietor, he was educated at Culver Military Academy and at Cornell University.

WASHINGTON

A dispute between two Texas member of Congress erupted into a one-punch fight Monday just off the House floor.

Rep. Ed Foreman, Repub­lican, said Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, Democrat, struck him once. The fight ended then, Foreman said, because he told Gonzalez, “I think you must have lost your mind,” and walked away.

Foreman left and could not immediately be found.

Foreman, who is 29 and the youngest member of the House, Monday, is 47, and is fairly evenly matched in build, though, apart in political convictions.

Foreman says he spends his spare time working for the conservative cause, and Gonzalez has a liberal Demo­crat voting record.

Foreman and other mem­bers agreed that today’s inci­dent was a fresh face. Gonzalez approached Foreman of the House floor and said, “Understand you have been calling me a Communist.”

Foreman said he denied this, but told Gonzalez he had discussed his wrong rec­ord. Foreman told reporters later he had said in a speech to Congress, Tex., that Gon­zalez’s votes had been dis­service to the Constitution and had aided the rival Communist cause.

Foreman said Gonzalez then threatened to beat him, adding, “I might pistol-whip you.”

Foreman said he denied this, and both men stepped outside the House chamber to settle the dispute.

As they left the chamber, Foreman said, Gonzalez aimed a punch at his head, he ducked and the first landed on his right shoulder.
Faculty Members Get Approval For Viet Nam Teaching Duties

Harold L. DeWeese and Harold Perkins, SIU educators, have been given the go-ahead by the department to take up teaching duties on a two-year contract in South Viet Nam. For SIU, Lea Malone's assistant principal for Nursing has been serving two years as chief of the Agency for International Development, which is a project of the Department of State, Secretary of State, and the State Department. Malone has said this would be an official visit.

Married Student Ratio Low, But Housing Still Is a Problem

Statistics show that the percentage of married students at SIU campus is below the national average. Nevertheless, according to J. Albin Yokie, two-thirds of the married students at Southern must still be housed off-campus. Figures and estimates, Yokie said married students at Southern stood at 10 per cent last year. The national average was twice that, Yokie said, but he added: "I can't understand why we are lower... I believe we will see a growing percentage due to the growth of the graduate student body. We should approach the national average of between 20 and 25 percent." Yokie said it was the university's goal to be able to accommodate half of the students in university housing—married as well as single. Since only one out of three married students is in university housing now, the problem is nearly certain to multiply and new construction is the probable answer.

At present the university is able to house 367 families. Of this number, 42 are in temporary facilities at Southern Acres, 53 are living in the University trailer court, and the remainder are housed in the Southern Hills community. Southern Hills is a 272-unit development south of the university which reached its present capacity with the completion of Phase II in the fall of 1962. "To be able to house the number that we hope to housing must find a means of financing further construction," said Yokie.

Under the Housing and Home Finance Agency the National Housing Act includes a section which covers low and moderate income groups.

"There are two stipulations if we are to obtain funds through this source," he said. "First we must construct these buildings within the city limits and second, we must make them available to other people in the low or moderate income groups." This ruling was set down by Robert Weaver, head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, in January of this year.

"If other alternatives in selling bonds through the agency, with 50 per cent being privately by the university, it would be," Yokie added.

Political Scientist, Korean Professor, Former Ambassador Join Faculty

A former Iraqi ambassador to the UN, a specialist in state and legislative councils and a Korean professor in international relations and the Far East have joined the faculty of the Government Department this year.

Abdul Majid Abbass of Iraq represented his country as delegate to the U.N. in 1958 and attended many international conferences, including the San Francisco Conference that established the U.N. and the Bonn Conference. He has been a government minister in Iraq.

"Abdul has tremendous experience in international relations, international law, international organizations and Middle East problems," according to Dr. Ferekh Khan, professor of government, who announced the appointments. Abbass is now teaching international relations and the Middle East.

Frederick Guild was appointed to teach political science subjects. He will draw from his experience as former research director of the Legislative Council for the state of Kansas and as professor in political science at the University of Kansas.

Maurice Meyers, SIU Foreman, Dies

Funeral services for Maurice "Shinny" Meyers, 61, garage foreman at the SIU Physical Plant who died suddenly Tuesday, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Van Natta Funeral Home in Carbondale. Burial will be at DeSoto.

Meyers, who began as a mechanic at the garage in 1953 and had been foreman since 1957, died at his home here apparently of a coronary affliction.

He is survived by his wife, Pauline.
Of Genius And Such

By Gene Cervi

In Cervi’s Rocky Mountain News, Denver Colo.

For much of my adult life I have raved and read about an American genius named Buckminster Fuller, who lived some of his most creative time in Kansas and who lives and teaches now in the environs of Southern Methodist University. Whether you called him by his initials or by his full name, there was no question about the fact that he was a creative phenomenon, a man who had designed a circular house and later gave birth to that invaluable concept the geodesic dome. But would you want your children to live under one? We may say he invented dymaxion technology.

He’s hard to say where and when you will run into the ideas, and the ideas, and the ideas, and as they are called in his “spon­aneous and uncontrolled” publishing, there is no point. The point is that ideas come from him—are his—generating power. An idea can go aloft under its own thrust. It can sway. Synthetic bad ideas seem to soar.

The first was being held in Aspen in June in the ecology of the area between Independence Pass and the town of Aspen. This was for the first time in history that people and others who are dedicated to atmosphere creation and understanding who are not generally sunny politically, generally socially, are not generally found together. This is one of the principles, this is one of the labels, this is one of the banners, this is one of the insights into unique experimental controls and ways—physically separated from the stacks and the shelves, and the instruments, tools, or other devices admitting and expressing technical advantages of man over environmental circumstance. We know that they signed to permit modification of forward experiences in a fevered way.

Let’s revisit this idea, There are 77 words that are before you now. You know what he means by them. Nowhere.

Northeastern, Buckminster Fuller’s credentials are monstrous. We run the risk of being called anti-intellec­tual or a vulgar for daring to arrive at this point of view. It is less than awe and reverence. Many of my generation will have some spiritual kinship with this great-nephew of Margaret Fuller, co-founder with Ralph Waldo Emerson of the Trans­cendentalist movement, of the American intellectual scene, his great aunt also was the first editor of Thoreau’s work.

Fuller devotes a chapter to his aunt’s 1842 prediction of the world that would win for him—mathematical scientists and literary intellectuals with the development of the industrial tricolor revolution. In other words, she predates C. P. Snow in that respect, as Fuller points out.

However, I have taken a wanderlust’s license here. This is the 121-year-old excerpt I rewrote for you, asking that you reflect on its neglected application today:

"...I make no claim for my government—no claim for a teacher—no claim for a leader, for anything other than another application of the scientific principle. Fuller points out.

"...If you take the thought that expressed by Aunt Margaret Fuller has been denied—application by the public. I know that of course it is a progressive and open to debate.

In this age of frightening danger, that manly manification of individuals caught in the corporation living and demoralization bought on by computers and automatic machines is so important to urge one and all to resist it. To do this means taking fight and compromise.

This is to say, then, be your man. Do not be afraid to take up good causes and to search for truth until the very notion of the mind is cleared away to make way for the flood of fresh beauty that will enrich your life.

Can’t Relax Defense of Rights

IRVING DILLIARD

Can’t Relax Defense of Rights

What would the United States be like if all members of our libraries were allowed to run rough shod over the rights of other people? What would be the process of law? How long would it take for our historic freedoms, preserved by our Constitution, to be disregarded if the state demanded the bill of rights, to be subverted in a police state while the only opinion allowed would be the official opinion of those in power?

There are these questions and many more to be a good idea.

If more Americans are attempting to think out the problems and events in our government, New Orleans and Bloomington, Ind., are cases in point.

Records Capped Off

At New Orleans state and local police, acting at the direction of the Louisiana state juvenile court committee on un­lawful activities, raided the offices of the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., a national organ of correspondence, files, and furniture, arrested three citizens, and then raided their law offices and homes.

One of those arrested was Dr. James A. Dembowski, executive director of the S. C. E. F. and a leader in the American Civil Liberties union. According to the New Orleans Times­Picayune, they were charged with criminal conspiracy, along with the members of one of the students of the IDA, a subversive organization.

Candidates Should Discuss Issues

Every year students are told, asked, persuaded, wheedled, encouraged to register to vote, and to vote—show some interest in Student Government?

Why? Because no one knows who’s who and who’s repre­senting what? What George do it—what? How? Is the solution to solve Elections and then plastering the trees, let’s hear some of the hacks taken by the candidates on campus issues.

The Fool

Many good old hacks want to believe this is free to do so. The “abduction” is working for racial integration. Is that what you think? Our Conference Educational Fund has been doing for much of the time since World War II. The idea that it is trying to “throw” the government of Louisiana by criminal com­mon iniquity is a sham. What George do it—what? How? Is the solution to solve Elections and then plastering the trees, let’s hear some of the hacks taken by the candidates on campus issues.

What does George think about ROTC, housing and car­pools, and other campus issues? What do George think about the changes everyone says are needed in General George? Speak up, George!

Coach Abe Martin:

Baseball Mentor Sets Envious Win Record

After his baseball team had won gleaming gold trophies as conference champions for five straight years, Glenn (Abbe) Martin was really just planning on a "ruddicing" year last season. The winning combination apparently comes easily to Martin, however, as that "ruddicing" diamond outfit came up with another great year, winning 15 and losing six. Martin, a 57-year-old Fairfield native, enjoys the distinction as owner of being the last of the most versatile and likely the most successful coach in Southern's sports background. Coming up through the campus in the twenties, Martin began his career as a member of the 31SU football and track squads. He led Southern for three years as a hardbackfield, and capped the 1930 team—the only one to go undefeated at Southern. He fared well in a track season as well, as he was called to a conference discuss title and many other awards. The most satisfying with professional football, then turned coaching for several years before returning to Southern as an assistant football coach under William McAndrew in 1938, this coaching record is an enviable one, in terms of tenure, versatility and overall record. From 1939 to 1949 he served as head football coach and his teams compiled a 31-42-5 mark. At the same time, from 1943-1946, he was also Southern's head basketball mentor, and his cage quartet presented him with a 13-17 record. He also became athletic director in 1946 and served in that position for 10 years. He revived baseball at Southern in 1947, and has since received a 266-12 mark in his 17 years at the helm. Two post-season football bowl wins and an NAIA national basketball championship dot Martin's colorful record.

One of the most satisfying highlights of his career was helping to form the U.S. State Department to instruct young men of Israel and the Netherlands in baseball fundamentals. This honor came in 1959, and he was then chosen to serve as coach of the East team in the national amateur tournament in 1960.

In 1958 Martin was named to the NCAA Hall of Fame, a coveted award, and it was due to outstanding accomplishments in the coaching field.

Frosh Complete Grid Season Against Evansville On Monday

SIU's freshman football squad, a 13-20 winner over Southeast Missouri State at Cape Girardeau Monday, completes its four-game schedule here next Monday afternoon at 3 p.m., against Evansville College.

The young Salukis have re-covered Coach Frank Shay with three victories in these outings this season, with brilliant performances on both defense and offense.

Shay admitted that his team made some mistakes in their last win, but was pleased that they proved their ability to come from behind. The Salukis were down twice Monday, but poured back each time to capture the victory.

"We made a lot of mistakes in the first half," Shay said Tuesday. "But we corrected them at halftime. We got kids blocking areas, as they're supposed to, rather than individual men." Shay expressed satisfaction that his defensive unit came up with another strong performance against the Tigers.

"They scored their first two touchdowns on blocked punts," he explained. "and they only had the first down and 18 yards total in the first half and about 80 yards for the whole game."

Fresenius Basketball Squat "Best Ever," Coach Shay Says

With the squad already cut to just 12 players SIU freshmen basketball coach George Lubelt calls this year's group the best they ever have had.

Primarily responsible for Lubelt's enthusiasm is Walt Frazier, a promising 6-4 forward-observer from Atlanta, Ga., who is certain to draw a starting assignment when the Salukis open their season Jan. 6. Frazier is in the process of being converted into a guard. He feels he could develop into one of Southern's finest.

Southern's schedule will include three Southern Illinois Jaycees as well as home-and-away games with Evangel College, Kentucky Wesleyan, Murray State, Huntington Junior College, Vermont Jr. College and Hannibal Lagrange.

Nurses Enroll In Psychiatric Unit

Four Southern Illinois University senior student nurses and a registered nurse are spending the fall quarter in the psychiatric unit of Marion Hospital, St. Louis, receiving psychiatric clinical nursing experience.

The girls are Carolyn Addis­son of Elkville, Linda Jarvis of Carbondale, Sharon Jeddick of New Lenox and Sally McDonal­d of Springfield.

In June these girls received specialized nursing experience at the University of Illinois hospitals in Chicago and spent the rest of the summer doing general nursing at Doc­tor's Hospital in Carbondale.

During the winter quarter, they will do public health nursing at the East Side Public Health Unit in East St. Lou­is, followed by "team nurs­ing" at an East St. Louis hospital.

Katherine Quincy of Wood River is the registered nurse who is enrolled in Southern's supplementary degree program for graduate nurses. She graduated in nursing from St. Joseph's hospital in Alton and has been teaching nurs­ing arts there.

Children's Exhibit Still On Display

An exhibit of children's art, collected from elementary schools all over Illinois and mounted for Federation-Club Day, Oct. 24, will remain on display until Thursday in the lounge gallery in the University Center, according to Alice Schwartz, associate professor of art education.

The collection was assembled by the art education di­vision of the Office of Superin­tendence of Public Instruction. It includes paintings, drawings and prints.

Outdoor Education Center Opens Today At Little Grassy

First students at the new SIU Outdoor Education Center being established on the east side of Little Grassy Lake will be elementary school pupils from a Perry County elementary district, L. B. Sharp, professor of outdoor education at Southern, announced.

Seventh and eighth grade pupils from Community Consoli­dated District 205 at Cut­ler, where Wayne Glackom is principal, will inaugurate the program today meeting at the center on University-owned farmland each Wednesday.

Sharp said he expected more schools to follow suit.

"Pupils will be taught to relate what they see with they have learned from their books," said Sharp, who has been working on the formation of an outdoor education center since shortly after he came to SIU from New York in 1960, "It's a program of the school coming to our facility and doing things it cannot do in the classroom."*

He cited exploration of land and nature-study of trees, insects, animals and conserva­tion--as being related to science, geography and history.

"Even planning the camp menu and figuring its costs are related both to health and arithmetic," Sharp commented.

The regular teachers of the students will be in charge of the training, with Sharp and his staff giving assistance. The school district is furnishing the transportation. Food costs will be borne partly by the school and partly by the students.

The training program is sponsored by SIU, the Educa­tion Council of 100 which is concerned with school ad­vancement and problems in southern Illinois, and the Out­door Education Association, Sharp said.

In an effort to enlarge the program, two meetings will be held at the center, County school superintendents in the lower 31 counties of Illinois have been invited to hear about the program Nov. 1.
