over a difference which is radical, but must be understood to be a concession to those disciples of Sankara who are willing to put a new interpretation upon the words of their master and explain the ātman to be unsubs tantial pure form. This would identify the bodhi with the highest self of the Upanishads, and every self would be a more or less perfectly realised instance of the highest self.

Buddha denied the existence of an ātman, a self, and Sankara affirmed it. Now if self means a concrete being (and this was the meaning of ātman), then Buddha is right. But if by self we understand what Buddhists call name and form, viz., the combination of parts and characteristics which constitute a thing or a person, then Sankara's contention that the self exists would not be wrong. There is no self in itself that would be independent of its parts, but the configuration itself, the form, is real enough; it is what Plato calls the ideas of things. The ideas are pure forms and the realm of the purely formal corresponds to the Buddhist conception of Nirvāna.—Ed.]

"SOCIALISM AND BIRTHS."

To the Editor of the Open Court:

I notice several statements in "Socialism and Births," by Austin Bierbower, in a recent issue of The Open Court, to which I desire to take exception by assertions as follows:

1. The least considerate do not reproduce the fastest.
2. Licentiousness is not conducive to the reproduction of humanity.
3. Why should the negro and the immigrant be classed with the pauper, the ignorant and the morally low?
4. Men do not always get rich by moderating their desires, nor have the majority of rich men acquired their wealth by so doing.
5. Is not the author wrong in his ideas as to the class that produces the wealth? My impression is, it is the laboring poor and the middle classes.
6. The statement "as we live more easily, more come into the world to live," is not substantiated by the statistics of this or any other country.

The morally low, the ignorant, the physical wrecks, etc., should be (by law), first of all, prohibited from marriage to foist their editions of sin on a world which has now too many of that kind, not too many of honest poor; but to prohibit the rational increase of healthy, intelligent, though poor parents, is out of all reason. Health, long life, happiness, content, and a satisfaction of having obeyed the laws of nature or an all-wise Creator, are among the blessings which are, and should, be given to heads of large families as a rule.

NOTES AND BOOK REVIEWS.

The distinguished American ethnologist, Mr. Daniel G. Brinton, finds a wealth of dramatic interest in American aboriginal life side by side with the dry facts of science which he has so thoroughly studied there. He has been moved accordingly to give to the world an historic drama, Maria Candelaria, in which he attempts to impress poetic coloring on an extremely pathetic and tragic incident which happened among the Tzentals in 1712 in the extreme South-Eastern part of Mexico. The Tzental Indians stood very high in American civilisation, in some respects even higher than the Aztecs. After the Spanish Conquest they remained in apparent submission to the Spaniards for nearly two centuries. In 1712 an insurrection broke out, headed by an Indian girl named Maria Candelaria, who became the Joan of Arc of the nation. For a while the revolution was extremely successful and she ruled like a queen-dictator. To quell the revolt the Spanish governor was finally compelled to send for the veteran Segovia, an able officer of the old conquistador type. Juan García, the Tzental commander, was unable to withstand the tactics of this experienced soldier, and was finally overpowered. Maria and her uncle mysteriously disappeared, having seemingly jumped from a precipice, but really landing on a ledge leading to the shrine of their gods. The incident of the drama turns upon the deep love of Maria for her commander, Juan García. The drama is short. It is interesting as an attempt to use the rich material which exists in the history of America for poetical purposes, and the author has supplied it with an excellent introduction. There are one or two pleasant illustrations of the characters taken from an old Dutch work.

Of the many books and pamphlets which we have recently received from Eastern countries, we shall note at present but three. (1) A treatise on The Vedic Philosophy, or An Exposition of the Sacred and Mysterious Monosyllable AUM, containing a translation of the Māndūkya Upanishad, with Commentary and Introduction by Har Nārāyana (Bombay: Tatva-Vivechaka Press). The Introduction to this book is a fair exposition of the fundamental problems of philosophy as viewed through the curiously ground lenses of the Vedantic system, and the reader can gain by its perusal a broad and lucid insight into some prominent phases of Indian thought with all its excellences and shortcomings. (2) The Landmarks of Ethics According to the Gita, by Bulloram Mullick, a brief pamphlet of thirty-three pages, printed at the Sen Press, Calcutta. The Bhagavat Gita is one of the great works of Hindu wisdom, professing to be the word of God and claiming to exhibit all the "symptoms" of inspiration. "To determine what true Hinduism is," says the author, "we should study the Gita, for it embodies the cream of theology, ceremonialism, etc., the law of karma, and spiritual transcendentalism." "Read the Gita," says Bulloram Mullick, "and be saved." The perusal of this short pamphlet, too, will be interesting to Western spectators of Indian thought. (3) It is a pleasure to record the translation into Singhalese of the Samanta Kuṭṭa Warnanā of the Venerable Vēḍēha Mahā Śthavira, Principal of the Pratiraja Parivēpa, a task which has been performed by the Rev. W. Dhammamanda Sthavira and the Rev. M. Nānissara, at the suggestion of their teacher, the Ven. H. Su-mangala, Chief Nāyaka Thēra of the Western Province and of the Shripāda, Principal of the Vidyōdaya Parivēpa at Māligākanda, etc. Undoubtedly the book is one of high merit, but our slight familiarity with the Singhalese language forbids our passing judgment either upon the contents of the book or the excellencies of the translation. (Colombo: H. C. Cottle.)

The popular fame of Dr. Gustav Jaeger rests chiefly upon his hygienic discoveries and researches, and it is little known that his investigations extended into numerous other branches of organic science. He was an enthusiastic and early follower of Charles Darwin and helped to carry the standard of modern evolution and thought to victory in the face of a mighty opposition. Specimens of his wide and varied researches have now been gathered together in a volume of 261 pages, entitled Problems of Nature, translated by Henry G. Schlichter and published by Williams and Norgate of London. The selections are divided into three parts: Zōo-

THE NEW WORLD.

A QUARTERLY REVIEW OF RELIGION, ETHICS, AND THEOLOGY

(200 pp., 8vo; issued the first of March, June, September, and December.)

EDITORIAL BOARD.

Professors C. C. Everett and C. H. Toy, of Harvard University, Rev. Orville Cone, D. D., and Professor N. P. Gilman, of the Meadville Theological School (the managing editor to be addressed at Meadville, Penn.).

WITH 1898 the New World enters on its seventh year of publication. Its field of discussion will embrace as heretofore all questions connected with religion in the departments of theology, the religious life, the history of religions, Biblical science and criticisms, ethics, sociology, and literature. The Editors announced at the outset that these discussions, would be conducted in a spirit at once free and reverent, without sectarian limitations, and in the light of the best scholarship of the time, American and European. How far this promise has been fulfilled is indicated by the contents of the six volumes issued. It will be seen that these Universities, Colleges and theological schools have been represented: Harvard, Yale, Brown, California, Chicago, Cornell, Rochester, Columbia, Columbia, Johns Hopkins, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Western Reserve, Wesleyan, St. Lawrence, Oxford, Cambridge, Glasgow, St. Andrews, Berlin, Strassburg, Boon, Jena, Gottingen, Geneva, Louvain, Brussels, and Queen’s (Kingston) Universities, and the Collège de France; Amherst, Williams, Tufts, Bucknell; Bryn Mawr, Wellesley, Rockford, Kenyon, Hebrew, Union, New and Bristol Colleges; and the Bangor, Andover, Auburn, Yale, Hartford, Harvard, Meadville, Union, Lane, Episcopal (Cambridge, Mass.) Theological Schools, Manchester College, Oxford, and the Faculté de Théologie Protestante, Paris.

ON THE OUTER RIM.
STUDIES IN WIDER EVOLUTION.
CLOTH, 50 CENTS.

In this book, the author, Mr. George E. Wright, seeks to carry the evolution-theory beyond the point where Darwin rested, tracing the life-principle through all material forms, and dealing with psychic phenomena, which, not being understood generally, are relegated to the border-land between science and occultism.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

1. Dawn.
2. Wider Evolution.
5. Origin of Religions.
7. Illusion.
8. Real Occultism.

The following are brief extracts from a few of the many newspaper reviews of the book:

"In compressing so vast a subject into so small a space, the writer has necessarily constructed little more than a skeleton, but the work is an earnest effort to draw attention to what the author esteems must be the line along which the true progress of humanity will be achieved."—Denver (Colo.) News.

"A delightful study in wider evolution is given in a little volume entitled 'On the Outer Rim,' by George E. Wright. This writer attempts to give the theories and advancement of the doctrine of evolution, carrying it into development of the soul, and growth of human kind. There are some nine essays, and in the last the author treats of the religion of the future and takes a very broad view, bringing together all the deities of the earth and all the religions and sects, and denounces the narrowness of sectarianism. It is well worth reading."—Indianapolis Sentinel.

"This is a study in the fascinating theory of evolution. It is exceeding well written, and discusses in a pleasant way one of the great problems of the ages."—New Orleans Picayune.

"The students of to-day are inquiring not only the origin and history of life, but are patiently working out the problems of the birth and growth of mind. In this little book many valuable suggestions are given to the student in evolution in regard to the underlying forces of nature."—Baltimore American.

"This book is an effort to condense in popular form some of the results thus obtained, as bearing upon what may be termed the wider evolution; in which is included the mental and psychic, as well as the strictly physical, development of the human race."—Detroit Tribune.

"He (the writer) defines occultism as simply the true study of nature, in which there is no supernaturalism, and which eventually leads man to the goal of wisdom and virtue."—San Jose (Cal.) Herald.

"Of the nine essays which form the chapters of this interesting work, the two 'Origin of Religions,' and 'Religion of the Future,' are most instructive and entertaining. With true and broad-minded eloquence the subject is amplified."—Boston Globe.

"Mr. Wright has made an interesting book, full of suggestive thoughts."—Chicago Tribune.

"Mr. Wright's definition of the occult is different from the idea conveyed by that much-abused word to the popular mind. At the present stage of evolution we have two distinct quantities, the known and the unknown. The known may be considered as contained within the boundaries of what we call science, the unknown may be classed as occultism."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE ANALYSIS OF THE SENSATIONS. By Ernst Mach, Professor of the History and Theory of Inductive Science in the University of Vienna. Pages, xi., 208. Cuts, 37. Cloth, $1.25.

"... Like everything he writes, a work of genius."—Prof. W. James, of Harvard.

"There is no work known to the writer which in its general scientific bearing is more likely to repay richly thorough study. We are all interested in nature in one way or another, and our interests can only be heightened and clarified by Mach's wonderfully original and wholesome book."—Prof. J. E. Trevor in The Journal of Physical Chemistry.

"A remarkable work."—Nature.
"As a history of mechanics, the work is admirable."—The Nation.
"The book as a whole is unique and a valuable addition to any library of science or philosophy."—Prof. D. W. Hering in Science.
"Sets forth the elements of the subject with a clearness, lucidity, and force unknown in the mathematical text-books."—Canadian Mining and Eng. Review.

Works on Ancient India.

Contains (a) The Study of Sanskrit; (b) The Religion of the Veda; (c) Buddhism. A popular exposition by the foremost European authority.

"Matter divested of its technical form coming from so eminent an authority is certain to find a welcome reception awaiting it at the hands of the many who are interesting themselves in Hindoo antiquities at the present time."—Chicago Tribune.

ANCIENT INDIA: THE PHILOSOPHY OF ANCIENT INDIA. By Prof. Richard Garbe. Containing (a) A Brief History of Indian Philosophy; (b) The Connexion between Greek and Indian Philosophy; and (c) Hindu Monism. 12mo. Pp., 89. Cl., 50c; paper, 25c.

"The value of this little work as a contribution to the history of philosophy may be justly termed great."—Baptist Union.

"Though the work is scholarly, it is written for the general reader who need not have previously studied the matter."—Bookdealer and Newsdealer.

WHEELBARROW: ARTICLES AND DISCUSSIONS ON THE LABOR QUESTION. With Portrait of the author (Gen. Trumbull). Pages, 300. Cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

"Written with vigor and wit, and with a Cobbett-like terseness of English and felicity of illustration."—Home Journal, New York.

Religious and Ethical.

"The best and briefest possible popular exposition of the scientific attitude towards the religious sentiment that we have read."—New England Magazine.

"An effort to purify our 'Idea of God' that it may be greater, sublimer, and more awe-inspiring to future generations than it has ever been yet."—Literary World, London.

ENGLISH SECULARISM, A CONFESSION OF BELIEF. By George Jacob Holyoake. Pages, xiii., 145. Cloth, 50 cents.

"George Jacob Holyoake is a sincere, gifted, and scholarly thinker, and his exposition of secularism will be read with interest by all followers of contemporaneous movements."—The Chicago Evening Post.

"Will rank among the most valuable books the century has produced."—Chicago Tribune.

THE ETHICAL PROBLEM. By Dr. Paul Carus. Three Lectures Delivered at the Invitation of the Board of Trustees before the Society for Ethical Culture of Chicago. Pp., 90. Cloth, 50 cents; paper, 30 cents.

It is shown here that our views of morality always depend upon our view of life; every definition of good presupposes a certain world-conception.

THE GOSPEL OF BUDDHA. By Dr. Paul Carus. Fifth edition. Cloth, $1.00; paper, 35 cents.

Accepted as authoritative by numerous Buddhistic sects, and translated into Chinese and Japanese.

"Admirably fitted to be a handbook for the single reader or for classes."—The Critic, New York.

THE LIVING AGE, Reproduces without abridgment the ablest articles from the Leading British reviews, magazines and weekly literary and political journals in every department of Literature; also TRANSLATIONS from the French, German, Russian, Spanish, Italian and other Continental Sources.

ENLARGED by the addition of a Monthly Literary Supplement, containing Readings from American Magazines, Readings from New Books, a List of Books of the Month.

"AN EPOCH-MAKING STORY."

"WITH ALL HER HEART." From the French of M. Rene Bazin.

Arrangements have been made for the SERIAL PUBLICATION of a TRANSLATION, made expressly for THE LIVING AGE, of this famous novel. The first instalment appears in the number of Nov. 6, and it will be continued weekly for several months until completed.

This novel, in its recent presentation in the REVUE DES DEUX MONDES, aroused the greatest interest, attracting the attention of litterateurs both in France and England. A vivid portrayal of life in a French industrial town, it is interesting alike as a social study, and as a realistic, yet delicate story of modern life.

Its literary and ethical qualities are so unusual that LES ANNALES LITTERAIRES ET POLITIQUES described it as "An Epoch-Making Story."

THE LONDON ATHENÆUM characterized it as "a work of fine and searching analysis, full of charm, and redolent of a perfume which is exquisite and possesses no disquieting element."

DURING THE YEAR other translations from the best writers will appear from time to time, with serial or short stories by the Leading British Authors.

Free "WITH ALL HER HEART."

To all New Subscribers to The Living Age for 1898, will be sent Free the eight numbers of 1897 containing the first instalments of "WITH ALL HER HEART."

Philosophical and Psychological Portrait Series.

PROSPECTUS.

The Open Court Publishing Company contemplates the publication of a selected series of large-sized portraits of the world's philosophers and of representative psychologists, suitable for framing (11 x 14 in.) and hanging in public and private libraries, laboratories, seminars, recitation and lecture rooms. The portraits will be taken from the best sources, and will be high-grade photogravures.

As the preparation of so large a number of plates is very expensive, it will be impossible to offer the portraits at the moderate price given below unless a certain number of subscriptions is guaranteed in advance. All who are interested in the proposed series, therefore, are requested to communicate at once with the publishers and after examination of a specimen portrait, invited to subscribe at the earliest moment possible. The terms will be found below. The list which has been divided for convenience into two parts is as follows:

To Subscribers:

The total number of portraits in the above list is 68. Those who wish a special Psychological Series may add to the 31 psychologists enumerated in the second part of the above list any three names from the first part.

Those who wish a special Philosophical Series may substitute any of the names in the second list for any names in the first.

TERMS - For both series (68 portraits) on regular paper, $7.50; on heavy, Imperial Japanese paper, $11.00.

For either series alone (i.e., a selection of 34 portraits) on regular paper, $5.00; on heavy, Imperial Japanese paper, $7.00.

Single portraits 25 cents.

For subscribers who may prefer not to frame the portraits, a neat portfolio will be provided at a cost of 50 cents additional.

Send 5c. stamp for specimen portrait.

"We trust that the very reasonable price of the series, and the value of the work already done in this direction by The Open Court Publishing Company, will secure a sufficient number of subscriptions to lead them to publish the series, and to follow it as they suggest with series of mathematicians, physicists, biologists, etc."—Science, N. Y.
